LABOR CLAUSES OF STEEL CODE TO BRING CLASH

Sec. Perkins to Enter Next Hearing.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—[Special.]—A classic battle between those ancient adversaries, labor and capital, is promised in a drama of steel which opens here tomorrow morning.

When the curtain rises on the public hearings on the code of the steel industry Miss Frances Perkins, labor secretary in the President's cabinet, will appear in the first scene to raise her voice at the outset in behalf of the steel workers.

Want Company Unions.

The steel masters, presenting the code, have inserted in the pact a statement that they will continue to deal with their employes in "company unions." The code is almost outspoken in stating the steel men's view that they have no stomach for dealing with American Federation of Labor unions.

Miss Perkins, who always has beamed with great friendliness upon Mr. Johnson, counting him the friend of labor, has gone on a three-day tour through steel mills in Pittsburgh and in Baltimore, talking with the puddlers, the molders, with young women tending machines, trying to get from them at first hand a picture of what conditions are and should be.

She will urge higher minimum wages and shorter hours than the steel interests proposed.

Lamont Represents Steel Group.

On the other hand, when the drama opens, there will be gray haired, dignified Robert P. Lamont of Chicago, president of the Iron and Steel institute and the former secretary of commerce in the Hoover cabinet, arguing suavely as he presents the code that the industry has the best of relations with its workers and does not want them to be disturbed.

The code fixes wages at a minimum of from 25 to 40 cents per hour, depending on the locality of the plants. The code asserts it offers an increase from the prevailing rates of 15 to 33 cents an hour. The code also proposes a horizontal wage increase of 15 per cent for workers in the higher paid brackets.

Busy on Retail Code.

Mr. Johnson and his staff were toiling on today to agree upon the acceptance of two codes placing all retail establishments in the country under the spur of government control. He was hastening action because sponsors of the code promised that jobs for 1,100,000 of the idle and increased purchasing power of 750 million dollars would result from adoption of the codes.

Agents of the retailers in Washington said that while they could and would accept the minimum wage rates, they could not accept the 40 hour week. They asked that it be changed to 48 hours. That question was put today before the labor advisory board, headed by Prof. Leo Wolman of Columbia university, and there objection was made to a change. Efforts then were directed toward a graduated scale of working hours for various types of stores, perhaps between 40 and 48 hours, according to populations of cities and towns in which the stores were located. Dr. Wolman called attention to the possible result of a change in regard to those who already had signed the President's agreement.

More Interpretations.

A further set of "interpretations" was officially announced today by the Johnson legal staff.

Among the new interpretations were the following:

That overtime worked by employes in excess of the maximum hours per week, on emergency maintenance or repair work, shall be paid at the rate of time and a third.

That the hours of any store or service operation, fixed at a minimum of 52 hours in the agreement, may be operated at a shorter rate, if it is in accordance with a seasonal reduction and does not result in reducing salaries of employés.

That stores are not limited to 52 hours' operation but may remain open longer if desired.

That minimum wage restrictions do not apply to apprentices, if under contract with employers on Aug. 1, 1933.

That part time workers shall be paid a pro rata portion of the minimum wage, according to the number of hours worked.

That among the so-called "white collar" classes, for whom the minimum wage ranges from $12 to $15 weekly and the maximum work week is 40 hours, are included barbers, beauty parlor operators, dishwashers, drivers, delivery men, elevator operators, janitors, watchmen, porters.

BUY NOW, WARN MERCHANTS; SEE 50% PRICE RISE

Clothing and Home Articles Soar.

Now is the time to buy. Chicago retailers report daily changes in prices and estimate that after Sept. 1 clothing and household articles will be up 50 per cent or more.

The new deal, with its rising commodity prices, processing taxes, shorter hours, and increased wages, has sent merchants scrambling to the wholesale marts of the nation to buy up everything available before the costs go higher. And many of the buyers are returning, according to department store executives, with their orders only half filled. The supply of manufactured goods cannot accommodate the furious demand brought about by the workings of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Wool, Cotton, and Silk Up.

Wool for clothing purposes was quoted at 31 to 32 cents a pound Saturday, as compared with 14½ to 15 cents a year ago. Cotton, spot, was 10½, while a year ago it was only 6 cents, later sinking to 5 cents. Similar advances in leather, silk, rayon, and other raw materials have been recorded.

Not only the increase in commodity prices but the higher wages which the textile industries must pay and the limitations upon production are expected to force retail prices sharply upward. Moreover, beginning tomorrow, the manufacturers of cotton goods must pay a processing tax of about 4 cents a pound, and, beginning Sept. 1, retailers must pay a tax on floor stocks in which cotton is the principal material of manufacture.

One department store executive was reluctant to hazard a guess as to the percentage of probable increase in retail prices during the next two months.

Hard to Obtain Stocks.

"Nobody can tell," he said, "but it is a certainty they are going much higher. Our prices are being changed every day. Our buyers are finding it increasingly difficult to get the stocks we want; some of them are coming back empty handed. The rising trend is particularly evident in cotton goods, sheets, pillow cases, towels, shirts, etc. In my opinion, the prices of these articles will easily go up 50 per cent, if not more, by September."

The merchants interviewed said there was no marking up of prices on stocks already on the shelves when the recent upturn began, but that all supplies now being received are costing more, with new increases being quoted daily. Most of the stores have been clearing their stocks for the fall trade by reducing prices, but the retailers are warning customers that they will have to pay much more by Sept. 1.

Men's Suits Due to Advance.

A department store executive estimated that good year round men's suits which may be purchased now for $30 will be $45 by September. Shoes of the better grades, now selling for $6.85, will be $9, and $6 hats will be around $8.50, it was estimated.

Women's silk hose of good quality, which are now selling as low as 75 cents, may go to $1.25, and $2 stepins to $3, it was predicted. Broadcloth and colored madras shirts for men are around $1.85, but will go to $2.50 or $2.75, and $1 ties to $1.50 or higher, the retailers say.

The stores are encountering difficulty in getting furniture stocks and the prices are soaring. An upholstered chair with stool that recently sold as a special in one of the larger stores at $39.75 is now selling at $49.75 and the price by Sept. 1 is estimated at $65, an increase of more than 63 per cent.

Furniture Lumber Scarce.

The increases in furniture are due to a scarcity in lumber, few manufacturers having enough dried material available for furniture manufacture to meet the flood of orders.

Oriental rugs are up about 40 per cent and a Wilton now selling at $49.50 is expected to jump to $65 by Sept. 1

Bath towels which have sold for $3 a dozen are up to $5 and expected to reach $6 by September Blankets now priced at $4.95 are expected to sell at $6.95 by fall.

There has been an increase of about 43 per cent in chinaware and leather goods are up about 20 per cent. A lady's suitcase that sold at $6 is now retailing at $7.50 and expected to go to $8.50.

Rich Husband Seized in Raid on Girl's Flat

The domestic troubles of LeRoy M. Smith, wealthy publisher, and his wife, Claire, found their way into police records yesterday when Mrs. Smith led detectives to an apartment at 4062 Kenmore avenue. In the apartment were her husband and Miss Hilma Carlson, 22 years old, a nurse.

They were taken to Town Hall station, charged with disorderly conduct and ordered to appear in Town Hall court this morning. Smith, 47 years old, is president of the Seed Trades Reporting bureau, 326 West Huron street, and lives with his wife and 12 year old daughter in a 15 room house at 832 Forest avenue, Wilmette. He formerly was an assistant in the federal department of agriculture.

Leads Raid to "Save Husband."

Mrs. Smith later, in discussing why she caused her husband's arrest, said that she did it to save him and his business, both of which, she averred, have suffered because of his associations with Miss Carlson.

Mrs. Smith said that she tried to break up their affair last winter, telling Miss Carlson to call police if, as Miss Carlson explained at the time, Smith persisted in "bothering" her.

Friendship "Purely Platonic."

Miss Carlson was bitter over her arrest. Her friendship with Smith, she insisted, was "purely Platonic." She protested that she was "not common clay, and could not be treated this way." Smith, she admitted, has been supporting her.

"I don't see why he shouldn't," she added. "His wife caused me to lose my job in a hospital."

FRANK W. SWENIE DIES; EX-CHIEF OF FIRE ALARMS

Frank W. Swenie, retired chief fire alarm operator, and son of the late Denis J. Swenie, for twenty years chief of the fire department, died early yesterday in John B. Murphy hospital of pneumonia. He was 71 years old and lived at 1232 Arthur avenue.

Ill health forced Mr. Swenie's retirement in 1926 after forty-seven years in the fire alarm service. He was succeeded by his lifelong friend, James P. Crowley. Mr. Swenie was responsible for many of the modern improvements now used in the fire alarm telegraph system.

Surviving are his widow, Anna; two sons, Marshall and Robert Swenie, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Woody. Robert, following his father's career, is employed in the fire alarm service. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday in St. Ignatius Catholic church. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery.

SIX PERSONS BURNED IN SPEEDBOAT BLAST ON MARYLAND RIVER

Annapolis, Md., July 30.—(AP)—Six persons were burned and injured, two seriously, as a speedboat exploded in the South river near here early tonight. They were brought to the emergency hospital here.

Brownie Sasada, 39, of Briarcliff, received burns on the face, hands, and chest as a gasoline tank exploded while he was trying to find the cause of a sputtering in the motor.

John Crain, 21, of South Haven, who was blown, unconscious, from the boat by the blast, and Miss Elizabeth Bassett, 15, of Waterbury, who could not swim, were rescued by an unidentified fisherman.

Crain and Sasada were said to be in a serious condition. Miss Bassett also had burns.

RAIN MAY BREAK HEAT TONIGHT, SAYS FORECAST

Relief from the excessive heat which yesterday reached a maximum of 94 degrees may come this evening in the form of showers, Forecaster W. P. Day said last night.

The beaches up and down the shore of Lake Michigan were swarmed with people seeking relief from the heat yesterday. There were five drownings in the Chicago area.

The body of John Anderson, 54 years old, 748 Carolina street, Gary, was caught on the fishing line of Earl Smith, 1525 Rhode Island street, while Smith was fishing from the Illinois Steel company pier in Gary. Anderson worked in the steel mill Saturday, but did not check out. Authorities believed he went to the pier to seek relief from the heat. The other drownings were:

MATTHEW AURIENE, 28 years old, 3001 Jackson boulevard. Drowned off Erie street, supposedly as a result of being seized with cramps while swimming.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, about 50 years old. Lost his life in the lake off Chicago avenue. It was believed he struck his head on a rock while diving.

FRANK ROCHETTO, 25 years old, 2946 Normal avenue. Died after diving from a speed boat in the Fox river near Cary, McHenry county. It was believed he struck bottom or died of a heart attack.

The forecast for today calls for continued warm weather, with southwest winds, but the heat will be modified by clouds, possibly followed by showers tonight or tomorrow, Mr. Day said. At any rate, somewhat cooler weather is expected tomorrow.

Third Murder in Drama of Legs Diamond

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—Another assassination in a long series of New York gang murders took place tonight. Apparently it was because the victim "knew too much."

Jimmy "Iron Man" Dolan, close friend and confidant of Mrs. Alice Kenny Diamond, slain widow of "Legs" Diamond, slain gang chief, was shot and killed by gunmen in a pretentious beer garden restaurant in Flatbush avenue, two blocks from Brooklyn police headquarters.

Follows Woman's Murder.

The police think that the Dolan killing was a direct sequel to the murder of Mrs. Diamond, widow of the late Jack Diamond, in her Brooklyn apartment a month ago. Dolan, they said, had announced to his friends that he knew Mrs. Diamond's killer and that he was out to get him. Apparently, the detectives said, the killer got him first.

Going further back, the police theory is that Mrs. Diamond was killed because she knew who had assassinated her husband and talked too much about it.

With a companion, who fled directly after the shooting and whom police have not identified, Dolan went into the resort only five minutes before he was shot. Dolan and his companion hung up their coats and hats, sat down at a table and ordered beer.

Argue with Dolan.

While the waiter was in the front room, which is furnished with a 40 foot bar, two men walked past the bar and into the rear room. There, according to the story the police pieced together, the pair moved directly to Dolan's table. The men exchanged greetings and shook hands. Shortly thereafter an argument started. Dolan rost to his feet, livid with anger, so it was said. Thereupon one of the two gunmen drew a revolver and fired a single shot, which struck Dolan in the back and penetrated his heart.

The gunmen fled out a rear door and were lost in the crowds. Dolan, mortally wounded, staggered out after them, only to collapse on the sidewalk a few feet from the door. He was dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

When the police arrived the several couples who were sitting in the rear room when the shooting occurred had vanished, as had Dolan's companion. Detectives at once began questioning the proprietors of the resort, "English Tommy" Egan and Charles McAllister, the bartender, Paul Clements, and the 40 odd patrons who were standing at the bar when the murder was committed.

New Deal for Crime

With a staff of six extra judges available, the Cook county Criminal court will begin a drive today to speed up all murder and robbery with a gun cases now on call. The effort is part of State's Attorney Courtney's campaign to inaugurate a "new deal for criminals who make a living at the point of a gun." Among those who face early trials are 15 men, all accused of murder with guns while perpetrating hold-ups. Six of them are accused of killing two policemen. Story on page 3.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner is prepared to ask the general assembly to join in the war to exterminate kidnapers from Illinois.

Lawyers throughout the state, including the scores of state's attorneys who attended his conference here last Friday, are at work on the task of finding ways to strengthen the statutes against the crime of "snatching" for ransom. If definite and efficacious proposals result he will include the subject in his call for a special session, the liquor regulation session, which probably will be held late this year.

The governor also is studying the problem of establishing the most effective coöperation between the law enforcement agencies of Illinois and those of adjoining states, the border lines of which are crossed frequently by kidnapers. He expects to act in this matter when Illinois' own system has been developed as highly as possible.

Inspects State Institutions.

The governor is spending his weekend "holiday" by working. He is going ahead with his systematic personal inspection of state institutions, giving up his Saturday afternoons and Sundays to that work, a field in which he has been interested deeply for years. Yesterday he was at the Jacksonville state hospital and today he is looking over the Alton hospital.

But, as busy as he is, he is still giving thought to the discussion of state's attorneys, sheriffs, chiefs of police and others over which he presided on Friday. Over the telephone from Alton he said that every phase of improvement possible in the machinery for putting an end to ransom extortions in the state is being considered.

Capital Offense in Illinois.

He said that at this time he has no proposals for strengthening the statutes. The present statute against kidnaping for ransom is stringent. The crime is a capital offense in Illinois, punishable by death, with the minimum penalty five years' imprisonment.

And the courts have held that the

Albany, N. Y., July 30.—[Special.]—John J. O'Connell Jr. was returned at 4 a. m. today to the mountain camp of his politically powerful uncle, Dan, after payment of $40,000 ransom.

Unharmed after being held for 24 days by the kidnapers who seized him in front of his 14 Putnam street home, the youth seemed tired and suffering from the shock of his experience. He was permitted to give only meager details of his captivity, and that not directly but through his uncle.

District Attorney John T. Delaney tonight is directing a wide hunt for the kidnap band. He issued a strict order that none but officials of his office were to talk to the young man, but from various sources an exciting and sometimes conflicting narrative of the kidnaping, the captivity and the release was obtained.

Late tonight it was reported Albany police had arrested two men in connection with the kidnaping, but decline to reveal their names.

Prosecutor Hints at Clews.

The district attorney was said to have informed associates that fairly good data were available as to the identity of the kidnap group. But he indicated that it might be several days before an arrest is made.

The kidnapers, according to one story, freed the young man early this morning at 220th street in New York City, where he was picked up in an automobile by Louis Snyder, Albany attorney and counsel for Manny Stewell, the intermediary between the O'Connells and the kidnapers.

In the darkness Snyder drove the young man to the camp of Dan O'Connell in the Helderberg mountains and turned him over to the family. District Attorney Delaney and aids were present when young O'Connell arrived.

The district attorney questioned the young man briefly, but was unable to obtain detailed information and he expected to renew an interrogation tomorrow in the hope of clearing up several phases.

Uncle Blocks Questioning.

Meanwhile Dan O'Connell, chief of the O'Connell family which has ruled Democratic politics in Albany for a decade, guarded the young man from too close questioning and he did most of the talking. The young man seemed willing to advance information, but the uncle cut short the questioning.

It was revealed that in the final days of the negotiations the kidnapers threatened to kill the young man and "dump him on his doorstep" if they did not have opportunity to obtain new money for the $40,000 in marked bills which were handed over at the mountain camp to the intermediary on Friday.

There was a quick shift in plans and the kidnapers were said to have deposited the marked money in a New York bank Saturday morning and to have withdrawn it within an hour thereafter. The release of the young man followed twelve hours later. One report had it that the bank, suspecting what was going on, paid out the same marked money.

The entire circumstances surrounding the return of the youth, the long negotiations during his captivity and the police activity as well as the reticence of the O'Connell family, has cast a cloud of mystery over the kidnaping that stirred the state because of the political importance of the uncles.

Uncle Tells Story for Him.

Seated in the mountain camp this morning, the young man, looking tired, but otherwise unharmed, listened and once in a while responded to questions as his Uncle Dan told the story for him.

Early on the morning of July 7 he was returning to his home on Putnam street and as he stepped from his car he was struck over the head. His uncle said he had a confused notion of seeing about four or five men close in on him and then fell unconscious.

The young National Guard lieutenant, a husky youth, did not recover consciousness, according to his uncle's version, until he woke up in the room in an apartment where he was held throughout the period of his captivity.

But it was pointed out that the kidnapers must have given him some soporific while he was unconscious in order to keep him so if he were taken to New York City, where his uncle said he believed the youth was held. Other reports had it that he was taken to a building in Albany within half a mile of his home and held there.

The youth, according to his uncle, was kept in the bedroom of what seemed an apartment somewhere in New York City. For the most part, it was said, he was kept blindfolded and either handcuffed or bound.

The captors, according to the youth, treated him well and gave him plenty to eat. Twice the captors shaved him.

At once the kidnapers begun their efforts to negotiate for a ransom with the O'Connells and the young man's signature was appended to the various ransom notes which first mentioned $250,000 as the sum they wanted.

Several sets of intermediaries were offered in newspaper advertisements by the O'Connell family after the kidnapers had established a contact and directed use of a simple code. But it was not until recently, it was understood, that Manny Stewell, well known in Albany sporting circles, was chosen.

Negotiations Proceed Slowly.

Stewell, friends of the O'Connell family said, approached the O'Connells and told them he was being asked to act. Conversations were held, then Stewell called in Louis Snyder, a lawyer with a good reputation here and a past exalted ruler of the Albany Elks.

Negotiations proceeded slowly with the kidnapers urging more speed. Last Monday it was said, the kidnapers came down to $75,000. Some members of the family were said to have been ready to pay but Dan O'Connell, counting on the growing fear of capture by the kidnapers, was understood to have defied that demand and to have fixed the amount the family would pay at $40,000.

District Attorney Delaney was said today to have been kept in close touch with all steps in the negotiations, despite his statement that the O'Connells had refused to coöperate with him.

Arthur W. Davis, driver of a car which had been used by the district attorney on the case, was attacked by three men and the car stolen. The next day the car was found wrecked at the bottom of the Indian Ladder hill in the Helderbergs and it was believed the act was meant as a threat by the kidnapers.

Connections Worry Kidnapers.

The kidnap band was believed by the O'Connell family to have become exceedingly nervous about the situation because of the general hue and cry over kidnaping and particularly about the death penalty fixed for one of the group that kidnaped Mary McElroy of Kansas City.

Finally, on Friday night, Stewell and Louis Snyder arrived at Dan O'Connell's camp. The political leader attended the meeting with the marked $40,000 in small bills and a pistol.

The money, it was said, was turned over to Stewell in the presence of Louis Snyder and Dan O'Connell turned over the weapon at the same time.

But the kidnapers, it was declared, soon discovered the money was marked and sent word to the O'Connells that they must have a chance to change it for other bills on the threat of "dumping" the captive "on your doorstep." Additional time was granted and the money was said to have been changed in a New York bank, or as the other report had it, handed back in the guise of different currency.

Rumors of Release Come.

All day Saturday Albany was filled with rumors about the impending return of the young man, the Helderberg camp of Dan O'Connell was closely watched, but early in the morning newspaper men were warned to retreat to a distance, lest they get caught between two fires and it was intimated that shooting might develop.

Then came word that the youth was being freed. It was understood that he was taken from the apartment where he was held, blindfolded tightly, placed in an automobile and then pushed on the sidewalk, where Louis Snyder picked him up shortly afterward. Dan O'Connell refused to say where this was, but late today came the information that the spot had been at East 220th street in the Bronx.

The young man was examined by Dr. Fred C. Conway, the family physician, who found that he was not suffering from anything more than fatigue and the shock of his captivity. He had a growth of beard several days old.

MARKED ADVANCE IN EMPLOYMENT SEEN THIS WEEK

Hundreds of Additional Signed Codes Arrive.

There will be a marked increase in Chicago employment this week, according to predictions yesterday by employers, employment office officials and local relief association heads.

While the blanket code sponsored by President Roosevelt calling for shorter hours and minimum wage agreements does not go into effect until tomorrow and many employers will await approval of individual industrial codes submitted to Washington before making a complete readjustment of their working forces, it is certain that many jobs will be opened this week to men and women who have been unemployed for periods ranging from a few weeks to two years, it was said.

Mail Brings Hundreds of Pledges.

Several thousands signed acceptances by local business men of the blanket code will be announced today by F. L. Roberts, district manager of the department of commerce, who is in charge of the President's emergency reëmployment drive in Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin. The names of 1,311 of the 4,289 signed acceptances have already been posted and yesterday's mail brought hundreds more which will be listed today.

Even before accepting the blanket code, many employers in sympathy with the President's campaign had taken steps to enlarge their forces to meet the new conditions of shorter working hours per employé. The Davis store, for example, has been working on a new schedule of reduced hours and minimum pay since last Wednesday. Employés have been working a maximum of six hours and forty minutes a day instead of the previous eight hour day and new employés have been added to compensate for the shorter hours, the business hours of the store remaining the same.

The Illinois free employment service and the employment offices of the Cook county bureau of public welfare predicted they would have a busy week accommodating the requests of employers for workers in all lines.

Ready to Supply Workers.

"Every jobless man now receiving relief is listed according to his vocation," announced J. L. Moss, director of the county bureau, "and we are ready to send any employer any number of skilled and experienced men anxious to go to work.

Mr. Moss said he hoped that a decrease in unemployment would result in heavy savings in the relief budget, which was costing the taxpayers about $6,000,000 a month a short time ago.

The blue eagle pennant, which when flown over a factory or business house signifies the firm's coöperation with the President's reëmployment drive, will fly from the flagpoles of thousands of concerns by the end of the week. New supplies of the banners, and cards and stickers arrived at the postoffice yesterday for distribution among those who have earned the right to display the slogan: "We Do Our Part."

Reduce Hours and Boost Pay.

The Midwest Raincoat Manufacturers association will put its shops on a forty hour week, beginning today, and at the same time will raise wages of all employés, both day and piece workers, 25 per cent, it was announced yesterday by Max Koviz, secretary of the association. The industry, which has between 200 and 300 employés in Chicago, has previously worked a forty-four hour week. Minimum wages were formerly about $10 a week for unskilled help and $15 a week for skilled labor.

After a meeting in the Drake hotel yesterday, officials of the Majestic Pictures corporation, sent a telegram to President Roosevelt declaring that confidence in the new code had caused a decision to increase picture production during the coming year and to double the distribution staff. Increases in pay for the corporation employés are also planned, it was announced.

Heavy travel here because of A Century of Progress, combined with the beneficial effect of the reëmployment program, will place Chicago among the first of the large cities to feel the invigorating effect of the national recovery act, city officials declared.

Milk Code Foes Defy U. S.; Plan Petition for Injunction

"We do not intend to comply with the federal milk code. We invite prosecution. We will continue to sell milk at cut prices."

With this statement Norman Dietz, president of the Independent Milk Distributors' Association of Northern Illinois, yesterday challenged the new milk code, which is scheduled to go into effect at noon tomorrow in metropolitan Chicago. Under the code no retail sales of fluid milk will be permitted at less than 10 cents a quart.

A petition for an injunction restraining enforcement of the code will be filed tomorrow in the federal court, Mr. Dietz announced.

Control 102 Distribution Points.

The association headed by Mr. Dietz controls 102 distribution centers in Chicago and suburbs where milk is sold on a cash and carry basis for 6¼ cents a quart. The petition will state, it was announced, that milk called for by the consumer should be sold for less than milk delivered at the back door. Another point will be that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who signed the order for the new code, is threatening to take away property rights without due process of law.

"As we see the code, it is an unconstitutional abuse of government authority," Dietz declared. "Members of our association serve about 500,000 patrons weekly and those people should not be deprived of the right to buy milk for six and a fraction cents per quart if they take the trouble to call for it themselves.

"The farmer is getting more for his milk from our distributors than the Pure Milk association is giving them. We have petitions out, which have 750,000 signatures, protesting against the 10 cents a quart milk code. Our members are unanimously against the code and we intend to battle it out."

Violation of the Code.

Selling below the market price, which is set in the code at 10 cents a quart, is definitely described in the new act as an unfair practice. Every distributor in the area must be licensed and those who fail to hold up their prices to the minimum requirement face the loss of their individual licenses, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace warned Saturday.

"Dairy companies which do not abide by the terms of the agreement will lose their licenses and they will be prosecuted," announced Co-administrator Charles J. Brand, principal aid of Secretary Wallace. "The code will be strictly enforced."

The new milk agreement, the first to be put into effect in the country under the agriculture recovery act, is subscribed to by the Pure Milk association, which has a membership of 18,000 dairy farmers. The code was submitted to Washington by the big distributors and the organized milk producers in this area three months ago.

ADOPT CARTAGE CODE WITH SAME PAY AND WEEK CUT 17 HOURS

A committee of the Cartage exchange of Chicago is to leave for Washington early this week to submit a code to the national recovery act administrator, according to an announcement made last night by Curtis Stewart, manager of the exchange.

The code will affect 20,000 workers in the transportation industry within the Chicago metropolitan area, Mr. Stewart said. Under its terms employés of the transfer and cartage companies represented in the exchange will work 40 hours a week. They now work a 57 hour week. Mr. Stewart said the employers do not expect to reduce wages when they put the short hour week into effect.

"Members of the national industrial recovery act committee of the exchange endorsed President Roosevelt's plans for putting men back to work," Mr. Stewart said. "The Roosevelt program also has the support of the membership generally."

The exchange's committee consists of 15 members under the chairmanship of George W. Dixon of the Arthur Dixon Transfer company.

Mr. Stewart said that business has improved greatly, and in the last 60 days member companies have spent $250,000 on new equipment, including trucks and trailers.

Month Old Baby Bitten by Rat; Hurts Serious

Clayton, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—The month old baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Daggett was so badly bitten by a rat it is in Blessing hospital in Quincy in a serious condition. The child cried and they went and found the rat on the bed with the baby, which it had bitten eight times, lips, gums, tongue, and hand.

LIBERTY LIMITED WRECKED; ONE IS KILLED, 4 HURT

Altoona, Pa., July 30.—(AP)—One man was killed and four others injured tonight as the Pennsylvania railroad's crack Liberty Limited, bound from Washington to Chicago, ran through a switch, careened crazily from the tracks, and demolished a signal tower at the entrance to the Altoona station.

The dead:

Carl Linsenbach of Duncannon, Pa. the engineer, died in an Altoona hospital a few hours after the crash.

The injured:

Frank Buck, fireman, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Louis Zeidman, a passenger, of Chicago.

Late reports said they were not critically hurt.

Linsenbach and Buck were badly scalded by steam and hot water. The giant westbound locomotive rolled over on its side and turned completely around, with the front end pointed eastward.

Guard Rescues Mechanic from Blazing Speedboat

The S-398, a taxi speedboat operating off Navy pier, was destroyed by fire yesterday near the outer breakwater of the harbor. A broken gasoline line caused the fire. Members of the central coast guard crew rescued the mechanic who was driving the boat after he had taken refuge from the flames in the water. They did not learn his name. Earlier in the day the Wilmette coast guard crew towed the cabin cruiser Farihal, owned by H. E. Jennings, 7525 East End avenue, into the Great Lakes Naval station, when it burned out a bearing off Fort Sheridan.

HORNER TO ASK STRONGER LAWS FOR KIDNAPING

May Put Proposals Up to Special Session.

person who attempts to collect ransom or has anything to do with that offense, although he had nothing to do with the actual carrying off, is a principal and not an accessory to the crime, subject to the same punishment as the "snatchers."

In the courts the crime of kidnaping is in the same category as murder. Bail may be refused "where the proof is evident or the presumption great." Gov. Horner believes this provision is as drastic as it can be made. It is almost a copy of the provision of the constitutional bill of rights on the subject.

"But there is no reason to wait and see what the legislature can do," he said. "We must carry the fight to the kidnapers without delay. They must be run down in their hiding places and put in jail. And one method of doing it was provided by the regular session.

Vagrancy Act Available.

"In some instances there may be a lack of evidence to warrant prosecution under the kidnaping law or other laws pertaining to specific crimes. In such cases, prosecutors should seek convictions under the newly amended vagrancy act. In this way, known groups of criminals will be broken up even before they begin operations."

The amendment to which he referred was made effective by a bill introduced by Representative Mason S. Sullivan [Dem., Chicago] with the backing of the Chicago crime commission and other organizations. It made the vagrancy act operative against gun toters, habitual criminals, and even the associates of criminals.

This is the language that hits the hoodlum against whom no specific offense such as gun toting can be charged:

"All persons who are reputed to act as associates, companions, or bodyguards of such persons reputed as aforesaid to be such habitual violators of the law."

Vagabonds Under New Law.

Such persons are "vagabonds" under the revised law and may be sentenced to imprisonment from ten days to six months and also may be fined from $25 to $100, being compelled to "work out" the fine if it is not paid.

Gov. Horner also pointed out that a second Sullivan bill was passed which authorizes the issuance of search warrants directed against any building, person, or automobile if the concealment of firearms is alleged.

But he did not suggest that halfway measures be acceptable in any cases of known kidnapers. For them he urged capital punishment.

"I urge that all local prosecutors demand the extreme penalty in all kidnaping cases," he said.

The governor said he was not ready to discuss what methods of coöperation with adjoining states will be proposed.

"Illinois wants and expects coöperation," he said. "We are more than willing to work with them and know they will work with us at every opportunity. But before we take that up we must devote our efforts to our own problem. They know what we are doing and will know what we do as we progress and I feel sure that similar organized efforts will be made by the adjoining states."

One proposal at the conference was that as soon as possible a conference be held among the men in charge of the Illinois work with men in similar positions in Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky, and Michigan. This method probably will be followed.

Dismisses Miss Cranmer's Suit Against Prof. Hoover

New York, July 30.—(AP)—The American says Miss Ruth Jayne Cranmer's $25,000 breach of promise suit against Prof. Merle Hoover of Columbia university has been dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente on the ground she failed to prosecute it. Miss Cranmer, who was exonerated in connection with the shooting of State Senator Roy T. Yates of New Jersey two years ago, charged the professor promised to send her through college and find her a job.

HEAT OF NEW YORK KILLS THREE PERSONS; SWARM TO BEACHES

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—From early dawn until long after twilight today the city's streets and masonry reflected the rays of a relentless summer sun. The intense heat, which drove the mercury to 92 in the late afternoon—falling short only three degrees of the day's record in 1917—caused three deaths from prostration and drove the year's record crowds to beaches.

New York at sunrise was already restive under a temperature of 74, and the intense unrelieved heat of Saturday. By 9 o'clock the thermometer had reached 77. The next hour the mercury jumped five degrees and thereafter rose steadily to its maximum of 92 at 4 p. m.

The weather bureau continued to have a pessimistic outlook for the immediate future, reporting that the present wave would probably continue with only sporadic abatement until about next Thursday.

Driven from their homes to seek relief at the shore, a city-wide migration to the beaches brought a million people to Coney Island, the largest crowd of the year, and more than 600,000 to the Rockaways, which, the police said, was an alltime record.

BANDIT WOUND CAUSES DEATH OF BANK TELLER

Carlton J. White, 30 years old, paying teller at the University State bank, 1354 East 56th street, died last night in the Chicago Memorial hospital of a bullet wound received on April 8, during an attempted robbery at the bank.

Three nervous bandits entered the bank that day and frightened by the screams of several women patrons in the place, fired wildly as they retreated. A bullet struck White in the neck, coursed downward and fractured his spinal column. He had been kept alive since then by blood transfusions and oxygen. Dr. M. L. Weinstein attended him. Among the suspects in the crime was Dan McGeoghegan, south side hoodlum, now in prison for bank robbery in Indiana.

White is survived by his father, James White, and sister, Mrs. T. J. Phillidin, both of Le Roy, N. Y., and two brothers, Leo and Henry, with whom he lived at 3540 West 64th street. He will be buried at Le Roy.

DRIVE TO SPEED CRIMINAL TRIALS WILL OPEN TODAY

Gunmen to Face an Early Accounting.

State's Attorney Courtney announced yesterday that with the cooperation of the Criminal court judges and six other judges who have volunteered to hear criminal cases, "a new deal for dangerous criminals who make their living at the point of a gun" will start today.

There will be a drive against criminals under indictment for murder and for robbery and it will not terminate until the Criminal court call is cleared. Speedy trials are the best insurance for justice, State's Attorney Courtney said, and he intends to seek quicker disposal of appealed cases.

Employés Forgo Vacations.

"Despite the fact that my employés have received only two weeks' pay since I took office on Dec. 5, there has been no grumbling or complaints from members of the staff whose vacations I have cancelled," Prosecutor Courtney declared. "Nor does the burden of extra work appear to have inspired them with anything but a determination to carry out the aims of an awakened public conscience."

The prosecutor called attention to the work of the July grand jury. Ordinarily there is little for the grand jurors to do in this month, but this year the jury considered 489 cases, including the indictment of twenty-four persons for conspiracy in the trade racket inquiry.

Mr. Courtney also announced that he had assigned Assistant State's Attorney Grenville Beardsley and Edward Wilson to devise some way whereby delays in the Appellate and Supreme courts can be obviated. He said legislative action might be sought. The action of the Supreme and Appellate courts in allowing convicted criminals to remain at large on bail was criticized.

Criminals at Large.

"After being convicted by a jury a man has no right to roam the streets at will, subjecting other citizens to outrage," Prosecutor Courtney stated. "Mr. Beardsley and Mr. Wilson will seek an immediate solution of this vexing problem."

The assistance of Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court in ordering immediate trials in all cases of violence was praised by Mr. Courtney. In conformity with the new policy it is expected that early trials will be under way in the following cases:

James Borowy, Matthew Novak, and Charles Kubala, who are charged with the murder on Feb. 24 of Dr. B. F. Garnitz, 5159 South Damen avenue. The gang robbed scores of physicians summoned on fake sick calls, and climaxed their career by killing Dr. Garnitz. Mildred Rundle and Blanche Chevatel are held as accessories.

John Bongiorno, 26, and Ross King, 29, ex-convicts on parole, who shot and killed Policeman Harry Redlich two weeks ago when he interrupted them during the robbery of the Associated Trade Press, Inc., 9 South Kedzie avenue.

James Palumbo, Sam Mirabile, Tony Veneria, John Terracino, and Frank Pascocello, who are charged with murdering Vito Pisciotta Feb. 4, when he resisted their effort to rob him in his home, 3152 West 5th avenue.

James [Iggy] Vacchs, youthful moron gunman, who raped several women, robbed scores of persons, and ended his career by slaying Charles Jordan, who resisted his attempt at robbery. His case was once tried and the death penalty inflicted, but a new trial was granted by the Supreme court.

Tony Rocco, Emil Manzone, Richard Basile, and Dominick De Nardi, who shot and killed Policeman Maurice Marcusson Jan. 23 when he tried to stop them from robbing a loan office at 323 West Jackson boulevard. Rocco is an ex-convict.

The early arrest of Mrs. Rose Scheck, mother of John Scheck, who killed Policeman John G. Sevick in the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop last Monday, was forecast yesterday by Mr. Courtney, following the capture Saturday night of Mrs. Jeannette Haddon, sweetheart of the killer. Both women have been ordered held to the grand jury as accessories to the murder. They were present when the revolver was handed to Scheck in the detention cell adjoining Judge Molthrop's courtroom.

Mrs. Haddon made a statement intimating that the gun was given the prisoner by Mrs. Scheck. She sought to clear herself of complicity or previous knowledge that the gun was to be smuggled to Scheck, who was awaiting trial for murder in connection with the robbery of the Niles Center National bank.

START FINING AUTOISTS TODAY FOR LICENSE LACK

Municipal Judge Eugene Holland, in the Traffic court, will begin today to fine automobile owners brought before him who have not yet obtained 1933 state or city vehicle licenses. A fine of $5 and $5 costs will be assessed against each person found guilty of this charge, the judge announced yesterday.

"The practice hitherto has been the lenient one of giving the automobile owner a continuance in order to allow him to buy a license," Judge Holland said. "There were 8,000 such cases in court last week and the continuance procedure hopelessly clutters the files. There is no reason why owners should not have bought 1933 licenses by this time, and they will be fined hereafter. They will, of course, be required to purchase the necessary license in addition."

The judge said his work in the Traffic court had convinced him that many fake state and city vehicle licenses were being sold and that numbers of Chicagoans were using Indiana licenses, as well as 1932 Michigan licenses, which are the same color as the 1933 Illinois licenses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Scores of police were called out today to quell disturbances created by 400 rioting strikers on a London suburban busline.

MATTERN IN NEW YORK TELLS OF HIS CRASH IN FAR OFF SIBERIA

Flying a borrowed plane, Mattern landed at Floyd Bennett field at 4:41 p. m., having flown from Toronto in 4 hours and 11 minutes.

As the tall, young Texan climbed out of the plane he received a rousing cheer from a small crowd. The flyer, limping obviously and walking stiffly in long Russian boots, stepped forward to shake friendly hands.

To meet him at the city's gates was Jay Fox, Mayor O'Brien's secretary, who informed him the mayor would greet him tomorrow noon at the city hall. Others in the crowd were his backer, Harry Jameson of Chicago, Maj. J. Nelson Kelly, and John McCooey, Brooklyn Democratic leader.

Mattern was entertained at dinner at a Coney Island hotel, where he talked for a few minutes of his lonely days spent on the bleak Siberian muskeg where he crashed.

BLAME DEATH ON HEART ATTACK.

The body of an elderly man, tentatively identified as that of John Duggan, 4202 Iowa street, was found yesterday in a clump of bushes near 60th street and the Illinois Central tracks. He apparently had died of heart disease.

GUNMAN ATTACK FROM REAR ADDS A POLICE MARTYR

Brave Stanley Lutke Falls Victim of Bandits.

This is the third of a series of stories recounting how nine Chicago policemen have been killed in action since Jan. 1.

Patrolman Stanley Lutke was lonesome as he plodded along a dark north side street about 1 o'clock in the morning last April 30. Patrolman Lutke had been on the force only a little over two years and he was proud of his star and uniform, but this night patrol duty was a tiresome business, he reflected.

Patrolman Lutke had his private worries to keep him from becoming too lonely. He had a wife and four children to support on a small salary that was months in arrears.

He came to the southeast corner of Argyle avenue and Broadway and noted that the lights were still on in the Argyle Smoke shop at 5018 Broadway. He crossed the street and peered through the windows.

Comes Upon a Holdup.

Inside, nine customers in the place and Edward Seramore, the proprietor, were standing against the wall with their hands in the air. Two bandits had just held them up, taking about $30. Patrolman Lutke did not know there were two robbers. He saw only one emerge from the place.

At sight of the policeman the man scurried away with Lutke in pursuit. The policeman fired several shots after the fugitive, when suddenly fire was opened upon him from the rear by the second bandit.

Lutke turned to meet this new attack and a bullet struck him squarely in the forehead. He fell to the sidewalk with his revolver still clutched in his hand. The two men fled. The policeman died half an hour later in the Edgewater hospital.

Bandits Never Captured.

Descriptions of the men were broadcast, but they have never been apprehended. The descriptions are interesting in that they give an idea of the type of criminal whom the policeman must fight. Both were young and well dressed and, in the official language of the police department, "very pale complected, sunken cheeks, looked like dope fiends."

Some hours later, a man was found shot to death on the sidewalk in front of 1637 East 75th street. Witnesses said this man resembled one of the north side holdup men and it is possible that one of Policeman Lutke's bullets found a mark before he went to his death.

They gave Policeman Lutke a funeral with his brother officers as pallbearers. An investigation revealed that he owned no real estate, had no bank account, and was insured only in the Policemen's Benefit association. In the home at 2327 North Hamlin avenue, Mrs. Lutke and the four Lutke children faced the problem of living with their support cut away from them by a gunman who had not hestitated to kill from the rear.

Du Page county authorities and Chicago police were searching yesterday for three bandits who early in the day shot and killed Policeman Louis Schuetz of Lombard, during an attempted robbery of the Flowing Well Inn, a roadhouse at Riverside drive and Roosevelt road in Elmhurst.

Policeman Schuetz, who was off duty, was seated at a table in the roadhouse. There were about twenty other guests present. When the three robbers appeared at the door of the roadhouse with drawn revolvers Edward Siegart, a waiter, slammed the door in their faces.

One of the bandits fired through the door and then pushed it open. Policeman Schuetz ran toward the door, attempting to draw his revolver. Before he got it out, two of the gunmen opened fire on him. He fell with bullets in his heart and abdomen, and died immediately. The bandits fled.

BROKER IS KILLED ON OCEAN LINER BY COMPANION

Shot Accidentally, Ship Captain Says.

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—Karl Werner Heye III., 26, a broker and traveler of 46 Washington Square, south, was accidentally shot and killed today aboard the Bremen of the North German Lloyd, now at sea bound for Europe, by his traveling companion, Charles Manger, it was disclosed today.

Young Manger, a student at Leland Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal., is a nephew of Julius Manger, partner in the Manger hotel chain. He is 21 years old. His father is dead and his mother is now in China. He and Mr. Heye, friends said, were on the Bremen on the first stage of a world tour.

Word of the shooting, with no details as to the accident, was received late today in Rochester by Edwin C. Redfern of that city, attorney for the Heye estate. The information, in the form of a message from the line, read:

"Passenger K. Werner Heye aboard Bremen, first class, to Germany was shot dead by negligence on July 30 by First Class Passenger Manger. Police in Germany informed. Please advise immediately where body should be forwarded. Also advise if body should be returned to America by extra cost."

Upon receiving the message Mr. Redfern got in touch with Capt. Leopold Ziegenbein of the Bremen by wireless telephone. He obtained little additional information, however, other than that Mr. Heye was shot in some sort of an accident.

Mr. Heye was the adopted son of the late Karl Werner Heye II., wealthy Rochester, N. Y., accountant. The elder Heye was killed in his home city in an automobile accident a year ago last June. He left the bulk of his estate to his adopted son.

On May 13 last Mr. Heye was brought into Essex Market court here on a Sullivan law charge, made against him by detectives who alleged they had found the young man in the court of his Washington Square apartment building at 3 a. m. clad only in pajamas and brandishing a revolver.

Wales A. Jacobs, an aviation instructor, and Robert Stewart, a student pilot, were fatally injured yesterday when the plane in which they were riding crashed in a field at Harlem avenue and 92d street.

Witnesses of the accident said that the plane, which was fitted with dual controls in the hands of both men, first appeared to make an attempt to land and then headed upwards. At about 300 or 400 feet it stalled, went into a spin and crashed.

Flyers Die of Injuries.

Spectators who hurried to the scene were forced virtually to tear the fuselage apart to release the two men. Stewart died of a broken neck and other injuries half an hour later at the Little Company of Mary hospital. Jacobs died there an hour later.

The plane which the two men were using was a Driggs Skylark biplane with a 70 horse power Rover motor. It was the property of the J. and L. Aviation school, situated at 4930 West 63d street, at the Chicago airport. Jacobs was one of the proprietors of the school.

Student Seeking License.

Jacobs was 38 years old and lived at the Clearing hotel, 5524 West 63d place. Stewart, who was 28 years old, was married and lived at 6759 Cornell avenue. He was a pressman at the Lakeside Press and was studying for a commercial pilot's license. He had 16 solo hours in the air.

C. A. Kohler, deputy sheriff in charge of air accidents, went to the scene of the crash and took charge pending the arrival of the department of commerce aviation inspectors. Kohler found that a control bar in Jacobs' cockpit was bent, seemingly by some other cause than the crash. He believed Stewart might have lost control of the craft while trying to make a steep bank and that Jacobs had bent the bar in frantic efforts to right the plane. "Bumpy" air was believed to have contributed to the accident.

GOV. J. G. POLLARD OF VIRGINIA WEDS IN CANADA TODAY

WINNIPEG, Man., July 31.—(AP)—Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia will wed Miss Violet E. McDougall, his executive secretary, in the First Presbyterian church here this afternoon. Miss McDougall is a Canadian girl who went to Richmond in 1918.

The wedding will be a quiet affair attended only by member of the family and close friends.

Immediately after the ceremony the governor and his bride will leave for Chicago and then go to White Sulphur Springs and Green Brier, W. Va., where the chief executive will set up temporary offices preparatory to calling an extra session of the legislature, opening Aug. 17, when the repeal of the 18th amendment will be the main item of business.

FLEURY LEONARD, SUB-DEB, CRASHES; AUTO IS BURNED

Miss Fleury Leonard, 17 years old, society sub-debutante, escaped unhurt last night when her automobile hit a tree in Lake Forest and caught fire. The accident occurred in front of 776 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, and involved a car driven by David R. Forgan Jr. Miss Leonard's mother is now Mr. Forgan's wife.

Miss Leonard was driving north in Green Bay road, with Mr. Forgan following closely behind when she was forced to bring her machine to a sudden stop to avoid striking a car ahead. She stopped so quickly that Mr. Forgan could not stop his car in time.

His car crashed into Miss Leonard's automobile, and knocked it off the road and against a tree, where it burst into flames. Miss Leonard leaped in time to avoid injury. The car was destroyed. Miss Leonard and her father, Clifford M. Leonard, whose home is in New York, are occupying for the summer the Louis Swift home at 170 South Green Bay road, Lake Forest.

'Gas' Corn Popper Blast Injures 20 Merrymakers

Lewisport, Ky., July 30.—(AP)—More than 20 persons were burned, one fatally, when a gasoline tank on a popcorn popper exploded in the midst of a crowd of 2,000 persons last night at a picnic grounds near here.

SPAIN CONVERTS EX-KING'S PALACE INTO UNIVERSITY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, July 30.—The "most luxurious university in the world," where students can "live like kings," is to be opened this week. It is the summer university at Santander and former King Alfonso's favorite palace, the Magdalena.

The palace is built on a promontory pushing out into the beautiful bay, which formerly during August was the center of Spain's yachting and summer sports. Now 100 students, some of them Americans, will fill the halls once crowded with uniformed men and classes will take the place of audiences.

Alfonso's alcove has been made into a bedroom for two students. The ballroom has been converted into a library, and Queen Victoria's salon will be a rest room for the professors.

Paraguay Confirms Death of Flyer in Chaco War

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 30.—(AP)—Army officials today confirmed the death last June in an aerial battle in the Gran Chaco of Walter Guyhn, identified at that time as an American aviator. The army, however, listed him as a Paraguayan, saying that his father was an American and his mother a citizen of this country.

CUT SPEAKEASY PRICES, DESPITE ALKY INCREASE

Highballs as Low as 25c Apiece Now.

Speakeasy prices are dropping, a survey of the peephole spots showed yesterday. The "adjusted" price lists were put into effect in the face of a rising market for wholesale alcohol — a circumstance presumably brought about by the big decline in the bootleg beer traffic. The hoodlum vendors are boosting the price of alcohol in an effort to make up for the loss of beer profits.

Proprietors of the better speakeasies are cutting the price of fancy drinks all the way from 10 to 30 per cent. One or two claimed they were trying to be decent to the World's Fair trade but most admitted that popular demand actuated their cuts.

Cuts Tom Collins Price.

One swank spot which has endured since prohibition and has been particularly renowned for mixing a delectable Tom Collins, once saw the day when those long, tall drinks brought a dollar a throw. This, of course, was before the depression. During 1930, 1931, and 1932 the price was 75 cents.

"But now," said the proprietor yesterday, "eager to do my part in the upswing, I have cut my Tom Collins to half a buck per copy. And I defy you to buy them better and, at the same time, cheaper, any place in town."

Bacardi cocktails, which also used to sell for $1, went down to 75 and then to 60 cents. Manhattans sell for 60 cents after years at 75, while Bronx and Martini cocktails go now for 50 cents, representing a one-third decline in price.

Probably because of the recent publicity given to a mint julep mixing contest in New York there have been many calls for this popular southern drink. The new demand has cut the price from $1 to 75 cents.

Highballs as Low as 25 Cents.

Highballs, with a foundation of sound bourbon, can be obtained in some spots for 25 or 30 cents, but the old established places charge 40, having cut a dime from the price a few months ago. The gin buck, the child of prohibition, goes for 25 or 30 cents, depending upon the size of the glass. Gin fizzes are 40 cents. Golden and silver fizzes, properly mixed, bring half a dollar.

Even the cheap spots are coming down on their gin bucks and shots of wildcat whisky. Formerly sold for a quarter, they go now for 15 cents.

Many of the better speakeasies have discontinued offering Canadian beer since the advent of legal brew. What the proprietors lose on mixed drinks they make up on beer.

SHELTER INMATE DIES.

Dennis Drake, 83 years old, died of heart disease yesterday while he was seated at breakfast in the shelter for the idle at 2420 South La Salle street.

READY TO START QUIZ ON BAGGAGE HAULINGCHARGES

Williston Named Head of Council Group.

An inquiry into the rates charged by the Parmelee Transfer company for handling baggage out of Chicago's railroad terminals has been started with the naming of a subcommittee of the city council to make the investigation and the appointment of Ald. George A. Williston [49th] as its chairman.

The subcommittee was named by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the council committee on local transportation. This committee recently was authorized by the council to inquire into charges that the Parmelee company's rates are in excess of the maximum set by city ordinance after an instance of an alleged overcharge had been brought to Ald. Bowler's attention.

Charge $1 for Each Piece.

Section 2148 of the city code fixes a maximum rate of 50 cents for the first two miles and 25 cents for each additional mile for each piece of baggage weighing 350 pounds or less. In the case brought to Ald. Bowler's attention the company charged $5 for hauling five pieces of baggage from the Union station to the Medinah Michigan Avenue club at 505 North Michigan avenue.

"I have notified Ald. Williston of his appointment," said Ald. Bowler, "and requested him not only to have an early meeting of the subcommittee but to follow the investigation through as quickly as possible and report to the full committee. Then the full committee can determine what action should be taken.

Fears Charges of Gouging.

"Thousands of visitors are arriving in Chicago every day to visit the World's Fair. Many of them are coming by railroad with baggage, and unless they are protected against extortionate charges they will return to their homes with the feeling that Chicago is trying to gouge its guests. Transients also should be protected against excessive charges."

Although many of the aldermen are away on vacations, Ald. Williston stated that he would attempt to hold the first meeting this week. At that meeting it is likely, it was said, that Corporation Counsel Sexton will be asked for an opinion as to the legality of Section 2148 of the code, inasmuch as officials of the company have contended that the council has no authority over their rates.

Thousands Given Charity by Mt. Sterling Woman

Mount Sterling, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, who recently died here, left a bequest of $5,000 to her own church, the Methodist of this city. She also left the Baptist church $1,000, the Methodist church of Clayton $1,000, and an additional $1,000 to be invested and the income to help defray church expenses, the latter as a memorial to her mother. She left $1,000 each to Blessing hospital, Hilcrest Tubercular sanitarium, Anna Brown Home for the Aged, and Chaddock Boys' school, all of Quincy, as well as minor bequests.

FLORIDA GALE DAMAGE LIGHT; STORM PASSES

Fort Pierce, Fla., July 30.—(AP)—The Bahaman storm entered the coast line south of here this afternoon and was blowing across the Florida peninsula tonight, but available reports revealed no casualties and only superficial property damage.

At Stuart, where a house was unroofed and which appeared to have been near the center of the storm, the wind reached 50 to 60 miles an hour. Here the estimated maximum was 60 miles. A hurrican wind is 75 miles or more.

Some Power Lines Down.

Communications and power lines were blown down north of Stuart and several small communities were isolated. Considerable citrus in the area may have suffered from the blow. The Dixie highway at Stuart was blocked by a fallen power line and traffic was halted between here and that place.

Weather bureau observers estimated the center of the storm passed north of Okeechobee City at the head of the lake of that name. A sixty mile wind was reported in Okeechobee this afternoon.

Precautions Are Taken.

About 2,000 inhabitants of the lowlying farm lands around the southern and eastern shores of the lake were taken in box cars to higher ground as a precautionary measure today and a similar number from another section went to higher ground yesterday.

Inhabitants of the area visited by the storm generally had taken precautions by boarding up houses and places of business. Many folks moved out to the north by automobile from east coast communities.

Two Prominent New York Men Killed in Auto Crash

Sag Harbor, N. Y., July 30.—[Special.]—William Bayard Blackwell and his house guest at Sagaponack, Thomas Palmer, 23, of New York, were killed tonight in an automobile accident on Montauk highway. Three other persons were injured. Blackwell was the son of Mrs. E. H. H. Simmons, 812 Park avenue, New York. He graduated from Princeton in 1932.

75 Men to Get Jobs This Week on Seaway Project

McGregor, Ia., July 30.—[Special.]—E. C. Schroeder, McGregor, who has $50,000 contract for work on the upper Mississippi river, announced today that following instructions from Washington, D. C., to start operations immediately he would put 75 men to work this week near Bellevue, Ia. A series of wing dams will be built there, as part of the nine foot channel project.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN TO PUT GAS HEAT IN 60,000 HOMES

Drive Will Cover Chicago and Suburban Area.

The three utility companies supplying gas to Chicago and vicinity are uniting this week in a campaign to change the house heating habits of a large section of the community. The campaign is projected to run at least 18 months.

Within that period, the three companies hope to install gas heat in 60,000 homes. Concerns participating, and the areas they serve, are the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Chicago; Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, serving the north shore, and Western United Gas and Electric company, serving the western suburbs.

Fred H. Scheel, well known in the utilities field here for twenty-five years, has been appointed general manager of the campaign. He and his staff are starting virtually from scratch, for at present there are no more than 7,500 gas heated homes in the territory.

New Gas Rates Cut Cost.

In an effort to attract householders away from other fuels, Mr. Scheel said, the three companies are relying greatly on the new rate schedules for space and hot water heating filed with the Illinois commerce commission last July 1. The new rates are based on sliding scales, so adjusted that the more gas the customer uses, the lower is the cost.

A table contrasting the monthly rate in therms of the Peoples Gas company under the old schedule and the new shows how the saving per therm increases in proportion to the quantity of gas used. The table follows:

Monthly consumption.	Old rate.	New rate.
5 therms	$ 1.06	$ 1.05
25 therms	4.24	4.21
50 therms	8.19	6.05
75 therms	11.65	7.80
100 therms	14.98	9.55
200 therms	28.28	16.55
500 therms	68.18	37.55
1,000 therms	134.68	72.55

Basic schedules of the two suburban companies are somewhat higher, but the savings offered for increased consumption run about the same proportionately. In all three schedules, gas used for cooking or water heating is lumped with gas used for house heating in computing the monthly bill.

Expect Many New Jobs.

The campaign is expected to provide hundreds of jobs, perhaps thousands, according to Mr. Scheel. Already, he said, the staff includes twelve sales managers, sixty heating engineers, 285 salesmen and twenty clerks.

"If the campaign succeeds as we expect it will, there will be renewed activity in other lines," said Mr. Scheel. "To illustrate the point, a local manufacturer of gas burners, whose production used to run about 200 burners a year, is now stepping it up to fifty burners a month."

Monitor Fights Merrimac Again at Ericsson Picnic

Nearly 50,000 Chicagoans of Scandinavian descent attended a picnic yesterday at Good Templar park, Geneva, to celebrate the 130th birthday anniversary of John Ericsson, the Swedish engineer who invented the screw propeller and designed the Monitor, famous union ironclad in the civil war. Dr. Julius Lincoln of Chicago spoke on the life of Ericsson and in the evening models of the Monitor and the Merrimac reproduced on the Fox river the battle which the two ironclads fought at Hampton roads.

RECEIVERS REPORT ON CONDITION OF 21 CLOSED NATIONAL BANKS

The second series of reports by the receivers of 20 of the 21 closed national banks in Chicago, and one closed national bank in Chicago Heights, were made public yesterday by J. E. Fouts, supervising receiver at Washington. The reports show the progress of liquidation and the financial condition of the closed banks from the dates of closing up to June 30, 1933.

The aggregate expense of receivership of the closed national banks amounted to $948,698, or at the rate of $45,176 for each of the banks. This compares with an aggregate expense of $7,098,699 for the 143 closed state banks in Cook county, as disclosed in a report made two weeks ago by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. The receivership expense of the state banks was at the rate of $49,641 a bank.

The total assets of the national banks on their closing dates amounted to $52,597,945, or an average of $2,504,664 a bank. The 143 state banks had total assets of approximately $226,000,000, an average of about $1,580,000 for each bank.

The national banks have made payments to unsecured creditors amounting in all to $7,647,059. This compares with payments of $19,330,137 made to similar creditors by the state banks.

The national banks have paid out an aggregate of $9,808,027 to secured and preferred creditors while the state banks have paid out $10,170,194 to creditors of the same status.

The detailed receivership statements as of June 30, on the 20 closed national banks in Chicago and the one closed national bank in Chicago Heights follow:

SEIZE SWINDLER AFTER VICTIM IS OUT HIS $4,200

George Murphy, 32 years old, an alleged confidence man, was captured last night by a horse race victim. However, the victim, Robert Wachsmudth, 45 years old, a tinsmith of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., is out $4,200—his life savings.

Last week Wachsmudth met two strangers, named Harrison and Hart, on the World's Fair grounds. They inveigled him into playing the horses and told him that he had won. They convinced him that to make big money they should pool their resources.

Wachsmudth went home and withdrew the $4,200 from a Brooklyn bank. He returned with the money yesterday and last night met Harrison, Hart, and Murphy in his room at a loop hotel. He handed over his money. Suddenly the three men began quarreling. Wachsmudth, suspecting he was being duped, seized Murphy. The two other men got away. Police questioned Murphy and said that Murphy admitted that Wachsmudth's money was gone, but did not know where.

REJECT THIRD OF SURETY PUT UP BY DENEMARK

Assistant State's Attorney William A. Carroll of the bond department announced yesterday that one-third of the property scheduled by Emil Denemark, west side politician and auto dealer, as surety for 11 of the 24 defendants named in the racket conspiracy indictment last Thursday, had been rejected because of encumbrances.

The property rejected was the Denemark racing stable in Du Page county, for which the auto dealer substituted a 100 acre tract of land, also in Du Page county. Denemark valued the total property scheduled at $475,000, including his sales and service station at 3850 Ogden avenue and another sales station in La Grange.

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, one of the principal defendants in the laundry, cleaning, and dyeing and carbonated beverage racket conspiracy case which includes Al Capone and Murray Humphries, gangsters, and Ald. Oscar Nelson of the 46th ward, will surrender today, according to Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy.

WOUNDED BANDIT BREAKS HIS LEG TRYING TO FLEE

Albert Chiha, a wounded automobile thief, received a broken leg yesterday as a result of his attempt to shoot a policeman and to escape as he was receiving first aid for his wound at the Holy Cross hospital.

Chiha, who is 28 years old and lives at 4158 South Rockwell street, was captured by a squad from the Chicago Lawn station led by Sergt. George Gore. When he refused to stop the automobile he was driving at the squad's command Sergt. Gore and Patrolman Michael Sullivan and Robert Woodward opened fire on him.

After a short chase Chiha stopped at 65th and Wood streets. He had been shot in the right hip. He was taken to the hospital in a patrol wagon. While he was lying in the receiving room he seized a revolver from the holster of Patrolman George Johnson, a wagon attendant, and tried to shoot him.

The gun failed to explode. Chiha ran from the room and jumped over a bannister in the hallway. Police, pursuing, found him with a broken leg and took him to the Bridewell hospital.

DEAN OF DENTAL SCHOOL VANISHES ON FISHING TRIP

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 30.—(AP)—Dr. A. Hugh Hipple, 68, dean of Creighton Dental college, Omaha, Neb., is mysteriously missing from his summer home near here, and although a careful search has been made under the direction of Ontario police, no trace was found of him.

Dr. Hipple left his home in a boat for a fishing trip Saturday, intending to return in two hours. He was last seen near Black Charlie's island, a few miles west of here, late Saturday, and it is believed he may have been drowned.

A graduate of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, he left Stratford for Omaha about 40 years ago. His wife, who is at the summer home at Fernbank, has offered a reward for information regarding her husband.

Quality Can Be Bought For Less Than Perhaps Ever Again!

It may never happen again that such sensationally Low Sale Prices as these are seen in company with merchandise of such extraordinarily fine quality. The rise in prices is no longer a subject for speculation—it's an established fact. The length of time before prices here go up is largely a question of how long our present abundant quantities, purchased early, will last.

The Annual Sale of Furs

If we bought these today prices would have to be very much higher. In this Sale you will find a collection of swagger coats, young and debonair in style, of varied furs, ranging from $50 up. Coats of Hudson seal* of an outstandingly fine quality at $150 to $295. Mink coats at $750 to $1250. This but touches on the greater advantages of the Sale. * Dyed Muskrat

$10,000,000 PUT INTO CIRCULATION BY FAIR SO FAR

Financial Success Sure, Officials Assert.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Exposition's major contribution to the new deal and the national recovery program has placed approximately $10,000,000 in circulation since its opening on May 27, according to a financial statement made public yesterday by M. M. Tveter, controller of the Fair. That sum represents expenditures by the visitors, both in the form of admissions to the grounds and money spent in concessions.

The controller's figures confirm the $10,000,000 estimate of total turnover made by Fair officials last week.

From the opening day to Saturday morning 4,820,514 tickets have been sold at the gates for a total of $2,208,565.34, according to the controller. Despite the admission of 25 cents for children and the 5 cent admission for those under 12 years old each Friday the average gate ticket sale has been 46 cents.

In addition to the tickets sold at the gates, preopening sales account for 1,742,744 tickets. Due to the fact that all of these contracts have not yet been fulfilled and money is still coming in for ticket deliveries, an accurate check has not been made on the money to be derived from this source.

Average $1.12 to Concessions.

Approximately 74 per cent of the total expenditures have been made in the concessions on the grounds with reports, including Friday, showing an income of $7,316,431. Concessionaires estimate that an average of $1.12½ has been spent by the visitors to the various shows and cafés.

Heading the list of popular places on the strength of the financial returns is the Streets of Paris group, which reported a total income of $624,302.21, as of July 26, the last figures to be available for the auditors' report. The next most profitable concession is the Greyhound bus line, with total receipts of $502,345.48. Third place in the money list goes to the Century newsstands, with an income of $383,298.89. Competing for the most popular eating places are Pabst Blue Ribbon casino, with receipts of $366,453.28, and Old Heidelberg, with receipts of $358,647.

Other Concessions Exceed $100,000.

The other concessions which have passed the $100,000 mark are:

Crown Food stands	$283,417.02
Crown Food grills	244,476.03
Sky Ride	201,907.45
Belgian village	162,521.31
Roller chairs and rickshas	122,771.23
Muller Pabst café	121,803.33
Ripley Believe It or Not odditorium	115,621.17
Schlitz Garden café	111,815.29
Lagoon boats	111,616.08
Victor Vienna café	100,279.70

A survey of the various types of places in which the money was spent shows that food and drink draw the largest sums from the Fair visitors. The total money spent in concessions is divided as follows:

Restaurants	$2,010,594.37
Shows and spectacles	1,023,909.90
Bus and other utilities	840,661.67
Refreshments	798,857.90
Stores	740,463.01
Rides and amusements	727,905.69
Games and vending machines	138,343.14
Sales and exhibits	89,465.39
Miscellaneous	46,174.18

Officials said that receipts of many of the concessions was far in excess of that anticipated. Some of the shows which had been expected to draw a large income have not done so, but others have exceeded the highest hopes of the backers. One restaurant which had based its contract on an expected average for the five months of $75,000 per month took in $175,000 in the first 30 days.

Confident of Financial Success.

On the basis of the money taken in by the concessions, officials are now confident that the Fair will pay out. An estimated attendance of 30,000,000 is expected and that, with expected receipts from the concessions, will pay off the $10,000,000 bond issue. However, as the income given the Fair from the concessions increases rapidly in the higher brackets, probably a smaller attendance would enable the Fair to break even. The Fair's percentage is a sliding one and varies with the different concessions.

The 2 per cent retailers' occupational tax collected at the Fair will yield some $300,000 to the state, J. M. Braude, assistant to Joseph J. Rice, state finance director, has estimated.

Despite the severe heat, the attendance rose to a total of 100,287 at 11:30 o'clock last night. Thus the record of only one day in July with an attendance of fewer than 100,000 was maintained.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

The tallest farmer, the fattest farmer, and the farmer with the largest family among the thousands expected to visit the Fair during Farmers' week, Aug. 13 to 19, will be awarded elaborate prizes, it was announced yesterday by Fair officials. Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, will speak on "Corn and Hogs" on Friday Aug. 18. Aug. 15 will be Farm Women's day. An invitation has been sent Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt to attend the Fair and address farm women on that day.

An old painting of the Electrical Building at the Fair, the work of Walter L. Green of Schnectady, N. Y. will be presented to Rufus C. Dawes president of the Exposition, at noon today in the General Electric exhibit by Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of General Electric company. Mr. Young and his son, Dick, had luncheon with Maj. L. R. Lohr, general manager of the Fair, yesterday. Afterward they toured the grounds. They will visit the Fair today and tomorrow and will probably leave Chicago Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Lyon, 1366 North Dearborn street, wife of a radio announcer for the National Broadcasting company, was the 1,000,000th visitor to the Streets of Paris concession at the Fair yesterday. She was presented with a pass to the concession, good for the remainder of the Exposition.

A group of political cartoons of the civil war period arrived yesterday and will be placed on exhibition in the Wigwam in the Lincoln group by Mrs. Bess B. Dahlquist.

A large collection of war trophies belonging to Daniel F. Moore of 1510 West 104th street, former president of the Illinois Riflemen's association, was placed on exhibition yesterday at the Pantheon de la Guerre. It includes specimens of small arms and measuring instruments, German machine guns, French, English, and German rifles, hand renades, helmets and trench motors. The collection will remain on display for the duration of the Fair.

Theodore R. McElroy of Boston, world's champion amateur radio operator, and Jean Hudson of Laurel, Md., 8 year old girl operator, the youngest licensed operator in the United States, visited the amateur radio exhibit in the Travel and Transport building yesterday. McElroy is in Chicago to defend his title in the code speed contest which will be a feature of the radio amateur's convention Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

British Labor Party Picks Henderson as Candidate

LONDON, July 30.—(AP)—The Labor party today selected Arthur H. Henderson, veteran labor leader, as its prospective candidate in the by-election in the Clay cross division of Derby. Henderson, chairman of the world disarmament conference and former cabinet member, recently announced he would not allow his name to be submitted, but the party decided to request his services nevertheless.

Five Killed in Five Days in Bloomington Auto Crashes

Bloomington, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Automobile wrecks claimed three more lives in Bloomington over the week-end, making the toll five in five days, when William Howard Gray, 26, of Normal; John Roscoe Eubank, 45, Farmer City, and Miss Blanche Bond, 50, of Vincennes, Ind., died in Bloomington hospitals.

A United Air lines plane, piloted by Eddie Eschelmann and John Coleman, made the 433 mile trip from Omaha to Chicago early yesterday in 2 hours and 20 minutes. The flight, 40 minutes less than scheduled time, broke the existing speed record between the two cities by 20 minutes, officials of the air line said.

HENS IN LAYING RACE FASCINATE CROWDS AT FAIR

White Leghorn Flock Leads Rhode Island Reds.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Despite the summer heat and current governmental moves to curtail farm production, 122 flocks of American and Canadian poultry are proceeding to set new records in egg laying in the international contest housed at the southernmost point of the World's Fair grounds.

The contest, which has drawn together what poultry authorities declare to be the finest collection of pedigreed laying stock ever assembled, is seeking to better the world's record in which a hen lacked only a few eggs of laying one for each day of the year.

Of unusual interest to the crowds in daily attendance at "Poultryville" in the Exposition is Lady Dixiana, five year old white leghorn from Clinton, Mo. Lady Dixiana has laid 342 eggs in 365 days in a previous contest. Now she is continuing to stay near the head of the class in which her great-granddaughter is competing.

Visitors from Every State.

Residents of every state in the Union and many foreign countries have visited the exhibition, according to Prof. F. H. Stoneburn, poultry authority from Storrs, Conn., in charge of the educational features. Delegations of officials interested in securing American poultry stock and the most modern American methods of poultry production have been sent from the Philippines, Hawaii, Japan, China, Mexico, Czechoslovakia, Brazil, and Panama. Shipments of fine fowls and equipment have been made to several of these countries from the Fair grounds in recent weeks.

Included in the exhibition are the latest types of poultry equipment, ventilating equipment, feeders, automatic trap nesting to record each hen's production, and the ultra modern laying batteries in which chickens are confined under ideal conditions all their life. City folk seem as much interested in the exhibit as those from the rural sections.

Contest Goes on Till October.

The laying contest itself started May 29 and does not end until late in October. Each breeder has entered 13 hens and a rooster, the latter being on hand to show visitors true types for each breed and variety. Fertile eggs are hatched in incubators on the grounds and the young chicks are shipped to distant points. Other types of fowl are on exhibition, including bantams, peafowl, wild turkeys, wild geese and ducks, pheasants, and pigeons.

Thus far the contest is a close race between a white leghorn pen from New York and three pens of Rhode Island reds from Maine, Massachusetts, and Michigan. The records depend upon a scoring system in which credit is given for total production of eggs per pen and per ten best hens in each flock. A premium is given those hens producing eggs weighing over 2 ounces each and thus far the total production in the contest is averaging eggs weighing above the standard of 24 ounces per dozen eggs. Heavy birds are competing in a separate class from the light birds.

Policeman Shot in Brawl Is in Serious Condition

The condition of Patrolman Charles Scheiner of the traffic division, who was shot early yesterday in a brawl in the Chelsea café, 914 Wilson avenue, was reported to be serious later in the day. He is at the Lake View hospital. A bullet from his own gun struck Scheiner near the heart, after he had intervened in a family quarrel. The police held Julius Becker, one of the owners of the cafe, but were unable to establish definitely who shot Scheiner.

ROB TWO IN FOOD SHOP.

Three bandits robbed Mrs. Anna Uhlrich of $25 early yesterday in her delicatessen at 1421 Wilson avenue, and then took $100 from Charles Johansen, 2521 Milwaukee avenue, a beer distributor who was making a delivery.

FIND RARE OLD WINES, LIQUORS IN CELLAR OF WENDEL HOUSE

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—Louis H. F. Mouquin, head of Mouquin, Inc., visited the musty wine cellar beneath the old Wendel house at 5th avenue and 39th streets today, at the request of Charles G. Koss, administrator of the $100,000,000 estate of Miss Ella V. Wendel.

The executors, in making an inventory of the furnishings, had come upon a quantity of dust covered bottles in the wine cellar and had asked Mr. Mouquin, a connoisseur of wines and liquors, to estimate its value for them. Mr. Mouquin said, after a cursory inspection, that the wines and liquors were worth several thousand dollars.

Most of it, Mr. Mouquin said, was in good condition, although he recommended rebottling some of the wines, in order to preserve them. Several cases of Rhine wine, between 40 and 45 years old, were spoiled.

Three cases of champagne of the vintage of 1904, one bottle of 1841 sherry, and 100 bottles of Amontillado sherry, Mr. Mouquin said, were in excellent condition. There was one bottle of Booth's London dry gin 40 years old.

In a corner of the wine cellar Mr. Mouquin found three demijohns, two of which were filled with what Mr. Mouquin described as "real old American rye whisky."

CHERBOURG'S NEW PORT FOR LINERS IS INAUGURATED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHERBOURG, France, July 30.—A ceremony marking the end of an inconvenience and delay to American trans-Atlantic travelers arriving here took place today when President Albert Lebrun inaugurated the new $20,000,000 maritime station. Americans will no longer be ferried ashore on tenders from anchored ships. American, German and English liners will be able to dock just as the French line steamers do at Havre.

Another future convenience—swifter passage from Cherbourg to Paris—was presaged when Lebrun and his party sped from Paris to the port in a Bugatti auto-rail car in 3 hours and 15 minutes. This is two hours less than the fastest train.

I feel closer to my cigarette each time I smoke

I really can't help it. After all, one does develop a personal regard for a thing that comes in such intimate contact with one's lips. And since I am a woman, I do appreciate the fact that my Lucky Strike never offends my fastidious sense of daintiness. Men smile at my feminine reasoning. To them the character of Luckies' fine tobaccos seems more important. But my woman's intuition tells me that the purity of "Toasting" is never to be forgotten. And so, the more I smoke, the closer I feel to my cigarette.

FALSE STORIES ABOUT FAIR AND PARKING NAILED

Racketeer Salesmanship in Michigan Bared.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., July 29.—THE TRIBUNE roadster, as an official envoy of A Century of Progress, today trailed adverse World's Fair gossip in this vicinity to racketeer salesmanship methods of some Chicago parking lot operators.

Eddy S. Matheson, touring director of the Automobile Club of Michigan, disclosed that agents of these Chicagoans were telling Michigan car owners that the police would prohibit them from approaching the Exposition grounds closer than three miles. The motive is to sell tickets to outlying parking lots to those planning to drive to A Century of Progress.

Other Rumors Circulated.

"They are responsible for much of the misinformation about the World's Fair that is being circulated in Michigan," said Mr. Matheson, "and it's cutting attendance at the Fair from this state. There are other false rumors, also hurting the Exposition, to the effect that automobiles without Illinois licenses are not permitted within Chicago and that prices at A Century of Progress are exorbitant.

"We are receiving an average of 112 calls a day and a heavy mail of inquiries about traffic, parking and hotel accommodations in Chicago, and we're doing everything we can to counteract the false reports."

Carrying out the purpose of an extended tour by THE TRIBUNE roadster, the automobile club was furnished with accurate and up to date information on hotels, parking and traffic conditions at A Century of Progress, statistical data compiled by George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club and a member of the World's Fair traffic committee, who is accompanying THE TRIBUNE automobile editor on this trip.

Fair Literature Distributed.

World's Fair literature was also given to the Toledo Automobile club, in the Ohio city sixty miles south of here, and to the information booths at the Tunnel and Bridge used by tourists from Canada and by motorists from New York and New England states who have crossed Canada en route to Chicago.

The Detroit Free Press tomorrow morning will carry a story telling not only of the expose of the racketeer salesmanship for outlying Chicago parking lots, but also reporting detailed facts supporting Chicago's contention that it is able to accommodate automobile visitors to the Fair comfortably and at moderate cost.

Majority Come by Auto.

Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Exposition, in appointing THE TRIBUNE roadster as A Century of Progress official car last Friday, said such dissemination of accurate information throughout the country, to combat wide spread adverse and false reports, was essential to the success of the last three months of the Fair. It is estimated that more than half the World's Fair visitors from beyond Chicagoland arrive by the private automobile.

Maj. Lohr pointed out the benefits the Fair will receive from this TRIBUNE enterprise will likewise be enjoyed by Chicago's general business which has felt a material stimulus from A Century of Progress activities.

Gloucester Schooner Resumes Voyage to Fair

CUMBERLAND GAP SHOUTER HEARD FOR EIGHT MILES

Cumberland Gap, Tenn., July 30.—(AP)—By shouting so loudly that his voice was heard—according to the judges—a distance of eight miles and in three states at the same time, Lee Chrisman, 32, Kentucky farmer living near Danville, early today set what his followers claim is a world record.

In the mountains that mark the junctions of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia at this point, Chrisman, an auctioneer, climbed to the top of the pinnacle of Cumberland Gap at 3 a. m. Then he yelled as loudly as he could.

Listeners stationed as judges in each of the three states said they heard Chrisman's baritone voice echo through the hills and valleys as far as eight miles. Two listeners were stationed in Tennessee and two in Virginia, each eight miles from the starting point of Chrisman's "big bellow."

Thief Steals a Part of Girl Coin Collector's Collection

The police Saturday began a search for a thief who entered the apartment of Miss Muriel Anderson, 23 years old, 3525 Seminary avenue, a coin collector, and stole several rare coins and a quart jar filled with Indian head pennies. One of the coins, an 1854 half dollar, is valued at $50.

Present Pageant

A program portraying peasant life in Bulgaria was presented yesterday, Bulgarian day at A Century of Progress, in the court of the Hall of Science. A pageant was presented to the accompaniment of Bulgarian music, under the direction of Gaspar Bankeroff, with Mme. Katia Kourteva Howdren, contralto, of Toledo, O., as the featured soloist. Judge W. Grabeloff, president of the Bulgarian section of A Century of Progress, was chairman in charge of arrangements.

RICH NEW YORK WOMAN ROBBED IN HOTEL SUITE

Put in Bathroom While Gems Are Taken.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 30.—[Special.]—A youthful holdup man with a revolver entered a suite on the ninth floor of the Hotel Claridge here just after 2 o'clock this morning. He forced Mrs. Philip Glemby of 912 5th avenue, New York City, wife of a hair net manufacturer, into a bathroom, tied her hands with a towel, took jewelry valued at almost $75,000, and escaped.

Mrs. Glemby, 48 years old, is sister-in-law of Mrs. Harry Glemby, who was bound in her room on East 67th street on the night of Jan. 22, 1932, by three holdup men, who stole $349,000 in jewels. That jewelry was recovered by the police. The robbers were sentenced to long terms in prison.

Mrs. Glemby, on arriving here, brought only three strings of pearls, three white pearl and diamond rings, one pair of pearl earrings and a platinum and diamond breast pin. All of those were stolen.

The jewelry stolen was insured.

The hotel is at Park place and the boardwalk, and Mrs. Glemby returned there shortly after midnight, visited some friends on the same floor, then went to her room.

There was a knock on the door and a voice said "I have a message for Mrs. Glemby." Mrs. Glemby opened the door, expecting there might be a telegram.

A man entered. She later described him as about 22 years old, weighing about 145 pounds, five feet eight inches tall, slender, dark complexioned, dressed in a blue suit and wearing a dark felt hat. Pointing a revolver at Mrs. Glemby he warned, "Don't make any noise and do what I tell you." She obeyed.

PLANS STRIP MINE AT FARMINGTON, ILL., TO COST 3 MILLIONS

Bloomington, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Three million dollars will be spent on the opening of a strip mine near Farmington, Ill. The mine will not be opened until this fall.

The Midland Electric Coal corporation, promoter of the proposed mine, has purchased four steam locomotives from the Burlington railway.

K. R. Bixby, general manager of the corporation, announced today that $3,000,000 will be spent before a ton of coal is mined.

FREE TREATMENT IS OFFERED TO ASTHMA VICTIMS

The University of Illinois college of medicine is renewing its annual experiment on means of alleviating the discomfort of hay fever and asthma victims, and is offering free treatment to 50 sufferers from those diseases. it was announced yesterday by Dr William H. Welker, in charge of the experiment.

Those who have asthma will be given preference this year in selecting the patients for the experiment since the research will chiefly concern pollen asthma. Patients will be placed in specially constructed rooms in which the air will be dehumidified, filtered and cooled.

Applicants are being received at the Illinois Research hospital, 1817 West Polk street, daily before noon. No patients will be received who are already under the care of a physician

MOLLISONS VISIT ROOSEVELT; ARE GUESTS AT HOME

President Has Quiet Day at Hyde Park.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt gave a cordial shake to bandaged hands from across the sea today when he and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at luncheon Britain's flying Mollisons.

The British flyers, Capt. James Mollison and his equally famous wife, the former Amy Johnson, broke through the cordon of presidential privacy which far more official callers weren't allowed to penetrate. They were guided on their visit to the Roosevelt estate at Krum Elbow by Amelia Earhart, the American aviatrix and her publisher husband, George P. Putnam.

Bandaged But Smiling.

Still wearing bandages and plasters but smiling, the Mollisons told the President of their arduous flight across the Atlantic with its disappointing and nearly tragic sequel when their plane crashed in making an emergency landing at Bridgeport, Connecticut.

The visit of the British pair was the only high spot of an otherwise restful and uneventful Sunday. This morning, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. James Roosevelt Sr., his mother, the President attended services at St. James Episcopal church of which he is senior warden. Following the services he went for a brief drive about the thousand acres of the estate upon which he was born.

Pleased with Harvest.

In his capacity as country squire, he expressed himself well satisfied. The small grain had been harvested. The cornfield waved with stalks 4 feet high; the dairy herd was thriving. The woodlands, where the President has been particularly keen on trying out modern principles of forest management, were reported to be paying their own way.

For the remainder of the day the President kept close to the house. He gave up swimming in the afternoon, preferring to wait for cooler weather before going out in the sun. The heat today rivalled the tropic summer weather of Washington. Though business was officially banned until tomorrow, the President spent some time in his study, where marine prints and ship models line the wall, going over the progress and the prospects of his industrial recovery campaign.

Cleveland-New York—Broken to scattered clouds.

TOKIO CHARGES U. S. AIDS CHINA TO BUILD AIR PORTS

HONKKONG, China, July 30.—(AP)—Chinese newspapers here today reported that Japanese circles charged that the Nineteenth Chinese route army, which figured in the Chinese-Japanese fighting at Shanghai, was building five airdromes in Fukien province, employing American machinists. Money for the construction, the reports said, was obtained in a loan from America.

The foreign office in Tokio reported last Friday the receipt of reports from Japanese consuls in China that rumore were in circulation Americans were seeking a foothold in Fukien province in south eastern China proper. Japanese vernacular newspapers published dispatches that the United States navy had closed a deal to acquire a naval base at Tungshan island.

Naval officials in Washington laughed at the reports, one of them pointing out that the United States is barred under the Washington treaty not only from obtaining any new naval bases in the Pacific but also from fortifying further in those waters.

MOTORIST IS ROBBED.

William C. Howard, 1260 North Dearborn street, was robbed of $10 early yesterday by a gunman who jumped on the running board of his automobile at Aldine avenue and Broadway.

PACT TO REDUCE WHEAT ACREAGE NEAR IN LONDON

LONDON, July 30.—(AP)—Negotiations for a wheat restriction scheme took a turn for the better over the week-end and prospects were brightened for an eventual agreement adapting production of the world's principal staple to demand.

If the big four nations—the United States, Canada, Australia, and Argentina—had maintained the solidarity of the previous weeks at their final meeting last Thursday, it was understood in informed circles that an agreement virtually satisfactory to all, the exporters and the producers, might have been reached. There was just a suggestion of a rift, it was explained, and an adjournment until Aug. 21 was agreed upon.

Restriction Is Favored.

Since that time there have been informal conversations which were understood to have consolidated the big four more strongly than ever. Canada and Argentina were said to both strongly favor a restriction of acreage, while Australia was declared to be willing to cut exports.

Frederick E. Murphy of Minneapolis, one of the American delegates, plans to leave, probably Tuesday night, on a trip which will take him first to Berlin and then to Prague, Rome, and Paris with a view to lining up importers in preparation for resumption of the discussions.

Henry Morgenthau of the United States delegation sailed yesterday on the Berengaria for America, leaving the negotiations in Murphy's hands.

Hides Contents of Message.

Murphy admitted he had cabled Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in Washington, but would not reveal the contents of his message and said a reply had not been received.

[A dispatch from Washington Saturday said Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had received a message from delegates to the London wheat conference asking him to withhold his decision on acreage reduction in America. It was said authoritatively that the secretary had been informed a new and informal effort to reach an agreement had been launched.]

Stanley M. Bruce, Australian high commissioner in London, another of the wheat conferees, is still here, but Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada left this morning for a holiday. Thomas A. Lebreton of Argentina, is in Paris, while the representatives of the Danubian countries returned home yesterday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CLARENVILLE, Newfoundland, July 30.—Unfavorable weather reports are expected to again delay the departure of Gen. Italo Balbo and his Italian flyers for Valencia, Irish Free State, tomorrow.

Ocean steamers report that there is considerable fog over the Atlantic, a heavy wind and high seas. The 24 Italian seaplanes have been here since Wednesday.

Many of the flyers have been interviewed by THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent. All express a preference for Chicago as compared to the other cities they visited. They say it is a beautiful city. "It is so big it can breathe," and "the women are beautiful and dance sublimely; the Exposition is wonderful, the wonder of all," are typical expressions.

COLLAPSES ON BEACH; DIES.

Edward Meyers, 70 years old, a retired merchant living at the Hotel Windemere, 1642 East 56th street, collapsed and died of heart disease yesterday on the 57th street beach, where he had gone for a swim.

CATTLE THIEVES USING TRUCKS; RANCHERS ANGRY

San Francisco, Cal., July 30.—(AP)—Cattle rustlers again are riding the ranges of the west, but today they are using motor trucks. Ranch owners are at their wits end to stop them.

Today in the Pend Oreille district of Washington stock growers posted rewards of $100 for information leading to conviction of a cattle rustler and organized to fight a "crime wave."

These days the rustlers do not herd the cattle in hilly retreats to change the brands, while armed vigilantes, mounted, hunt them to hang the robbers with lariats. The rustlers motor to the ranges at night, load one or more steers on their machine and flee. Stockmen said the animals sometimes were killed and the meat sold to butchers. In Utah, Idaho, and eastern Oregon the rustlers are periodically active.

● ABOVE—FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY a man has flown around the world alone! Sleepless ...hungry...ignoring the perils of fog and ice...storms and forced landings...Wiley Post won the admiration of the whole world with his courage, his skill, and his marvelous physical endurance in flying around the world in 7 days, 18 hours, 49½ minutes. Here he is shown as he landed at Floyd Bennett Field.

● LEFT—"I CAN'T SPEAK as a record-breaking flyer. I'm a young married woman, and my home and club work keep me going every minute. Add to that the fact that I am naturally inclined to be the nervous type. I didn't start with Camels, but later switched to them because I found they are milder and have a delightful flavor. I smoke only Camels now because I have discovered that they allow me to smoke all I want—without upsetting my nerves."

How are Your Nerves?

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

In an exclusive interview WILEY POST says: "Circling the globe alone in the Winnie Mae was the toughest ordeal I've ever been through! A round-the-world flyer has to be in shape to stand the extremes of physical exhaustion. He has to be ready for any weather, any emergency. His job calls for nerves in perfect condition. Smoking Camels as I have for so long, I never worry about healthy nerves—and I'm a constant smoker, too. Everybody knows that Camels are made from more expensive tobaccos, and you can certainly tell it in the mildness and good taste of Camels, and the fact that Camels never jangle the nerves!"

* * *

Thousands of smokers have switched to Camels and found that they are better for steady smoking. Your nerves and your taste will confirm this. Begin today with Camels. Know that you are smoking a milder cigarette...and that steady smoking does not interfere with healthy nerves!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Leaf tobaccos for cigarettes can be bought from 5¢ a pound to $1.00...but Camel pays the millions more that insure your enjoyment.

JEWISH FIRMS IN GERMANY HIT BY NEW BOYCOTT

Bar Them from Getting State Business.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 30.—Firms with Jewish or foreign capital are being barred when public offices place orders in Germany, it was revealed today by the Frankfurter Zeitung. The newspaper emphasizes that such discrimination is being carried on against the orders of Chancellor Hitler's government.

In directions to officials which were issued July 14 the government forbade discrimination against firms with foreign capital. "All snooping" should be avoided, the cabinet ordered. Nevertheless, public offices, including those of the national railways, are discriminating against firms which are part Jewish or possess part foreign capital, according to the Frankfurt paper.

Jews Refused Funds.

It states that Jewish home owners are being refused funds provided by the government for improving buildings. It reports that Jewish firms or businesses with foreign capital are requested by chamber of commerce to provide certificates concerning the "race" of owners trying to do business with public offices.

The Frankfurter paper quotes a letter to a Berlin firm which requested it to produce a racial certificate though it had been selling goods to public offices since the nineties. Only 30 per cent of the holdings of the firm are in the hands of the family of the Jewish founder. The rest is in the possession of German gentiles. The firm is unable to do business because the chamber of commerce has refused to issue the certificate demanded. The newspaper points out that the government itself deemed such certificates to be unnecessary.

The government's directions provided that when a public office placed an order it should give preference to a firm controlled by gentiles when the offers are identical. Further discrimination against German Jews also is predicted in laws regulating citizenship now being prepared, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung. It is stated that no special treatment of "national minorities" is planned.

To Aid War Veterans.

"The German nation is determined to recognize its moral and material obligations to the heroic victims of the world war," 100,000 wounded veterans, widows, and orphans of fallen soldiers were told at a meeting at Dortmund today.

Hans Oberlindober, president of the National Association for the Care of War Victims, announced that victims of the war will be the first citizens of the new state. Each war victim has a right to claim a piece of land, Oberlindober said. He also promised them better medical treatment. Chancellor Hitler, he said, will be requested to decree that only firms employing above the average number of war wounded shall be given public contracts.

The climax of the national gymnastic festival at Stuttgart, in which 150,000 gymnasts participated, was addressed by Hitler today.

LONDON PAPER DESCRIBES NAZI ATTACK ON JEW

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 30. — The London Times will print tomorrow the following dispatch from Munich:

"Further details are now available of the wholesale action taken by the Nazis against the Jews in Nüremberg ten days ago. It appears that on the ground of a secret meeting of Jews which they alleged had been held in a synagogue about 300 Jews, chiefly shopkeepers, but including several lawyers and doctors, were arrested after a search of their homes.

"They were made to march in a procession through the streets, flanked on either side by storm troopers and treated with derision and brutality. Old men who were unable to walk quickly enough were urged on with kicks. They were finally interned in a large police barracks.

"The greater part has now been released, but several of those belonging to the professional classes are still in confinement and have been made to perform degrading labor and suffer various humiliations. In several cases during the raids sums of money and property of individual Jews were seized by the Nazis."

WELLES PROBES POLICE BRUTALITY CHARGE IN CUBA

Protests Force U. S. Envoy to Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 30.—Overwhelmed by a mounting stream of protests from oppositionists against alleged police brutality in suppressing riots of unpaid teachers, American Ambassador Sumner Welles today began a personal investigation of charges of government violence.

Some oppositionists went so far as to threaten to call off their participation in mediation negotiations with President Machado's government.

Two Teachers Killed.

An official checkup disclosed that two women school teachers were killed and 41 men and women wounded at Santa Clara and Santiago in clashes yesterday. Two students are missing, and 12 others were found wounded after police clashed with students here yesterday. Mr. Welles promised parents of 12 arrested students that he will seek their release. Lieut. Col. T. N. Gimperling, American military attache, who has been visiting army bases throughout Cuba, today informed Mr. Welles that he recommends reducing Cuba's army from 18,000 to 3,000 officers and men. He said he considered that number sufficient to deal with all contingencies. The military attache added that Cuban soldiers get more pay than American soldiers and that the Cuban army possesses more equipment in proportion.

Several clashes occurred today between omnibus and taxicab drivers with strikebreakers in Havana and its suburbs. Police dispersed the strikers. Street cleaners were kept busy sweeping up large quantities of tacks and broken glass spread by the strikers, who number 3,000.

Soldiers Fire on Strikers.

Soldiers and strikers clashed late this afternoon at San Jose la Catalina, 12 miles south of Havana. Twelve persons were wounded as soldiers scattered the rioters with bayonets and rifle shots.

The strikers marched through the town shouting "Down with Machado!" "Hurrah for Welles!" The clash followed. The strikers hurled stones and used blackjacks and knives in the fight. Many rioters are arrested and brought to jail here tonight.

TAXPAYERS FIGHT NEW AQUEDUCT FOR LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., July 30.—[Special.]—Charges filed by the Los Angeles chapter of the Southern California Taxpayers' association that Colorado river water contains flourine, a poisonous substance, and that it would be a waste to go ahead with construction of the 250 mile aqueduct with borrowed federal funds, has been ordered investigated by the state board of health.

Dr. John H. Graves, presiding officer of the board, has decided to ask representatives of the United States public health service and the United States department of agriculture to make exhaustive and impartial tests. The commission will be appointed tomorrow, Dr. Graves said. Flourine is known to rot and blacken the teeth, especially of children, chemists say.

The question of the presence of flourine in Colorado river water has been the subject of investigation of engineers and chemists employed by the metropolitan water district for a time. If discovered in the river water in an appreciable proportion the development might go a long way toward stopping work on the $250,000,000 aqueduct building project, members of the taxpayers' league stated today. Forty million dollars of government money has already been allotted to Los Angeles and its sister cities to push the construction which is now under investigation.

Boys Riding Bicycle Hit, Killed by an Automobile

Hillsboro, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Two boys died after their bicycle was struck by an auto on Saturday. The boys were Herbert Leo Siegle, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Siegle of Raymond, and his cousin, Ralph Adcock Jr., 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adcock Sr. of Macon. The auto was driven by Fred Lyerla of Hillsboro.

Citizens of Mexican Town Hang Bandit; Shoot Two

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—(AP)—Reports reaching here from Purificacion, state of Jalisco, said citizens of the town, indignant at the depredations of a bandit gang, captured and hanged one of them, shot and killed another, and wounded a third. Two others escaped.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE NEW AMERICAN EXPERIMENT.

A recent debate in the house of commons contained several interesting references to the American administrative policies now in effect. One of the speakers was Mr. Lloyd George, who said: "There are three experiments now proceeding, on the success or failure of which the whole outlook of the world depends—the Russian, Italian, and American. The American is the most important."

Here in the United States almost the whole federal government program is regarded as strictly and precisely an emergency plan. It is so described in Mr. Roosevelt's utterances. It is also so defined in most of the legislation authorizing it and its advocates seldom refer to it except as the product of national emergency, definitely dated as to its future operations. The people themselves think of the recovery program as defense against an extraordinary attack which economic forces have made upon the national security. In other words, this is war and these are war measures.

Evidently another view prevails abroad. Mr. Lloyd George would not link the American experiment with the Russian and Italian, nor would he regard it as the most important of the three unless in foreign opinion the United States had taken a definite trend along which it was to go in the future. Measures to be adopted temporarily and abandoned for older methods would not be regarded as constituting the world's most important experiment in a new governmental, economic and social order.

Which view, then, is correct? Are Americans mistaken when they think of the new deal as new only for a few years of national danger, or are the Europeans right when they think that the United States has submitted to a fundamental makeover from which it will not recede, but with which it will continue to develop its future doctrines and ideas? The answer to that question, if it could be perceived, would be truly momentous. Are we deceived or are the Europeans? Or in measure are both opinions right and wrong?

One thing is certain. The democratic processes have as yet in the United States been little tried by the demands of the new policy. That is, the election of last year did not contain these questions. If there were premonitions of them, they were most vague. The N. R. A., for instance, was in no voter's mind. Old doctrines still prevailed when the voters went to the polls. The subsequent grants of authority necessary to the new program were made willingly by congress. There may have been a compulsion of fear or even panic, but as of record congress freely gave the new powers to the government. The multitude of questions and issues which the new powers inevitably raise have never gone into a popular election. The people have never had to pass upon issues so disturbed by compelling interests and diversified considerations, so it is impossible to know now how the democratic structure would carry such programs when thrown into political action.

Abroad the answer has been anticipated. The Russian, the Italian, and then the German order quickly dispensed with everything it found embarrassing to it in representative government and popular suffrage. In each case the answer was given by the men at the top without exposing themselves to the uncertainty of experimenting and discovering whether the people and they could work together.

If the American conception of extraordinary powers exercised in extraordinary emergency be correct, Mr. Lloyd George hasn't got his most important of all social experiments. If Mr. Lloyd George perceives the future clearer than we do, then we don't know what we've got. Nobody can tell him and nobody can tell us.

THE QUEEN'S CARPET.

The city of Southampton, England, now takes off the sackcloth and may sweep up the ashes. The years of its humiliation are ended and the British subjects who are its citizens may look other subjects in the eye as men to men. John Steele told of the removal of the badge of shame in his story of the dedication of the great dry dock, the biggest in the world, into which a 100,000 ton liner may float. King George opened the dock and Queen Mary christened the imprisoned stretch of water. It was the first appearance of an occupant of the throne in fifty years of Southampton history.

The port has been shunned ever since an incident in the life of Queen Victoria when she arrived by sea from Cowes and landed upon a plush carpet which, unfortunately for the peace of mind of the town, she admired. That a premonition should have warned the grateful city fathers may be granted, although they were influenced only by pious fealty. How could they have known that what they intended as an expression of gratitude and loyalty would be taken by the good queen as a presumptuous act? They rolled the carpet up and sent it to her as a keepsake.

The presentation was regarded as a thing of bad manners and Victoria withdrew her favor from the city. Her countenance was turned from it and it slid into the valley of humiliation. Her displeasure survived her death and continued in the royal fashion. Southampton did not exist for the house of Windsor, until now, when it becomes measurably restored in repute as a loyal city and the carpet is forgiven if not forgotten.

In the succession to the throne house may succeed house, but the Norman conquest goes on forever.

ALL OUT OF STEP BUT JOCK.

After a series of proceedinges lasting over a period of nearly six years, the interstate commerce commission has decided that all industrial switching rates within the Chicago area should be advanced. The original proceeding was launched by the federal body on its own motion, with the preconceived idea that the rates were not earning the carriers adequate revenue. The usual record with its exhibits, cost studies, and testimony was developed at a series of hearings, but this information was of little value to the commission in arriving at its final decision after four or five years of constantly changing conditions.

The original decision of the interstate commerce commission permitted an advance in the charges for interstate movements. The Illinois and Indiana commissions, however, on the same record, reached the conclusion that the existing basis was adequate. As a result there have been two sets of switching rates in the Chicago area for a period of three years. Now the federal body has decided that lower intrastate rates discriminate against interstate traffic, which discrimination they propose to remove by raising all rates t the interstate level despite the fact that intrastate business comprises 60 per cent of the total.

The commission's discussion of the plea of the City of Chicago that any increase in industrial switching rates would result in the diversion of a substantial volume of this traffic to our already overloaded streets is particularly interesting. The regulatory body admitted that increased trucking would result, but in its decisions gave priority to carriers' revenue despite the fact that public interest is dominant under the letter of the law.

It is to be hoped that the case will be carried to the courts by the state commissions, as it would be difficult to imagine a more flagrant instance of bureaucratic tyranny. The state commissions thoroughly investigated the matter on the ground, taking the railway cost studies for no more than they were worth. The federal body obtained all its information in a second hand manner from an examiner.

ANOTHER SPANISH INCIDENT.

An Associated Press dispatch from Barcelona reports the manhandling by local police of a young couple from Philadelphia, touring in Spain. The American consul general, Mr. Dawson, is said to have made energetic protest to the authorities and we hope it will have more prompt results than the representations made in the Mallorca case. If it meets with the same delay and indifference it will be chargeable to the ineffectiveness of American diplomacy in that case and to an impression which seems rather general, that American citizens can be mistreated with impunity.

Whatever the faults of the Americans involved in the Mallorca incident, there seems no reasonable excuse for the mistreatment of the young tourists in Barcelona, and Americans who are planning trips abroad might do well to consider whether there is an attitude toward them in Spain or in Spanish authority which makes a visit to that country desirable. There is much that is attractive in Spanish character and the romantic Spanish scene, and there is no disposition to unfriendliness, but quite the contrary, in American sentiment toward the Spanish people. But, without exaggerating these two unpleasant incidents, it is obviously wise not to ignore such significance as they may have for Americans intending to visit Spain. They must regard not only their own personal safety from affront but the possibility of creating official embarrassments which, accumulating, may seriously affect the relations that ought to prevail between two governments presumably in amity.

THE MARCH OF COLOR.

There are now 251 newspapers in this country which are equipped to publish color pages in their news sections. There are sixty-five newspapers which circulate rotogravure sections, and many of them, likewise, are equipped for color rotogravure. THE TRIBUNE was a pioneer in all of these fields and it is a matter of great satisfaction to observe how important a section of the American press shares this newspaper's judgment of the attractiveness and value of color to both the reader and the advertiser.

Here is an evidence of the steady advance of one American industry in the face of depression. The use of color in newspapers means additional employment of skilled workmen in printing plants and paper mills. It offers more effective advertising presentations and therefore a larger distribution of goods. It is through improvements such as these that the depression can be conquered.

Editorial of the Day

SPREADING GOOD CHEER.

[Rochester, N. Y., Democrat-Chronicle.]

Chicago's audacity in attempting to launch a Fair of impressive proportions in defiance of the depression and in the face of the precarious financial condition of the city itself was looked upon as a dubious experiment by many outside observers. The result is justifying the confidence of Chicagoans in their ability to create an exposition that people would come afar to view, and their faith that, in spite of adverse conditions, people somehow would find means to get there.

The Fair is proving a boon to Chicago in the way of putting money into circulation and assisting in the recovery of business. It is having another beneficial effect, one that probably was not foreseen in advance by anybody. It is proving of incalculable benefit in driving away gloom and despondency. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says: "The Chicago Fair has observably made this a holiday city. The streets are noticeably festive in appearance, animated and cheerful. The prevailing summer apparel is bright and colorful. Even the men have ceased to be quite as drab as has been their doleful habit. The crowds on the sidewalks and in the traffic lanes are in apparent good humor, expectant of having a good time, and are merrymaking. Result: A city of good cheer."

These benefits are intangible. They cannot be expressed in terms of dollars and cents. None the less, they are priceless. Chicago is fortunate in having had the grit and enterprise to go ahead with the Fair, despite all discouragements, and in reaping so rich a reward. We suspect there is a moral here for other cities which have succumbed to the pressure of adverse circumstances, but we leave it to the keen witted reader to make the necessary application.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"15 YEAR OLD Whisky Supply in U. S. A. Will Be Exhausted by Sept. 1."—Headline. Oh, well, that's nothing to worry about. During the 18th amendment era folks got so used to fifteen day whisky, or even to whisky made in fifteen minutes, that they wouldn't be able to recognize the fifteen year old kind anyhow. A friend of mine gave me a genuine bottle of fifteen year old Kentucky bourbon that he had had buried deep in his cellar from the day it was born. I poured out three fingers of this marvelous nectar and presented it to another friend. He gulped it down, made a face as though he had swallowed lye and ground glass, and yelled: "Fevvens sake! Gimme a slug of gin, quick! That stuff was something awful." What's the use! A generation raised on gin, white mule, and hootch won't be able to appreciate good whisky for years and years.

And she stands out like a steeple,
And she loves us common people;
Our little Nira (toodle-oodle-oodle-oo),
And we'd rather lose our shirt

"ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES" is the title of a new English book. Not necessarily; only in case he comes barging through the red light when I am proceeding according to law and order on the green. Or if he doesn't bring back the pet book he borrowed; or if he grabs me by the buttonhole when I'm trying to get the ice cream home before it melts and tells me what a cute thing Junior said this morning; or if he explains in full just how the industrial recovery act is going to affect crossword puzzle workers.

AND JUST ONE MINUTE, please, for station announcements. Tomorrow the conductor of this column of calumny will be cruising around in the family bus in dear old Canada, and his very good friend, Mr. Harvey Help Help Woodruff, custodian of the In the Wake of the News, will guide the destinies of the Line in the w. k. interim. Here comes Harvey right now. He is hurriedly pushing sport news into his inside pocket and tearing up tickets to ball games, polo games, and tennis matches. Now he is saying a touching farewell to his golf clubs. It's a pathetic spectacle. Now he is taking off his coat and unbuttoning his collar and reaching for the typewriter. Clickety-click-click—do you hear him? He's off! Good luck, Harvey and everybody, and when we get to the end of this column we'll say good-by.

LXVIII.

Now we are three who once were one and one,
Sullen and wary, with our voices brittle
As reeds crackling below the winter sun,
And youth going away, little by little,
And love flinching at what's behind our eyes,
And time stepping it, heel and toe, nor turning
Like folly's feathers drifted to the burning.

The path that we take now can have no end:
And I, for one, am sick of all this palter,
And I, who cannot have you for a friend
And will not for a lover, shall not falter
To let your life if this night finds you here.
Forgive our happiness and go, my dear.

NANCY SHORES.

"I HAVE a very simple plan," writes Koodle Koo, "to protect people from such unpleasant happenings as have been reported lately from roadhouses here and there. No, I do not suggest the placing of traps which when they are stepped on by bandits will shoot off a dozen skyrockets and Roman candles calling the countryside to up and to arms. Nor do I suggest tear gas bombs being placed on the ceiling, the bombs dropping when somebody below presses a button. Nor need the marines or the regular army be hidden in ambush, nor need dynamite be placed in the cellar to be fired when the bandits set foot on the doorsill. These are all good ideas, but my plan is much better. To avoid being annoyed by rude bandits at a roadhouse and made to roll on the floor, on which there is sometimes dust, to say nothing of an occasional chicken gizzard or wishbone or half of a hot dog sandwich, why not stay home and spend the evening playing with Junior and little Laura and listening to the radio? I know this is a most revolutionary suggestion, but why not try it?" It's a grand idea, Koodle Koo; if you stay home the bandits do not make you lie down on the floor while they rob the place. But they put adhesive tape on the opening parts of your face, and they chuck you down in the cellar and pile coal on you, which, while it contains no chicken bones or remnants of hot dog sandwiches, is quite dusty. No, Koodle Koo, your plan is all wet. We would rather go to a dinner dance at the roadhouse than stay home and be adhesive-taped and chucked down in the cellar under the coal.

PRE-OPERATIVE PROCEDURES.

A PERSON who is to have an operation about which there is no urgency can do something to improve his chances of recovery from the procedure. Not many years ago it was the plan to send a man to the hospital several days in advance and to have him undergo preparation during this period. He was thoroughly purged, his stomach was washed out, and he was given very little food for about three days. For this plan there was much justification. It lessened materially several possibilities of accident. On the other hand there was so much to be said against it that less preparation is now given.

One of the after effects of operation that should be watched for is acidosis. The old method of preparation was very liable to result in hunger acidosis. Our bodies are usually rather overloaded with the elements of nutrition, and this is a potential source of danger after operation. The old method of preparation got rid of this excess, but it went too far and drew down too much of the stored glycogen and some other stored elements. A less rigorous plan is now followed.

Operation on an alcoholic is always hazardous. Not infrequently it will cause delirium tremens to develop. If a surgeon is called upon to operate on a drunk he may give him one drink to pull him through the operation, or he may decide to give him more. The decision is a delicate one and is based on what he learns about the case. A safer plan is to hold the patient in the hospital awaiting peration while he is being freed from alcohol and getting away from delirium tremens. A person who has been using alcohol is often given sugar as a means of improving his chance of survival.

Persons who use large quantities of tobacco are poor risks. To reduce the amount of tobacco used daily to a reasonable quantity is a proper measure of protection.

Those who use morphine are bad risks and those who use cocaine are even worse. When a drug addict must be operated on it is well to spend a few days in getting the subject in good drug balance. This generally means reducing the dose of drug, since addicts generally use about twice as much drug as their cell hunger demands. Care should be exercised in giving barbaturics to opium addicts and vice versa.

Goiter sufferers need to spend some days quietly in bed in preparation for an operation. Some of them need to take iodide as a preparation procedure.

As a rule diabetics stand operation poorly. Many of them can be put in better shape for operation by the use of insulin for a few days. On the other hand some improve their chances of recovery by eating an increased amount of cereal, bread, or sugar for a day or two. It is for the surgeon to decide which policy suits each case. One of the hazards of operation in diabetes more than in general patients is acidosis. This is to be guarded against.

It is hazardous to operate on a person who has an acute bronchitis or an acute cold. Time must be given for these to subside. Operations are more hazardous in the late winter and early spring because of the prevalence of these infections. If a jaundiced person is to be operated on the danger of bleeding is to be anticipated. It can sometimes be avoided by the use of ovarian preparations or of blood serum and by other procedures.

Persons who are anemic have their chances improved if they are given a little time to store some iron or to take a few days' supply of ferments and juices that build blood. Heart cases should be prepared by establishing compensation and quieting the nervous mechanism of the heart.

CORNS AND CALLUSES.

Mrs. L. E. T. writes: For years I have been annoyed by corns and calluses, the only treatment being the use of the razor. About six months ago, after using the razor, I rubbed a preparation of phenol, ichthyol, and alum in petrolatum on the sore spots. Now, after my bath, I continue this treatment and corns and calluses have disappeared.

FIND THE CAUSE.

Mrs. D. L. writes: I have been bothered lately with welts appearing on my face and neck. They are like small mosquito bites and are itchy. I was afraid they might be from bedbugs, but no one else is bothered and I can't find a trace of a bug in the house.

Could you suggest a remedy?

REPLY.

It is up to you to find the cause and avoid it. No treatment is required. Have you exhausted the bite possibilities? How about dyed neckpieces? What else do you expose your neck to?

SOME INCURABLE.

L. K. writes: Is chronic fibrous pulmonary tuberculosis incurable?

REPLY.

Some cases are. Many are not. I have known some incurable cases to lead very efficient lives in the dry sections of the west for twenty to sixty years. If a man can live to be, say, 85 years old, doing a man's work, all in spite of his disease, he has no great ground for complaint.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 31, 1917.

LONDON.—Arthur J. Balfour, foreign minister, last night informed Germany of the course she must pursue to restore peace to the world and replace herself in the circle of the family of friendly nations of the world. He was delivering an address in the house of commons. "Germany must work out her salvation," Mr. Balfour said. "You do not mend matters by imposing a constitution even if you have the power. Nations must make their scheme of liberty for themselves according to their own ideas and based on their history, character, and hopes."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Information concerning food costs in Germany shows that many edibles, particularly those containing fats, are selling at almost prohibitive prices. Fat for frying is bringing more than $4 a pound. Goose fat is sold at $5.36 a pound. Fowls generally are high. Fresh fowls bring $1.01 a pound, larded goose breast $2.09, salt goose legs 94 cents, young country laying hens $3.32 each, and well fed geese $11 and $19 each. The egg ration at Hamburg for one week was one egg for each person. Horses are in great demand for food and horse flesh sells at 53 to 86 cents a pound. Rabbits are sold at $2 each. Cheese is quoted at 36 to 82 cents a pound.

WAR SUMMARY.—Rumanians capture six villages in advance between Casin and Putna valleys. Germans penetrate Russian territory east of Abrocz. Berlin reports lessening of enemy's artillery activity on western front.

CHICAGO.—A dispatch to THE TRIBUNE last night announces that the attorney general has information that thousands of young men of conscription age throughout the country had failed to register and that these were to be hunted out and forced to register. In many cases these men will be prosecuted. It is said Chicago contains a large number of these slackers.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Are all the exhibits open on Sunday? Is there a place where articles may be checked for the day?

ANSWER—Everything is open Sunday. There are bonded checkers located all over the grounds. Any information booth attendant will direct you to the nearest.

QUESTION—Can a person get a return check which will admit him to the grounds after leaving?

ANSWER—No.

QUESTION—1. What is the floor of the Glass House made of? 2. How do large ships like Byrd's ship get into the lagoon?

ANSWER—1. Living room floor is walnut blocks. Other floors are Goodyear rubber tile. 2. The 23d street bridge can be opened.

UNCLE SAM AS EMPLOYER.

Chicago, July 28.—It was with pleasure that I read in THE TRIBUNE that the flag of the national recovery act is to be flown over so many buildings in this fair city.

The one thing that is puzzling me is where are we, who are to patronize only those business and industrial establishments which display the emblem of the N. R. A., to buy our postage stamps, and who will we use for carriers of our mail?

To date I have seen no mention of the postoffices raising wages or shortening hours to create employment and increase buying power, although it is in the postoffices that the honor roll of patriotic employers is to be posted.

I think that it is the government's place to tell industry how to repair its machinery, but also believe that the government should set an example. I am heartily in accord with the administration's plan, and believe that it will succeed provided all employers will act in unison, excepting none, not even the government itself, which is the employer of, I think, more workers than any other industry.

FORGOTTEN EMPLOYE'S BITTER HALF.

POLICEMEN'S UNIFORMS.

Chicago, July 27.—Some time ago we all got together in our office and made a complaint regarding the city police wearing coats during this extreme hot weather. We noticed that for a while they were granted this privilege, but upon arriving in the loop this morning we see they all have their coats on again. Motormen and Lincoln Park police don't wear their coats, so will you please explain why these poor city men must stand on these corners in the sun, which in itself is no cinch, without being burdened with a very heavy coat? To my way of thinking this is cruel and something should be done about it.

MARIE ABRAMS.

AN OPPONENT OF THE NEW DEAL.

Chicago, July 27.—The influential newspapers of the country that have aided President Roosevelt in his senseless "experiment," through which everything that has been built up during two centuries by the political organizations and by the people as free individuals is being destroyed, are guilty of a crime for which they can never atone. He is producing a condition that will be unbearable. Intelligent analysis will convince you that his policies can not improve conditions, but instead are destructive of our social, economic, and political order. The remaining loyal press should organize and demand his return to the constitutional American ideals or they should fight to defeat his purposes by warning the people against him.

GEORGE HENNING.

WHEN PROFESSORS ERR.

Glencoe, Ill., July 28.—The current number of the University of Chicago Magazine contains an address by Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university. The address is entitled, "The Professor Is Sometimes Right," and by its contents one may judge that it was delivered for the edification of his associates and that the title, "The Professor Is Generally Right," would have been a more accurate and descriptive title. What has just been said it is thought necessary to say to prevent misunderstanding, because the quotation from President Hutchins' address that I am about to introduce does not indicate the general tenor of his remarks. After general laudation of his fellow workers President Hutchins said:

> The professor is not always right about education, because there he has vested interests, personal ambitions, and ancient habits, all of which he wishes consciously or otherwise to protect. Every great change in American education has been secured over the dead bodies of countless professors. In education the professor is a practical man. Education needs nothing so much as to have a group of experts studying it who are not parts of the system, and who will examine it with the same cold and penetrating glance that the professor directs at the world about him. Finally, the professor loses his potential rightness if and when he becomes a business man. He may be a good business man, but he abandons pro tanto the detachment and the love of truth which assist him to be right in his professorial capacity. In other words, the professor is sometimes right as long as he remains a professor. To the extent to which he becomes something else he must become less frequently right.

What President Hutchins said in this quotation is so clearly true that it would be thought that he and his associates would stay clear of the current discussion we have regarding the financing of our public schools. Perhaps, however, his intrusion into the field where he confesses that he and his associates are least competent to speak in a disinterested way merely shows that he has the common human weaknesses.

ANDORRA'S YOUNG MEN TAKE CHARGE OF GOVERNMENT

Defy Encroachment of Both France and Spain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANDORRA, July 30.—The 5,000 inhabitants of this diminutive mountain state, perched high in the Pyrenees between France and Spain, today won universal suffrage and have set up a new provisional government by a bloodless revolt. The revolutionary government took an oath to support a new constitution.

A stampede of mules was the only dangerous incident in today's revolt. From early dawn yesterday, on foot and on mules, Andorrans poured into town. Today the constituent council took possession of the capitol, protected by all the citizenry of the republic. The council further decided that new elections will be held and that they will remain in office until then. Every man over 25 will be able to vote.

This completes the sudden, but peaceful revolutionary rising of last April in which the younger Andorrans overthrew the centuries old patriarchal system in which only the heads of families could vote. The entire country is now arrayed not against its old men, but against its co-princes, the bishop of Urgel in Spain and the president of France, who is represented by the prefect of Perpignan.

Smuggling Chief Industry.

Thus the world unrest has spread to all three of its tiniest countries: Monaco, which has been in revolution for some years; San Marino in Italy, where a coup d'etat has been threatened, and now Andorra, whose history goes back 1,000 years. Andorra, 17 miles one way and 18 another, with an area of 191 square miles, has but six villages. Formerly the natives were ruled by a council of 24 members elected for four year terms. The principal industry is smuggling—sometimes the same articles are carried into Spain, then back into France.

What precipitated events was a decree of June 24 by the Andorran criminal tribunal called the corts, composed of foreigners appointed by the co-princes, dissolving the council, relieving the syndic [president] from office for a year, imposing a number of fines on Andorran "patriots," and banishing from the country the council general delegate for Spain.

The corts took this drastic step on the grounds that the council had disobeyed orders from the co-princes. It had refused to allow the bishop to meddle in the public schools, thus taking a cue from the neighboring Spanish republic which did exactly the same thing. The council also refused to put the police and military, such as they are, under the orders of a French agent.

There has been another cause for disagreement, which many consider the real reason for the dissolution of the council. This body listened to promoters from Paris, who painted a picture of freedom from taxes, and granted a concession to build a fine resort with a casino and free-for-all gambling. France did not relish the idea of a new Monte Carlo on which they could collect nothing, and forbade it.

Diverts Stamp Revenue.

Andorrans see France's insistence on controlling their police as the first step towards gobbling them up entirely—at least it would kill their smuggling. Andorrans are inclined to believe that France really covets the valley's natural resources. France controls the new highway through to Spain, making accessible Andorra's water power, its iron deposits, and its timber.

France has gradually been moving in on Andorra. French schools established half a century ago, function alongside of the schools maintained by the country. The only telegraph line is hers. A few years ago a French postal system was established in Andorra over the protests of the people who saw the small fortune that accrues from the sale of Andorran stamps to collectors diverted from their own into the French treasury. All that Andorra has left is her telephone system.

The row with the bishop of Urgel is more acrimonious. The relations with this dignitary have been so strained that at Christmas time the Andorrans flatly, and the bishop says insultingly, refused to send him their annual tribute of six hams, 12 chickens, and 24 goat milk cheeses. The failure of this shipment really upset the bishop's kitchen, and he has returned unopened all correspondence from the Andorran council.

Andorrans are aware that they cannot now physically defend their country as they did through the centuries. But the most devout of them like to think that, though their strong right arms and their mountain fastnesses are no longer to be depended upon in a struggle, their patron, the Virgin of Meritxell is.

IRELAND ORDERS DE VALERA FOES TO GIVE UP GUNS

Former Cabinet Member Defies Command.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 30.—Ominous symptoms of government action regarding Gen. Owen O'Duffy's new Irish National Guard, successor to the Army Comrades' association, developed today. Several leading members of the guard, an organization opposed politically to President De Valera, were approached by detectives and requested to surrender their revolvers, for which they held permits.

Ernest Blythe, former minister of finance, was asked for his revolver, but refused to deliver it. He remarked that until recently the government thought it necessary for his safety to surround him with an armed military guard. He said the guard frequently carried a machine gun.

Gun Permit Revoked.

Blythe added that the guard has been removed and he considered he had a right to retain the gun for self-protection. Blythe subsequently was served with notice that the permit was revoked. The next step probably will be to place him under arrest for carrying arms without permission.

Similar action was taken regarding Gerald O'Sullivan, well known lawyer and member of the dail eireann. He also is prominent in the National Guard. He refused to surrender his gun and received notice that his permit was cancelled.

Reports from the country indicate similar activity. Many guns which were held by members of the National Guard were handed to detectives on request.

Republican Army Incensed.

No information is available in official quarters regarding these activities. It is expected that Gen. O'Duffy, who was formerly head of the Free State police until he was removed in February, will issue a statement later. It is reported that Irish Republican army leaders are secretly considering the situation.

32 Nations Send Delegates to Esperanto Congress

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

COLOGNE, July 30.—Flanked by the flags of 32 nations, 1,000 delegates to the twenty-fifth international Esperanto congress met in the Guerzenich, Cologne's picturesque auditorium, today. Welcoming addresses were made by International Esperantists and city officials.

WOMAN SEVERLY BURNED.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—[Special.]—Miss Betty Pratt, 38, of 3807 West Sarnow street, suffered severe burns today while dyeing a dress at her home. The hot mixture boiled over, and she was showered with it. She was treated at County Emergency hospital.

A Pageant of Old Peking Opens Today

That's the name of the new room we're opening today to house our Chinese Artwares. Under one magnificent roof you will see breathtaking displays of old jades, fine porcelains and bronzes, embroideries, palace hangings, paintings, ivories, teakwood carvings, glass and tomb pieces. A colorful spectacle in itself, but the more so because our salespeople will be in Chinese costumes. And there will be a unique cash pagoda, where inspectors, also in costume, will wrap parcels in Chinese paper, with a piece of old Chinese cash attached.

Important Collection of Jade Just Arrived

Part of it is tomb jade, dating from approximately 3000 years ago. The rest is a carefully chosen collection. All of it has artistic value and each piece is accompanied by a ticket of explanation.

You'll be surprised at the prices . . . there are hundreds of pieces that range from $1 to $15.75.

Amulets, cicadas (many of which are stained with vermilion), ancient measuring rules (only two), suspension ornaments, hair ornaments, bronze pieces encrusted with earth and green patination—probably from the Han dynasty, jade beads for mandarin strings, scabbard ornaments and figures.

$3.75

Jade bangles, snuff bottles, fabulous animals of ancient Manchurian jade, pi, statuettes of jadeite, ancient tablets, tsun, elaborately carved girdle ornaments, ceremonial rings, archer rings, nephrite animals, suspension ornaments and seals.

Others $7.75 and Up

Representative Chinese merchants will be our guests today.

Mr. Robert T. K. Kah, Chinese Consul in Chicago, will be here from 3 to 4:30.

FOUR INJURED IN CRASH LAID TO FLIRTATION

Justice of the Peace Anthony Heintz and three members of his family were injured yesterday when an automobile left the highway and crashed into them as they were sitting in front of their home at 13844 South Western avenue, Blue Island. The automobile contained four out of town girls. They were shaken up. Police said the accident was caused by an attempted highway flirtation on the part of several youths in another car.

The injured were all taken to St. Francis hospital in Blue Island. Justice Heintz, who is 56 years old, is suffering from a broken leg and arm and Mrs. Heintz, who is 54, has hip and leg injuries. The two daughters, Harriet, 26, and Eleanor, 14, were also severely injured.

Michigan Girls in Other Car.

The girls in the car were Miss Dolores Wierby, 19, of Hartford, Conn., the driver; Miss Virginia Gorst, 18, and Miss Louise Collins, 19, both of Marquette, Mich., and Miss Gertrude Ruhlig, 20, Bay City, Mich. The car they were in is owned by Mary M. Wilkes, 4141 O avenue, Philadelphia, a World's Fair visitor.

The girls were driving south, en route to Kankakee, and were about 200 feet from the Heintz home when a northbound car containing three or four young men approached. The men waved their hands at the girls. The driver in waving lost control of his car and the car sideswiped that of the girls. The collision sent the girls' automobile off the road and upon the sidewalk, squarely into the Heintz family group.

Three Hurt in Niles Center.

Three persons were hurt yesterday when two automobiles collided and overturned at Cicero and Simpson avenues, Niles Center. They were J. B. McGuire, 6320 Winthrop avenue, his wife, Clara, and Arthur Bartlett, 369 Bloom street, Highland Park. Mrs. McGuire suffered a fracture of the skull and her condition is regarded as critical. She, her husband and Bartlett were taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston. McGuire and his wife were in one car and Bartlett in the other.

Miss Annabelle Feinberg, 21 years old, 7938 Bennett avenue, a clerk, died early yesterday in Jackson Park hospital of injuries received on July 23 when she drove her automobile into a 79th street surface car at Paxton avenue.

Joseph Janke, 42 years old, 7041 Addison street, a plumber, was fatally injured by an auto in front of his home last night. The driver was Walter Wigert, 28, of 3713 Sheffield avenue.

Funeral Rites Tomorrow for Charles E. Finkl

Funeral services for Charles E. Finkl, general manager of A. Finkl & Sons Forge works, will be held at 2:30 tomorrow at the home of his brother, Fred, at 1508 Norwood avenue. Burial will be in Montrose cemetery. Mr. Finkl, 59 years old, died Saturday of appendicitis. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; a son, William; his father, Anton, and two brothers, Fred and Frank.

ELEPHANT GIVES MERRYMAKERS A STIFF SHAKING

Yesterday, local newspapers report, he became annoyed with the antics of several persons seated in an automobile parked near his grounds, pushed his trunk under the top of the machine, lifted one end, and gave car and occupants a shaking.

Then he placed the car gently back on the ground, whereupon the panicky driver and his passengers departed.

WOMEN'S CHORUS FROM LA PORTE WINS IN CONTEST

Fourteen choruses, most of which will take part in the Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, competed yesterday in the choral contests at the Cook county fair, at River road and North avenue. Winners in the various divisions and their directors were:

LADIES' CHORUSES—First, La Porte, Ind., women's chorus, Lynn Sackett; second, Daughters of Isabella, C. A. Hutter; third, Calumet Women's Glee club, George Calder.

MIXED CHORUSES [not less than 30 voices]—First, Ukrainian Chorus of Chicago, George Benesisky; second, Orpheus choir, Hammond, George Calder; third, First M. E. choir, West Pullman, Mrs. H. P. Barnes.

MIXED CHORUSES [not less than 50 voices]—Tie between Chicago Thalia Singers, directed by Dwight Edrus Cook, and Irving Park Mixed chorus, directed by W. R. Evans.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR WIFE OF SAML. GOLDFARB

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Goldfarb, wife of Samuel Goldfarb, retired commission merchant, will be held at 10 o'clock today in the chapel at 936 East 47th street. Burial will be in B'nai B'rith cemetery.

Mrs. Goldfarb died Saturday in her home at 6731 Cornell avenue, at the age of 70. She and Mr. Goldfarb celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary on June 19. They came to the United States from Poland in 1889, and lived in Baraboo, Wis., before Mr. Goldfarb entered business in Chicago.

Mrs. Goldfarb is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Sarah Blumenfeld of Baraboo, Mrs. Evelyn Levinson of Waukesha, Wis., Mrs. Esther Stone of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Frances Citron, Mrs. Hazel Rodgers, Miss Marion M. Goldfarb, and a son, Alger D. Goldfarb of Chicago.

Six Killed by Falling Bricks After Hailstorm

BERLIN, July 30.—(AP)—Six persons were killed by falling masonry and a score were sent to hospitals at Pirna, in Saxony, after a heavy hailstorm unroofed houses, toppled over factory chimneys and blew down thousands of trees. The storm also swept Silesia, causing heavy crop damages.

Bomb Damages South Side Cafe and Beer Garden

A small bomb was exploded this morning at the kitchen door of the Grove restaurant and beer garden at 7907 Cottage Grove avenue. Damage, chiefly to the door and several windows, was estimated at $25. The blast was heard over some distance.

Fire and Explosion Cause $3,000 Damage to Home

A fire and explosion caused about $3,000 damage last night to the two story brick dwelling at 3152 Shields avenue. The origin of the explosion is not known. The only tenants of the building, Anthony Radtich and his family, were not at home at the time.

SHOT TO DEATH IN ROW.

Neal Battles, 28 years old, Negro attendant in a garage at 3635 Indiana avenue was shot and killed after a quarrel there yesterday by William Barnes, 36 years old, also a Negro.

Mary Dawes Picks Sept. 23 for Wedding

Ceremony to Be Held at Evanston Home.

BY JUDITH CASS.

RETURNING from woods and seashore in another thirty days society will face one of the busiest months of its year's calendar. Every September week-end will be busy with fashionable weddings and debuts and every few days brings another interesting announcement. In fact the old June adage may soon have to be rewritten, "September, the month of brides."

The last name to be added to this season's list of September brides is that of Miss Mary Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes. On the afternoon of Sept. 23 Miss Dawes is to marry George Henry Schulz, son of Mrs. Otto Schulz, in the home of her parents at 101 Greenleaf avenue, Evanston.

In accordance with her wishes the ceremony is to be simple and attended only by the immediate families. A few intimate friends will be invited to the reception following the service.

Miss Dawes, who will wear the traditional wedding gown, has selected for her attendants Mrs. Trevor Stamp, the former Frances Bosworth, who is here from London for a visit; Miss Louise Hassell, and Mrs. Harold Yegge. Mr. Schulz's two nieces, little Anne and Mary Louise Torrison, daughters of the former Marie Schulz and Osuld R. Torrison, will be her flower girls.

Otto Schulz is to serve his brother as best man and ushering will be done by the bridegroom's two brothers, Carl W. Schulz and William M. Schulz, and the bride's brother, Curtis Dawes, with whom Mr. Schulz attended Lawrenceville.

Plans for the wedding trip still remain indefinite. Mr. Schulz and Miss Dawes have decided, however, that they will make their home in Evanston.

Simpsons Sail to Shoot Grouse.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, the junior James Simpsons, the John MacLaren Simpsons, and young William Simpson, the only bachelor in the family, are on the Aquitania going to Guthrie castle.

They will arrive this week just about the time the grouse begin to fly across the moors of Scotland, and there they will remain for the August hunting season just as they have for many years past.

There is something about the "feel" of grouse hunting, Mr. Simpson explains, that draws a person back time after time. Last year Mrs. John Gary visited the Simpsons at Guthrie castle for a fortnight, and John Simpson made a flying trip with young Watson Armour to Scotland after months of boar hunting in India.

Up in the same section of Scotland these next few weeks will be the Lester Armours as the guests of the Wolcott Blairs. The Blairs have leased Drumour lodge in Dunkeld, Perthshire, which is Lord Wimbourne's famous shooting lodge. Seasons before this they have taken a castle, but when they found out they could rent Drumour this year they didn't give it a second thought.

Crossing on the Bremen last week with the Armours were the Winthrop Aldriches of New York, who were out here at Arlington not so many weeks ago with Howard Gillette. And that reminds us of the good fortune Mrs. Aldrich had the other day in New York City when her invaluable pearls, a $20,000 string, were picked up by a popcorn vendor at a local amusement park and turned in to the lost and found department. Neither the vendor nor the lost and found clerk realized their value . . . they thought they were just another imitation. The vendor certainly will be aware of their costliness one of these days soon, however, when he receives a check for $750 in reward.

Mrs. Van Rennslaer to Return to London.

Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth is terribly disappointed that her lovely niece, Mrs. Roxanna Bowen Van Rennslaer, is not coming to Chicago to visit her. Mrs. Van Rennslaer, who lives in London and is part of a gay and charming crowd, came to America a short time ago when her mother, Mrs. Clarence W. Bowen, was quite ill, and is staying with her parents on their estate at Woodbridge, Conn.

But, as the London season is at its height, Mrs. Van Rennslaer is returning there instead of coming west. Mrs. Wentworth may get over to England later to see her niece, but meantime she is busy showing the beauties of Chicago to her many relatives who are here to see the Fair.

From Mrs. Edwin C. Welch we have learned that her mother and sister, Mrs. Alfred L. Baker and Miss Mary Landon Baker, did not go to London for the season, but are still in their palazzo in Venice. They will see most of their English friends later, however, for the smart London set goes to Italy in early fall, Mrs. Welch informed us. Mr. and Mrs. Welch and her children are enjoying life on their farm near Antioch, but in the fall they will be moving back to Lake Forest so that the children will be nearer school.

Writing of foreign parts reminds us of the former Mrs. Alice Rodiger Boswell, who became Mme. Nicholas Starosselsky on May 30 in Paris. She met the young Russian who now is her husband at a house party in Cannes last summer. M. and Mme. Starosselsky are living in Paris at Rue de l'Université, but they have been spending this month with some friends at La Baule. Mme. Starosselsky's mother, Mrs. Caswell Alan Sharpe, who also is living in Paris, is in this country now, visiting her son, Walter Rodiger, and his family in Greenwich, Conn. She does not plan a visit to Chicago on this trip, and, although her plans for returning to Paris are a bit indefinite, she

Wins Lead Class Prize at Pony Show

New Hall of Stone Age Opens Tomorrow.

The story of man from his earliest beginnings, which archaeologists have been able to unearth, down to the dawn of history about 5000 B. C., is represented in the Hall of the Stone Age in the Old World, which will be opened to the public tomorrow in Field museum.

The principal exhibits of the hall are eight dioramas, life size, tracing prehistoric man from the Chellean age, about 250,000 B. C., to the beginning of recorded history. Opposite each diorama have been set cases bearing actual implements, weapons, ornaments, and fossils and prehistoric skeletal remains. The oldest of these exhibits date back about a million years.

The dioramas are arranged in chronological order about the hall. The first, of the Chellean age, represents two hunters, one of whom is chipping flint for a stone ax. The background shows a herd of mammoths, which, with rhinoceroses and hippopotami, wandered over Europe in the mild climate of the period.

The second diorama represents the Mousterian age, that of the Neanderthal man, when the earliest evidences of family life, about 50,000 years ago, have been found. A Neanderthal family is represented in the Devil's Tower rock shelter at Gibraltar.

The third scene represents Cro-Magnon men, of a race which invaded Europe from Asia about 30,000 years ago, who are believed to be the first direct progenitors of modern races. This period saw the birth of crude art, and the diorama shows a Cro-Magnon man decorating the walls of a cave.

The next race depicted, the Solutrean people, were a race resembling the modern Eskimos, who settled in southwestern France and northern Spain. A Solutrean sculptor, with Mongoloid features, is shown carving a horse on a block of stone.

The next race shown, the Magdalenian, met favorable conditions for finding food when it entered France from the northeast, and produced the finest naturalistic art of prehistoric times. The diorama reproduces the famous Cap Blanc in France, and nearby is exhibited the first skeleton found at Cap Blanc, that of a youth who died 25,000 years ago.

The sixth diorama represents Azilian men, who lived in the mesolithic period, marking the transition from the old to the new stone age. This race began the domestication of animals, and two Azilian hunters are shown baiting a wild boar with a pack of dogs.

The seventh scene, of the time of the new stone age, shows the area at Carnac in Brittany, where ten avenues of menhirs, large stone burial markers, stretch for a distance of two miles. The place is believed to have been used also for sun worship, and the diorama shows a priest with hands outstretched toward the rising sun, welcoming a new day.

The subject of the eighth and final diorama is a Swiss lake village, a type of latter stone age culture, which arose shortly before the dawn of recorded history. Two men of the tribe are shown drawing a fishnet, with the thatched homes of the tribe in the background resting on stilts over the water.

The exhibits represent years of research and the work of several museum expeditions. The general plan for the hall was worked out by Henry Field, assistant curator of physical anthropology, who conducted several expeditions to study the sites depicted and to assemble the archaeological objects. Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthropology collaborated with him.

The figures of prehistoric men in the dioramas were executed, life-size, by Frederick Blaschke, sculptor of Cold-Spring-on-Hudson, N. Y. Charles A. Corwin, staff artist of the museum, painted the backgrounds. Among contributors to the cost of the new hall were Marshall Field III., Frederick H. Rawson, and Silas H. Strawn, all trustees of the museum.

SUNBEAM BLOCK.
BY NANCY CABOT.

Tones of yellow and gold make this a sunbeam block. Such a bright bit of quilting will add cheer to the room fortunate enough to count it among its furnishings. It is an appropriate pattern for a boy's or man's room.

For a quilt pattern of this design send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Good Morning!

A playwright by the name of Sandor Hunyadi wrote a play and called it "Black Stemmed Cherries." "Storm at Daybreak" is the screenization of that play. The latter title seems the more appropriate.

Thrown against a Balkan background at the time of the world war is the story of the wife of a Serbian village mayor who loves and is loved by a Hungarian officer—her husband's best friend. When the mayor learns the worst he does what I don't believe the mayor WOULD have done. be he ever so noble—but his beau geste spells drama, and the yarn IS effectively portrayed.

Kay Francis and Nils Asther are a romantic looking pair, and the restraint with which they handle their love episodes makes their passion seem very real and very touching. Miss Francis' faculty for being a perpetual delight unto the eyes is, of course, an ace high asset to any picture.

Walter Huston rings stern, genial, and true as the mayor. It's always hard for me to get the slant of a woman who can look at any other man when he's around. His getup isn't very fetching in this number, but, just the same—there IS a man! Husbands with characters like that of Huston's Dushan are as rare as rocs [see your c. w. puzzles] you will agree, when the last reel's run its course.

"Storm at Daybreak" abounds in dramatic incident. Dialogue is to the point and direction, photography, sets, costumes, subsidiary acting, and scenery are fine. Though the story is somewhat trite, you will find the piece, as a whole, a really thrilling program drama of the better class.

Hollywood Code Sets Time for Screen Kisses

The world does not like the burning kiss, the clinging kiss.

Countries in the British empire, particularly Canada and Australia, demand that Hollywood kisses be cooled and abreviated before they will show them on their screens. Latin countries are more liberal, but even they feel that Hollywood waxes a little too ardent.

The French profess themselves at a loss to understand why Americans smile at their man-to-man cheek kiss and yet put so much ardor into lovers' osculations.

Japan does not approve even of the cool brow kiss. She turns out 900 pictures a year herself and her youth thrills to her kissless romances.

However, Hollywood has many kinds of kisses—with subdivisions—and has them well timed:

The clinging kiss, four second for foreign audiences; as long as 40 for American.

The platonic kiss, respectfully touched to the brow; one second.

The Latin hand kiss, on the back of the hand, two seconds; on the palm, three.

The parental kiss, tender love, three seconds; dutiful, half second; farewell, four and clinch; joyous return, three and clinch.

Relations, one-fourth second. Except rich uncles and aunts, two.

In-laws, mother, swift peck; father, half second; sisters, one; brothers, one and one-half; stepfathers, doubtful peck; stepmothers, more doubtful.

Mix to Join Zane Grey in Production of Films

Kansas City, Mo., July 30.—(AP)—Tom Mix, cowboy film actor, said today that he and Zane Grey, author, were planning to form a partnership for the production of western motion pictures. Mix, playing at a local theater, said production will start early in November.

Hooray! Hetty Zilch Is Fair's 'Miss Spinach'

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

This beauty contest business was a racket long before Miss America, Miss Cincinnati or Miss Ipswich, Conn., were ever heard of.

Look under Paris in your mythology book to prove it!

A nice, simple shepherd boy, Paris, with nothing on his mind but sheep, until the girls got wrangling about which should be Golden Apple Queen. There were Minerva, supposed to be the goddess of Wisdom, Juno and Venus, great gals in their own particular lines, all right up front when the first big beauty contest was called. And how they vied for the crown! The wenches even tried to bribe the judge, Minerva offering Paris war glory, Juno tempting him with fabulous riches and Venus, ever the smart sister and eventual Apple Queen, telling him the fairest of women would be his if he declared her winner. No wonder the poor boy's head was turned and he started right in busting up the perfectly respectable Menelaus family; the gorgeous Helen being tucked in its folds. But that's another story. It only goes to prove the danger of a simple male committing himself to serve as a beauty contest jude.

Now, it may be a far cry from Minerva and Juno and Venus to Miss Salted Nuts, Miss Popcorn, and Miss Peanuts appearing nightly and in person in the beauty contest staged in the Streets of Paris, World's Fair, Chicago, Ill. [To say nothing of Miss Artichoke and Miss Russian Borsch from the adjacent Casanova camp.] Yet one detects in the Fair participants the same eagerness to win. And in the ringside Paris-es, the same gullelessness about judgeship consequences.

We do not know, of course, if Miss Popcorn tries to bribe her jury with other than a curved line of lip and hip; if Miss Russian Borsch promises more than a swim in her liquid eyes—but we do know that nightly, under a star speared sky, men are committing their futures in reckless bandelap, declaring Miss Pistachio Ice Cream or Miss Macaroni from the Italian Village in on the weekly dividends accruing at Mr. Andy Rebori's famous concession. A real golden apple reward, Mr. Rebori calls it. Maybe it's apple sauce! We don't know!

We're only trying to tell, or warn, that you who may not know beauty art but do know what you like, as the saying goes, nightly in the Streets of Paris may witness to your heart's content, your eyes, too, maybe, such beauty contest lure and wile as——

Oh, go on over yourself and give Miss Strude: from Czechoslovakia a hand. She needs the apple.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WE sat in a quiet corner of the Art institute library while Charles Harris Whitaker showed, one by one, his magnificent photographs of ancient Greece. The walls of the room were no more; the loop faded to nothingness, and our harried spirit was possessed with the brooding calm of the ancient ruins. We communed with the gods in the shadow of the Propylea, gazed at the crumbling steps of the Mycenæ, trod once upon a time by Agamemnon and Clytemenestra, and looked out over the Ægean, where the ships of Darius and Ulysses and Mark Antony sailed. Tears stood in our eyes as we gazed at the columns of the Parthenon, testifying silently to the long life of stone and the short life of empire. At this point Thornton Wilder, who, with Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, made up Mr. Whitaker's audience, whispered in our ear, suddenly remembering something that might be of interest to a struggling columnist and generously passing it on.

Tip—
Crime—
Tonsillotomy—
Turtles.

"Robert Sherwood has just finished an ironical play, called 'Parthenon,'" he said, "about the people of the day criticizing the architecture. . . . Jed Harris may produce it."

* *

WE hasten into print with the news for morbid minded folk that the exhibit at the Fair that was called the Spectaculum is to reopen shortly as "Crime House." There will be scientific exhibits showing the fight against crime. There probably will be an exhibit in charge of Calvin Goddard, expert on ballistics. And there undoubtedly will be a few "X Marks the Spot" exhibits, modeled after the St. Valentine's day massacre photographs.

CONSTANCE COLLIER, talking generalities the other evening, offered, from a rich fund of wisdom, the information that there are three things people never want to hear.

"If you want any one to like you, never tell him or her that they have no temperament, that they have no sense of humor, or that they have no capacity for making love," she said.

IF you can stand another story that concerns the Italian flyers without screaming, there is the woman who put off her child's tonsil operation day after day for fear she would have to be at her bedside the day the flyers arrived. The tonsils were removed the day Gen. Balbo left town.

* *

WE worried a little about the turtles that race—if you can call it that—every night in the square in front of the Café Casanova at the Fair because exploitation of any kind of animal is our particular abhorrence. But we felt better when we learned some thought is taken for their comfort. When they declined to eat, William Mitchell Blair, who is in charge of the café and the doings in the square, had a long consultation with the man at the Lincoln park zoo who knows about turtles. As a result, the turtles now are eating, and the dish of their delectation is, believe it or not, iced cantaloupe. Two of the turtles got away the other night, and some amusement was afforded to others by the fact that one was discovered at the entrance to one of the peepshows in the Streets of Paris. Not to us, however. We just felt sorry for him, except that, on second thought, it might be an advantage to have a shell to draw into when one had taken eager visitors to the concession for the tenth time.

Tired of Rum Talk, British Pastor Quits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—The Rev. Raymond Young, Congregationalist minister in Sandwich, mounted his pulpit this morning and announced his resignation in a blistering sermon against modern Christianity which kept startled parishoners sitting in the front of their pews from first to last.

He took his text from the 18th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, 17th verse, "And Gallio [Roman proconsul] cared for none of these things." The minister asserted he cared for none of his chief duties as pastor, launching therefrom into a condemnation of church bickerings, chiefly against drink. He pointed to a recent sermon.

"I affirmed my belief that it is not an un-Christian thing to drink a glass of beer and from the uproar that ensued you would have thought that I had denied the existence of God. One sweet Christian wrote in that I ought to have my eyes gouged out.

"What the average church seems to want today in the pulpit is a sort of tame parrot who will twitter forth pretty platitudes Sunday by Sunday and flit from house to house making itself pleasant for the rest of the week. The quarrelsomeness, petty mindedness, vindictiveness and downright dishonesty of many church members nowadays is almost incredible."

"This alcoholphobia, this excessive fear of strong drink is a symptom of the effeminate refinement pervading the church today. Sometimes I think that the clacking of a hen would now be a more appropriate symbol of British spirit than the lion or bulldog. The soul of the land is becoming suffocated with undue carefulness, with synthetic gentility and spurious refinement. Modern church life needs to be impregnated with something of the bracing salt of Calvinism."

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough. He and Schewan, his chief plot to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. She has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. His solicitor tells him that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. Garrick hires Alf, a farmhand out of work, as a helper and buys his silence. One of the gang is shot during an encounter at Garrick's home and the police suspect Garrick. After a series of narrow escapes from the police and Schewan's gang, Rhoda finds shelter in the home of a Mrs. Tarranio and her cousin, Gus Esdale. Rhoda believes they are friends of her uncle. It is evident to Garrick they wish to be rid of him.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

JUSTIFIABLE DECEIT.

Mrs. Tarranio, a woman of remarkable vitality, was as fresh at breakfast as at any other time of the day. Esdale, on the other hand, was invariably sleepy and rather sulky until about eleven o'clock.

Rhoda believed that Garrick was asleep upstairs and began to feel uneasy as breakfast drew to a close without his having made an appearance.

"I don't know whether one ought to apologize for one's fiancé, Mrs. Tarranio," she said with an embarrassed laugh. "I really think it is rather rude of him to be so late for breakfast."

It was a strained effort to be pleasant, thought Rhoda, and decided not to pursue the topic.

"I'm sorry to be such a nuisance, Mrs. Tarranio, but—don't you think we'd better call him? Lyle, I mean—I'm beginning to think he can't be well."

Mrs. Tarranio did not directly answer the question. She looked up into the girl's face and smiled—very oddly, Rhoda thought. Then she went to the door and called:

"Gus! Come here—the drawing room—we want you."

Rhoda wondered what this could mean—was still wondering when Esdale came in.

"Shut the door, Gus! Rhoda is getting a little alarmed about Mr. Garrick. She thinks he is oversleeping. You'd better tell her what happened."

"I don't know that there's much to tell," said Esdale awkwardly. "After you'd gone to bed, Miss Fairclough, Garrick decided he wouldn't stay the night here after all."

"Don't be silly, Gus!" Mrs. Terranio spoke sharply. "She isn't a child—she won't believe a silly tale like that. You must tell her the whole truth."

"O, do tell me without all this! Has he been arrested?"

"Dammit! The man was my guest. A fellow can't talk about his guest," said Esdale to Mrs. Tarranio.

Mrs. Tarranio came close to Rhoda, making quite a good study of the elderly sister pose.

"You see how men stick together, dear!" she said wistfully. "If Gus won't tell you what happened I will—though I expect you will hate me for the rest of your life for telling you. The truth is that Mr. Garrick took rather a lot of champagne last night, and—yes, dear, I have to say it—he got rather drunk. Just a little quarrelsome, too—and stumped out of the house."

"I don't believe it."

"You loyal darling!" exclaimed Mrs. Tarranio as if she were profoundly moved. "I hope Mr. Garrick knows how lucky he is. As to its being true—you must ask yourself whether a thoroughly sober man would have walked out of the house after he had accepted an invitation—in his circumstances—when it would be dangerous to be seen walking about the streets so late."

The argument, stated like that, was terribly convincing. The reason faltered though the heart remained strong.

"Don't take it to heart so, child!" urged Mrs. Tarranio. "There's nothing disgraceful in it. Lots of awfully good men take a little too much sometimes. It was very largely Gus' fault—he kept filling Mr. Garrick's glass."

"Yes, yes—it was all my fault, Miss Fairclough—absolutely!" said Esdale, with the false heartiness of a man who expects to be disbelieved.

"This is dreadful!" Rhoda exclaimed. She could not bring herself to believe it, and yet why should these people, who had so strikingly befriended her, tell a lie? "Has he been arrested?" she repeated.

"We can't tell yet," answered Esdale. "But I'm afraid you must prepare yourself to hear that he has. I'll go out presently and get the first edition of the evening paper."

There was nothing about the arrest of Garrick in the first edition—nor in the edition that Voller brought them after lunch.

"But surely if he was arrested last night it would be in the papers by now?" Rhoda asked Esdale.

"You can't be certain!" answered Esdale. "The police often keep a thing like that quiet for as long as they can. Of course, in a day or two——"

"Mr. Garrick!" announced Voller.

The three of them struggled with their astonishment as Garrick stood before them. He wore a morning coat and carried a silk hat and his ebony cane. The old taunt of looking "The World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy" was once more true of him.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Tarranio! Hullo, Rhoda! Cheerio, Esdale! I'm afraid it is rather early for a formal call—but I'm simply burning to know what really happened last night."

Garrick was self-possessed and smiling and vastly pleased with himself.

"You are a very evil young man!" said Mrs. Tarranio playfully. "But you may sit down and tell us the latest scrape you've been getting into. We were beginning to be seriously worried about you. And I've given myself no end of trouble trying to make Rhoda see that what happened last night doesn't matter in the least."

"My dear Mrs. Tarranio," drawled Garrick, "I'll apologize when I've found out where to begin. I remember the four of us in this room—and your leaving me for a few minutes with Rhoda—and then my going down with Esdale to the dining room and Esdale giving me a drink. I went to the dining room, thinking how nice it was of you to ask me to stay the night and—I woke up in a police station."

"Then the police——" began Esdale, hopelessly bewildered.

"The police swear they found me asleep in a garage—I didn't gather quite where the garage was—and as they couldn't wake me up to find out who I was—they dumped me in a cell."

"And did they—didn't they—dammit, I mean did the idiots find out who you are?" asked Esdale.

"O, yes! And then, of course, they ran me up to Scotland Yard on that murder business."

For the moment Garrick enjoyed the expression of utter stupefaction on Esdale's face, then he added:

Garrick knew that they would not put his wild statement to the test of fact. Last night they had taken an immense amount of trouble to avoid bringing the police to the house.

For the moment her heart was too full of words—she could only repeat his name. It went terribly against the grain to have to deceive Rhoda, too. But at least it would prevent her worrying about his safety—and it would drive these precious friends of hers into the open.

"Of course I'm going to lie pretty low for the next fortnight. I had to cover my traces here, for they're still looking for you, dear. But it is only a fortnight, after all, and, thanks to our friends here, it won't be so bad. And as soon as the fortnight is up I shall turn up here with a flourish of trumpets and a special license—and Mrs. Tarranio and Mr. Esdale shall help us get married."

While he was speaking he was looking over Rhoda's shoulder at Esdale. The man's face showed something approaching despair. But Mrs. Tarranio was fully equal to the occasion.

"That's very charming, but it isn't in the least degree practical. Rhoda has little more than the clothes she stands up in—and I shall want at least a week in which to take her shopping. We'll start as soon as the fortnight is over—but you'll have to count on at least three weeks from now."

"But surely a little matter of clothes——"

"You must take it from Mrs. Tarranio, Lyle," laughed Rhoda. "If we don't obey her implicitly she'll throw me out of doors."

"I wouldn't—but that is the right way to talk to this impetuous young man of yours," said Mrs. Tarranio.

GASOLINE ALLEY—VIRTUE ISN'T ENOUGH REWARD

THAT WAS A MEAN TRICK OF MR. WOODS. HE OFFERED $20 REWARD FOR THE WATCH.
THEN WHEN IT WAS RETURNED TO HIM HE WOULDN'T PAY UP.
WHAT IF IT WAS STOLEN—WE DIDN'T STEAL IT.
CLARENCE WAS HOT AFTER THE REWARD.
HE DIDN'T FIND THE WATCH—I DID.
HE JUST CHISELED IN ON IT.
BUT HE TRIED TO OOZE OUT WHEN IT LOOKED LIKE TROUBLE.
JUST THE SAME I BETCHA WE COULD MAKE MR. WOOD PAY THE REWARD.
WHY SHOULD HE? HE'S GOT THE WATCH.

BY MARY MEADE.

Big or little, we all like to do things with our hands. As children we made mud pies, sand houses, and scrapbooks. Then we grew up and hunted ourselves new hobbies, always favoring the ones which let us play the rôle of creator. The next time we have a Sunday night [or mid-week] supper let's make use of this yen for fixing things and let each one make his own sandwiches and salad.

We can't very well invite all the party into the kitchen, unless it is a huge one, and you don't see many of those nowadays. So we will set the food out in buffet table style, using our swankiest linen and gayest china. The sandwich and salad materials will be placed on large platters—and what a chance for a creator!

First for the salad platter. In the center of the platter place a mound of cottage cheese and radiate around it wedges cut from a head of lettuce, long green beans, and slices of tomato. Outline the platter with crisp cucumber slices, and sprinkle a little paprika over the cottage cheese.

Or for a still more unusual salad platter pile bean sprouts in the center and around it alternate cold cooked beets in lettuce cups, avocados cut in wedges, and slices of pineapple.

There's really no end to the attractive combinations that can go on the salad platter, and there need be no worrying about whether every one likes his salad, since each makes one just as he wants it. And really the artistic effects will be astonishing.

With each salad platter furnish a liberal supply of French dressing and mayonnaise in dainty bowls with small spoon dippers.

Next for the sandwich outlay. First come stacks of thinly sliced bread, of both the light and dark variety. Near this, edge in a plate of butter which has been set out of the refrigerator long enough to become of a spreading consistency, but not runny. Little dishes of jams and peanut butter, with a platter of sliced cold meats and cheeses, will complete the sandwich outlay.

Complete the setting of the table with silver, glasses, plates, a dish of radishes, olives, and pickles, and a pitcher of iced tea or iced coffee.

The dessert course could be a berry shortcake which the guests may put together themselves, or a lemon meringue pie already cut, to which they may help themselves. The biscuits, fruit, and whipped cream for the shortcake are placed on the table in separate dishes and each guest may make one to his liking, for some prefer much biscuit and others an abundance of fruit.

You'll be surprised at what a jolly, informal gathering this "help yourself" supper will be. And there is none of the bother of keeping hot food hot and frozen food frozen which so often accompanies buffet suppers.

The Garbo Act Fails to Work for Clara Bow

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 30.—[Special.]—Clara Bow became peeved about an article appearing in a monthly magazine, which, she says, misquoted her as saying things she never even thought, in criticism of foreign countries. "Clara began receiving letters from people who had entertained us abroad," her husband, Rex Bell, says. "Intimating that it was their idea of a very discourteous thing for her to say after being treated with so much hospitality abroad. The truth is, Clara never said the things attributed to her."

As a result, Clara has been doing what she calls "pulling a Garbo." But "pulling a Garbo" doesn't work as well in Hollywood as it used to, as Ann Harding, and now Clara, have found out. One of the net results of talking to no one and retreating into an iron clad seclusion, is that gradually the self-secluded one finds herself left alone not only by reporters but by the studio cashiers.

So Clara has decided to quit "being a Garbo." This leaves only Elissa Landi, at present immersed in a recently launched venture at self-seclusion.

When Lilian Harvey was unable to attend the party which Buddy Desylva, Fox producer, gave in his gardens for members of the cast of "My Weakness," she accompanied her note of regrets with a gift of a cocktail shaker which will hold slightly under one gallon. "I am offering Carnera a contract to come west and shake a cocktail in it," Desylva said. "It's too big for anybody to handle."

Verna Hillie, Detroit film beauty, suffered an unusual accident which has kept her in bed most of the week. Ammonia was spilled on her face at a beauty parlor.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Eleven Bengal lancers, yellow plumed and red flagged, walked, trotted and cantered through their drills. A half dozen canary shirted horsemen swooped upon a wild boar and left their spears sticking in his sides. And the Princess Brinda was auctioned off while several hundred mothers, fathers, and farmers applauded.

But the ever watchful humane authorities didn't bat an eye. Not one of the Bengal lancers could boast of more than fifteen years. The boar was only sackcloth fitted out with sawdust, wooden legs, and terrifying tusks. And the Princess Brinda was a little six months old Shetland pony that was acquired by Mrs. Alfred C. Castle.

The occasion was Miss Libby Chase's second annual Misery Farm pony show. The manner of the show was suggested by the trip Miss Chase made last winter into the interior of India. Certainly the maharajah of Jodhpur or the Princes Brinda [the honest to goodness princess], who escorted Miss Chase to the Delhi horse show, would have been proud of this exhibition.

There were six classes representing about thirty entries . . . all of them pupils in Miss Chase's riding classes which she conducts at Paul Lewellyn's farm . . . and it was up to Mrs. Austin Niblack and Benjamin L. Behr to name the four winners in each class. Never did they have a harder job. For, although the sun was beating down at the rate of 96 degrees, the young equestrians went through their formations with the skill of experienced showmen. Perhaps they knew Miss Chase was going to treat them to ice cream after the last whistle!

As soon as "Bubbles" Ryerson in red coat and high hat [he promised himself an afternoon in the swimming pool after this attire] took the ring at 10:45 the lead class opened the show with Joe, the organ grinder, at the head of the parade.

Some of the more advanced groups may have revealed more training in horsemanship, but no one class drew more applause than these tiny tots mounted on their favorite ponies and led by their mothers and fathers. There was tiny Corson Ellis wearing only trunks. He was riding Kristin. His father, George Corson Ellis, held the lead rein. Close behind came Marie Rose Connors on Tommy, Baby the height of fashion in a pink sunbonnet and matching dress. Then there was Scottie Welles riding his pet goat, and Charlie and Minot Jelke driving Sookie hitched to the little pony cart their father and mother, the John F. Jelkes, acquired a couple of years ago while traveling in Sicily.

Little Honey Pope, led by her brother, Arthur, took the first prize in this class, a cup donated by Miss Chase's pupils. Bobby Odell won the red ribbon and the two curly blond headed Owsley children, Alicia and Randolph, the third and fourth places. Dressed alike in blue turtle neck sweaters, they rode twin ponies with their manes and tails intricately braided.

Kay Goodman, Betty Mead, Adelaide Taylor, Johnny King, John Hughes Jr., and his brothers, Marshall and Milton; Freda Robinson, Ida May Minotto, Homer Lindsey, and Edward Whyte were the Bengal lancers who went in for fire jumping, trick formations and pig sticking. And most of them took prizes in other classes besides.

Freda Robinson was first in horsemanship for those under 16. This won for her the silver cup given by Mr. Behr. Johnny King went home with the second ribbon in this class, Betty Mead the third, and Kay Goodman the fourth.

Milton Hughes came out the winner in the jumping class for beginners. The ease with which he cleared the four hurdles certainly didn't betray the fact that he was just "learning how." His brother, Marshall Hughes, was second in this division, and Homer Lindsey third.

Mrs. John Andrews King's hunting print went to Johnny King, for he was first among the more advanced jumpers. In this class Kay Goodman was second, Ida May Minotto third, and Betty Mead fourth.

Alice Stimpson, on her favorite pony, Peter Piper, took the first honors abong the beginners in another class, a silver cup given by Miss Chase's mother, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase. Billy Swift was second, Jackie Drye third, and Benny Carpenter fourth.

In the walk, trot, canter class for the boys and girls under 11, young Edward Whyte was the winner. And this was a decision that met with hearty approval. Mr. Whyte's father is one of the farmers over whose lands Miss Chase's pupils ride in practicing their trotting and cantering.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.—The Eton jacket suit is the most youthful and flattering of all the so-called mannish fashions; hence chic girls are welcoming it back to the mode with glad cries, and when it's developed in the new wide ribbed or corded Ottoman, as is the Lyolene model, sketched today, it is hard to find a smarter—or paradoxically, a more feminine—suit.

Silk suits in such snappy fabrics as moire, faille, and silk alpaca are scattered all over the summer style-scape, and this new piqué Ottoman —like Kubla Khan—leads all the rest.

Lyolene hints at a serious garçon revival by calling this an informal dinner suit; but it is good for any time of day in case one doesn't push one's boyish genre that far. It's in the wide ribbed black piqué Ottoman, with plain trouser topped skirt. The Eton coat is cut just exactly like the traditional schoolboy's jacket, except that it is collarless, the revers are wider, and upstanding fin flaps give an unusual high and wide shoulder effect.

The sleeves are purposely a tiny bit short, so as to show the edge of the lace cuff beneath. Said cuff belongs to the soft "shirt" of fine white allover Valenciennes lace with a high draped collar and tie and a jabot flounce cascading down its front.

The double breasted mannish waistcoat is in white piqué with mother-o'-pearl buttons. It can be adjusted in back—just like the real thing—by the piqué straps attached at either side of the front panel and cinched by a mother-o'-pearl buckle. It's cut with an amusing broad shoulder line.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

JENNINGS' STORY.

As Prof. Fordney hastily counted the crisp, new $50 bills the only sou.. in the small office of Sheriff Grimm was the ticking of the clock. Thirty of them—$1,500. Roy Jennings had placed them on the desk a few minutes before.

"I'll drive back to the lake with you, Jennings," Fordney stated, "and on the way you can tell me about the tragedy."

That Vera Osborne, his sweetheart, met him at the lake at 9 p. m. by appointment. She had that day drawn $1,500 from the bank to give Jennings for a business venture with the understanding they were to be married shortly. When Jennings had refused to set a definite time for the wedding Vera, after a lengthy, hysterical argument, had thrown herself into the water. Taken by surprise, he stood spellbound a moment, then jumped in after her. She struggled furiously—he was not a strong swimmer—so despite his best efforts she drowned. After dragging her ashore and his calls for help being unanswered he took the money from her coat pocket, fearing it might be stolen and hurriedly drove to the sheriff's office.

The two men stood beside the dead body of Vera, her coat covering a print dress. Near her lay a small, cheap, peculiarly shaped bag containing 56 cents in change. Also a man's handkerchief initialed M.

"Was she wearing a hat when you met her?"

"I—don't remember. I— Jennings stammered.

Tavern Club to Give Dinner Dance.

Balm for the disappointment Tavern club members suffered in the cancellation of the party for Gen. Balbo comes in the announcement of a midsummer dinner dance Friday evening on the breeze-swept skyscraper terraces.

There will be dinner service, the entertainment committee explains, from 7 o'clock until 11 and dancing until an early hour. As an extra enchantment the committee points out an unexcelled view of the World's Fair illumination.

Mrs. Charles H. Morse is entertaining at a luncheon and bridge party tomorrow for her daughter, Mrs. William S. Covington, who with her three children is spending the summer in Lake Forest with Mr. and Mrs. Morse. The Covingtons will return to their home in Seattle the latter part of August. Late in September Mr. and Mrs. Morse are planning to leave for Munich to visit their other daughter and her husband, Baron and Baroness Wolfgang von Peccoz.

There is great rejoicing in a Louisville, Ky., household . . . that of the John Gray Seilers . . . for on last Friday Mr. and Mrs. Seiler became the parents of a seven and a half pound son, John Gray Seiler Jr. Before Mrs. Seiler was married and went south to live she was Miss Helen Shimmin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Shimmin of 1320 State parkway. The wedding was one of the social events of the 1931 winter season.

Son Is Born to the Edward P. Lays.

When the young James Humes returned to Chicago from Greenwich, Vt., they brought with them news of a son being born to the Edward Poole Lays. The baby is the nephew of Mrs. Hume, who is a sister of Mrs. Lay.

The baby's name hasn't been determined yet, for his mother and father are trying to find one they will like as well as David, that of their older son. The Humes have been visiting Mrs. Hume's mother, Mrs. Parmalee J. McFadden, and another sister, Frances, at Greenwich. Mrs. McFadden and Frances have sailed for a several weeks' holiday in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lang, formerly of New York, who have been living in Winnetka for the last year and a half, are being congratulated on the birth of a son Thursday night at the Evanston hospital.

Arriving in town next Saturday with her tiny daughter, Ann, will be Mrs. William Heagney, the former Virginia Woodland, who is going to spend three months or so with her parents, the LeRoy Woodlands, in Kenilworth. Mr. Heagney, who took his bride to Havana to live when they were married three years ago, is coming up in September to make a long visit.

Paul E. Gardners Are Visiting Fair.

Some very attractive former Lake Foresters are back in town for a few days, occupying the apartment of Mrs. Walter B. Wolf on Lake Shore drive while they see the Fair. They are Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Gardner of "The Corners," Westbury, Long Island, and their five children are with them. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are here very quietly, for they are on their way to a ranch in the west, and they are stopping off just long enough to give the youngsters a visit to A Century of Progress.

Mrs. Wolf's house in Winnetka is filled with young men—classmates at Yale of her son, Walter J. Watson. They are Reverdy Wadsworth, Carroll Cavanaugh and Stewart J. O. Alsop, all of New York, and while here are being entertained extensively but very informally.

Within the next ten days Prince Cantacuzene is closing up his apartment on the near north side and packing off to the country to that charming little white house between Gurnee and Milburn which he and his princess and their two children, Princess Irina and Prince Rodion have taken for the fall and winter.

For at least six weeks the prince will be "baching" it, for Princess Cantacuzene and the children are not due back from Nahant, where they are summering with the princess' parents, the Thomas Curtises of Boston, before the beginning of September. Then shortly after this Prince Cantacuzene's mother, who is in Paris at present, is expected for a visit. Born Julia Dent Grant, she has the distinction of having been born in the White House during the term of her grandfather, Ulysses S. Grant.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

A charming dress for beach or country wear is shown here. Notice the tricky double pockets and the bow tied shoulders. Yellow and white linen, white tub silk, silk broadcloth, and piqué are smart materials to use.

The pattern, No. 2616, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Boss Elephant Keeps Order at Big Circus

Trainer Tells Sally How "King" Works.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Well, I guess I don't need to ask you boys and girls whether you liked our anhouncement in yesterday's paper! I know you did!

A circus trainer told me an interesting story I think you might like to hear. It seems that the biggest and oldest elephant of the entire troupe with Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey is Romeo, and he's boss of the whole outfit. Whenever any of the babies, who range from two to five years of age, begin to act up, yanking on leg chains or trumpeting too sassily at the giraffes and the zebras who are their next door neighbors in the menagerie—Romeo is moved in among them. He always discovers the bad one immediately and he doesn't waste any time in putting him in his place. He just swings out his trunk and slaps him good! And—so the man tells me, there's not a huff or a puff out of the offenders after that.

We're going out to Grant park to see these pachyderms (know what that means?) and all the other 1,700 animals, on Aug. 10. I want to bring along 100 boys and girls who are really excited about the circus, and who'll have a good time at the big show.

If you feel that way about it, just let me know in your letter. Those of you who write the most enthusiastic and sincere letters will be selected, because you're the ones who'll have the best time there. And that's the whole point of these parties, you know!

You must all write your own letters, and don't ask me if you can't bring your cousin or your sister—maybe you can, but they must write individual letters. Names, addresses and ages must be included—don't sign yourself simply Johnny or Mary, because I know more Marys and Johnnies than you can shake a stick at!

Now, one other very important point—your letter must be mailed in time to reach me by Wednesday. So remember these few little rules, and get to work on that note to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Baptist Group to Consider Another Dry Amendment

Carbondale, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—The Rev. E. W. Reeder, Carbondale, an official of the Illinois Baptist association of the Southern Baptist church, today announced that the fourth annual state-wide preachers and workers' institute will begin next Wednesday at Herrin. Forty-four ministers are scheduled to appear on the program. The association, under the auspices of which the convention is to be held, has sixty thousand members in Illinois. A second national prohibition amendment campaign will be considered.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 30.—[Special.]—The secretary of the navy, Claude A. Swanson, motored to the presidential camp on the Rapidan and joined Mrs. Swanson and the guests she has had through last week, for the week-end.

The secretary of commerce and Mrs. Roper and a family party including Miss Grace Roper and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Roper, who are visiting the former's parents, are spending this week-end on a trip down the Potomac aboard the Eala, a dispatch boat.

The Italian ambassador, Augusto Rosso, has accepted the invitation to be the guest on Thursday of A Century of Progress Exposition, when Italian day will be celebrated. He will return some time next week.

Beer Gardens a Tonic for Our Doldrums

They Give Youth Healthy, Innocent Fun.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

We recommend to the drys a visit any night in the week to Old Heidleberg at the World's Fair.

If they won't take a beer, that's all right with us. We're not recommending any special brand of beer. But we do recommend—and heartily—the contagious good natured, wholesome cheer of the place. If a dry survives still resistant to this contagion, then we say "there jes' ain't no fun in the world."

More, however, we recommend the excursion to compare the vicious "speak" scenes with the innocuously good natured, happy groups that gather around the beer boards.

At one large table [for this is a large party of young people] is seen a laughing, singing group, altogether happier expressioned than these eyes have seen in many a long day. They are sipping their beer slowly. No boisterousness except as sometimes a voice cracks on a high note. But sensitive ears are turned to the complete good cheer of the place. Not a "drunk," male or female, being carried out. No smirking, leering, and suspiciously questionable conversation being indulged in, as compared to an average "speak" gathering.

One female entrant with an escort intrigues and exemplifies our point. She is a hard blonde, with a cold, calculating, pale blue eye, a type familiar to speakeasy morning hours. They get a table. The Heidelberg crowd is singing "O, Susannah." The escort arises and joins the song fest with round face beaming. The girl catches the infection. A range of good, clear notes issue from her throat. She's laughing. The transformation of type, look, character was amazing.

Then there was Pops, a large man surrounded by kin, with a face as stimulating as the rising sun, singing lustily, guiding the crowd through verse and chorus of "Schnitzelbank," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "The Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and so on.

If you think this is not a great release from the nervous tension under which we've all struggled the last few years you do not know the psychology of cheer and laughter and mass singing.

If what this country of ours needs isn't more get-together spots where we may learn again to sing and play and laugh, be as ridiculous as we want to be, as childish as we'd like to be able to feel—then we're just not going to know how to use those promised leisure hours ahead of us.

We've got to learn to play again, and sing, and forget that life isn't all work and worry.

Mother Wants Youngsters to Help at Home

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Dear Mrs. Bevans," begins a letter which is one of a group on the same subject, "do you have any leaflets, or can you suggest a book which outlines household tasks for children?

"My two children, 4 and 10, have never had any duties to do, I am sorry to say. We have always had a maid, but due to the depression I am letting her go. I really think it is just as well—it will make all of us do more for ourselves."

I haven't any leaflets, nor can I suggest a book that deals satisfactorily with this subject. But I can give some suggestions gleaned from personal experience that will help.

First, what you have your children do depends largely upon what kind of person you are. If you are essentially a methodical person you will probably expect routine help from them, whereas if you are rather impulsive or temperamental you will probably ask them to do things on inspiration. I don't think it really matters.

The amount of help children should give depends a lot upon home circumstances. With a large family children have to help. But with a small one it becomes more a matter of the mother's feeling that the children need the training, and they do not need to do so much.

What help children give depends, also, upon their ages. The little child loves to help by trotting around doing the same thing his mother does, or by working in the same room with her. It is a delight to him at this age and he can really help, too. In addition, the little boy or girl can gradually learn to put away his or her toys and clothes, if places are made for them that are low and convenient.

A child of 9 or 10, as in this case, has to be approached in a different way. She must have the incentive of doing things because her mother no longer has a maid and needs her as right hand man. But she must be given only a little to do at first and not be criticized for awkwardness or mistakes. The amount can be gradually increased, but at no time should there be scolding or friction over household duties.

When children are older one has to be more practical and put their chores up to them as their fair part in family life. Personally, I don't believe in having a child always do the same work day after day. I believe in varying their duties and being free with praise and encouragement.

COCHET WHIPS AUSTIN; PERRY BEATS MERLIN

British Score First Victory Since 1912.

AUTEUIL, France, July 30.—(AP)—Great Britain captured the historic Davis cup for the first time since 1912 today, ending France's six year international tennis reign with a 3-2 victory in the challenge round.

The British triumph robbed France of a chance of tying the American record of seven successive Davis cup victories and took from Paris the silver bowl which almost had become identified with the national honor.

Frederick J. Perry of the British squad scored a great victory in the final and deciding match, beating Cocky Andre Merlin, French youngster, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 7-5, after Henri Cochet had defeated H. W. [Bunny] Austin in a stubborn duel, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, to square the series at 2 all.

Merlin Plays Stubbornly.

The bitterness of defeat was softened somewhat for the French by Cochet's gallant comeback after his unexpected defeat in singles Friday and by the plucky fight Merlin made against Perry.

A capacity crowd applauded its former hero, Cochet, and passed to moments of virtual delirium when Merlin played magnificently to win the first set from Perry.

The youngster, aided by the crowd, rattled Perry from the first game which the Frenchman won at love. The newcomer to cup play launched into an accurate volleying and lobbing game which swept the Englishman from his feet and caught him time and again at the net.

Makes Brilliant Start.

Playing Cochet's style of game, Merlin used many of the ex-champion's customary shots more effectively than Cochet used them today. Letting nothing pass, Merlin kept this sensational streak up to the fifth game of the second set, when Perry found his strokes and his courage and began the drive which took the cup to England.

Merlin ran to 2 set points in the tenth game, but Perry's racquet was becoming more and more trustworthy and the Briton ran out the set at 8-6 and moved into the third set with growing confidence.

Merlin won his first service as he did in every set, but dropped three straight. He halted Perry's rally temporarily in the fifth game but Perry won three more for an easy 6-2 victory.

French Player Rallies.

But Merlin declined to let the cup go so easily. He scrapped to the bitter end and to the tenth game of the last set wagers were being made freely that the youngster would come out on top. In the tenth game he staved off match point and then lobbed to square at 5-5. The Englishman was annoyed, but put on steam and ran out at 7-5, breaking the Frenchman's service at love for 6-5 and then sliding out on his own service for the game that won set, match, series, and cup.

Cochet found his old form in streaks to beat Austin, but the veteran Frenchman lacked the killing punch he once had. Time and again he prepared the way cannily, then failed to bring off the shot that should have earned the point. Ten times he missed easy net shots.

The Davis cup officially changed hands in a ceremony in Roland Garros stadium. The crowd arose as the huge bowl was carried to the center court. A talking machine blared the strains of "God Save the King" and the "Marseillaise."

Jay Cohn Wins Title in Highland Tourney

Grand Haven, Mich., July 30.—(AP)—Jay Cohn of Chicago won the Highland Park junior tennis championship today, defeating Ben Dey of Pasadena, Cal., 0-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4. Dey and Trevor Weiss of Chicago won the doubles title, defeating Norman Bickel of Oklahoma and Fred Renker of Topeka, Kas., 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

Burleigh Grimes Given Outright Release by Cubs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher, was given his unconditional release by the Chicago Cubs today after he had pitched part of the first game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Grimes, who will be 40 years old on Aug. 14, never has come up to expectations nor reached the form of his earlier days since he joined the Cubs at the start of the 1932 season. With a National league pennant winning team last year he appeared in 30 games, winning only six and losing 11. His earned run average was 4.79, the worst in his major league career.

This season he has pitched in 17 games and has won only two while losing six.

Grimes came to the Cubs from the St. Louis Cardinals in a deal involving Hack Wilson and Bud Teachout.

WESTLAND WINS WESTERN GOLF TITLE, 3 AND 2

Defeats Bliss in Amateur Final at Memphis.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Memphis, Tenn., July 30.—Jack Westland of Chicago and Rodney Bliss of Omaha, a couple of stubborn young men who are downright mulish about their golf, played 34 holes through the oven heat of this Tennessee summer's day before Westland won the 34th annual western amateur championship, 3 and 2.

JACK WESTLAND.

Westland was only a whit more obstinate than his 20 year old Nebraska opponent, a physician's son who was runner-up for the 1933 national intercollegiate championship and will captain next year's Cornell university team. Bliss was one up at the end of the morning nine and was even until the 18th, which the Chicagoan took to go to lunch with a 1 up advantage. Jack was 2 up at the 27th but Bliss kept on arguing with him until a skittish putter began to do him wrong.

Not Big, but Tough.

Westland's victory not only brought him one of the big time amateur titles of the year, but it served to establish him as the best amateur in the Chicago district. It also should guarantee him a rôle in the 1934 Walker cup cast, in which he spoke his lines well last year. The slender blonde from Sunset Ridge will never win any strong man trophies, but if half of the golfers in the country had his competitive temperament, the national blood pressure would be nearer normal.

After missing the qualifying medal in the tournament by two strokes, Westland made it plain that it was his western by winning his first round match from young Maurice Hankinson of Oklahoma university, 4 and 3. Then he came on to eliminate John Montedonico, captain of the 1933 Notre Dame golf team, 6 and 5. In the quarter finals, he disposed of the last local survivor, Chasteen Harris, 3 and 1. Yesterday, he defeated the United States collegiate champion, Walter Emery of Oklahoma, 2 up, in 36 holes.

Westland Wins Gallery.

The gallery which followed the championship struggle yesterday showered most of its southern hospitality on Bliss, a likable boy who was drawing applause throughout the morning round apparently because he was younger and lacked Westland's experience. Jack's work in the afternoon, however, made the natives like it, and by the 27th he was getting as many hands as Bliss.

Westland went two up on the first hole of the afternoon round when Bliss sent his tee shot into the rough back of a tree and dubbed his recovery, taking a five to Jack's par four.

Putter Fails Bliss.

They halved the next two holes in par, and the Chicago star was three up after the 130 yard fourth, where Bliss was in the rough to the right of the green. Jack lost the fifth, being short with his second and needing two putts after getting on. Bliss was only one down after the sixth, which Westland three putted.

They halved the next two holes. Westland earning his with a great recovery at the seventh, while Rodney had to run down a difficult six foot putt to break even at the eighth. Jack went two up at the ninth, where Bliss' putter went unfaithful on him for the first time. He had a chance to win the 10th, where Jack was short, but again missed an easy effort on the green. They divided the 11th in par fours, and Bliss regained another hole at the 12th, where Jack needed three to get down. Bliss three putted the 13th and 14th, and they halved the

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Beach, Mich., July 30.—A scorching sun today which brought the temperature to its highest point in the last two weeks couldn't stop the drills of the Golden Gloves boxers, who are putting the last touches to their physical condition for the international bouts with Ireland at Soldiers' field Wednesday night.

Two rounds each was the order, and the boys of the same weight went into the ring. The exceptions were Bill Treest, who is nursing a cut over his eye, and Max Marek, who is below normal fighting weight and consequently worked only one round.

Ross Aids Coaches.

It was the last time the rivals will work against each other for the eight starting places on the Chicago team. The makeup of Chicago's team will be announced Tuesday morning.

Barney Ross and his trainer, Izzy Klein, helped supervise the drills today. Barney, who is a former Golden Gloves champion, went into a huddle with Johnny Behr and Jaboer Young, following the workouts, and gave his opinion on the condition and performance of each boy.

Ross returned home last night, but he expects to motor down Tuesday for the final day of training, which will consist only of limbering up exercises and bag punching. Barney is rooting for a Chicago victory and will not be satisfied with less than eight international titles.

Irish Are Popular.

Judged by the inordinate receptions and hand shakings the Irish boys have undergone in the last week, the Golden Gloves team will not be a public choice, a most unusual circumstance. While the German boxers last year had thousands of adherents, and won many more by their 4 to 4 tie with Chicago, the Irish apparently will have all the best of it when the poll of ticket holders is taken.

It should be added, however, that Irish songs before the fights and cheers for and by Irishmen, won't help a bit when the fighting begins. No one need tell Chicago's veterans this, but some one should take up the matter with the Irish.

Another hundred or so Chicago visitors witnessed today's drill. Some had watched the Irish boys, and, strange to report, their opinions differed. Several thought the Irish outclassed. Others were determined that since the majority of the invaders are sluggers, the law of averages would permit them to connect a few times and that one or two good smashes would win at least four of the eight international fights.

Mulligan Can Punch.

Heinrich Kohlhaas, the German heavyweight who knocked out Duffy Dvonch last year at Soldiers' field, and later knocked out Adolph Winter in the bouts at Milwaukee, has been knocked out by Paddy Mulligan. This has not been mentioned so far, and just why it has been kept secret is undetermined. Johnny Pacek, who will weigh from 20 to 25 pounds less than Mulligan, isn't a timid lad, and he will be in top shape Wednesday night. This was evident from his drill this afternoon.

Pacek was kidded about Mulligan's size today, but John wouldn't rise to the bait. Not only does Pacek possess a wallop that Mulligan might envy, but he is far more shifty. Mulligan stands an excellent chance of being a hero Wednesday night or being stretched on the canvas.

Each boy will have one round of boxing tomorrow. Road work also will be eliminated, and long hikes substituted. Diet is all important, and so is the amount of rest each boy gets, but there is none to violate a rule. All desire a victory over Ireland, not only to maintain a great record for Golden Gloves but to chasten eight confident Irishmen, who have said repeatedly they could give these Golden Glovers a "hiding."

READY FOR IRISH

IRISH BEMOAN HEAT

BY JERRY CURRAN.

Eight Irish boxing champions were swearing mildly at the heat that pressed down upon them yesterday and eagerly listened to such stories of ice skating and subzero weather as they could get kind friends to relate.

Among themselves they speak but little of the outcome of the fights with the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team at Soldiers' field Wednesday. After all, what Paddy Mulligan tells Chicago over a microphone he's going to do is of very little interest to Paddy Connolly as dinner table talk. So they let Ernie Smith divert them with tales of the little ladies who are always bothering him, shoving autograph books under his nose, calling him on the phone and refusing to identify themselves. Blond headed Ernie is a great little ladies' man.

Boys Are Fit.

It's getting so close to Wednesday that fighting is becoming the topic more and more. Ask Capt. Liam O'Brien, team manager, or Sergt. Paddy Dwyer, the coach, how many fights they expect the team to win and they answer, "Eight."

Ask Dr. John J. Killeen, who is personal physician to the team, what he thinks of the boxers' condition. Dr. Killeen knows his Irishmen. He took such good care of so many prominent Irishmen on various trips to America that the National University of Ireland honored him with an ex gratia doctor of laws degree, which means something in the old country.

Dr. Killeen pronounces the Irish boys as fit as fiddles. He is looking forward to the battle with keenest interest, because for him it is a contest not between American and Irish boxers but between two types, on the one hand the necessarily synthetic fitness of an American city team and on the other the natural ruggedness and health of the Irish boys, whose development has been the direct work of natural environment.

Pete Miller, who will be in the Irish corner at Soldiers' field and who ought Any seat in the $2.50 section at Wednesday's Golden Gloves bouts between the champions of Ireland and the champions of Chicago would have cost you $3.30 at previous international shows.

You can also purchase good seats for $2 or $1.10. And don't forget, there are nearly 30,000 at 55 cents. Never have boxing fans been offered more for their money.

Tickets are on sale at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, and in Room 530 Tribune Tower. If you are unable to visit a ticket office today, telephone your order to Superior 0100, local 530 or 466.

'MY MARYLAND' IS THEME SONG AT HAWTHORNE

Springsteel, Monel Picked in Features Today.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Two Maryland horses—Springsteel and Monel—last night ruled as the favorites to win the Cascades purse and the Del Prado purse which will serve as the topliners at the opening of Hawthorne's summer racing season this afternoon.

Both hail from the stable of Sylvester Labrot, whose horses won so many races during the Arlington Park season which has just ended. Springsteel goes in the 6½ furlong dash of the Cascades and Monel in the Del Prado, which is over the mile and a sixteenth route.

They both have plenty of stout rivals and each was quoted at 2 to 1. Springsteel's chief rival was expected to be Bright Shadow, from the Audley Farm stable, while Monel will be up against such stout runners as Marmion, Rocky News, another from Audley Farm, Big Red from Kentucky, and Cambridgeshire, the South American star.

Look for Gala Opening.

With two such races on the program Hawthorne's racing season probably will get away to a big start. It is the first mile track racing of the year on the west side and the first time since last August that the west siders have had a chance to gather at the 43 year old Hawthorne track.

The Hawthorne season will offer the finest stake program it has ever attempted.

There will be a stake race every Saturday, with two of them offered on the program during the week of the running of the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup. The Gold Cup, which will bring Equipoise back to Chicago for what may be his last appearance in the middle west, will be run on Aug. 24. Two days later will come the first running of the John C. Schank Memorial handicap.

The Hawthorne Gold Cup is now the ranking weight-for-age race run in America and, should Equipoise capture the stake, it may be the race that will make it possible for him to break the world's money winning record held by Sun Beau, which three times galloped to victory in the same event.

Expect Crowd of 15,000.

The old but now modern Hawthorne course on which each year many improvements are made is spic and span for the opening, and Acting President Joseph A. Murphy and others in the official family look for a crowd of 15,000 this afternoon.

The Hawthorne sport, offered within a 30 minute ride of Chicago's loop, for several years has attracted some of the greatest crowds of the year. The volume of wagering there has been heavier than at any other Chicago course.

Not nearly as many horses deserted the Chicago racing scene this year for Saratoga as in the past. Many eastern stables were content to remain over here to race for the high purses and stakes offered by the Hawthorne management. Most of the great western racing establishments are also on the scene.

Post Time Is 2:15.

"We believe we are to enjoy a great season," Acting President Murphy said last night. "We believe we have placed racing within the reach of all and that we will offer a brand of sport that will appeal to the race-going public of Chicago."

Post time for the first race each day at Hawthorne will be 2:15 o'clock. The program will be speeded up in an effort to get the crowd back to the loop by 6 o'clock or a little earlier. There will be eight races each day.

Hawthorne is the only track in Chicago that was operating when the last World's Fair was held in Chicago back in 1893. Many visitors to that Fair have indicated they will return to Hawthorne for a day or two of the turf sport while they are here for the 1933 A Century of Progress Exposition. They may not know the place, however, for except for the mile running strip everything about the place has been changed to keep step with the times.

Cubs Lose to Cards, 8-2, 6-5; Dean Fans 17 for New Record

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—Dizzy Dean, 1932 major league strikeout king, this afternoon added glamour to the double defeat of the Chicago Cubs by striking out seventeen batsmen to beat a modern major league record which was set in 1901 and which has not been equaled since 1909. Dean also contributed two doubles and a single as a part of an 8 to 2 Cardinal victory over the distressed 1932 champions. The Cards came back to take the second game 6 to 5, and shove the Cubs into fourth place by 7-10 of 1 percentage point. 6½ games back of the leading New York Giants.

The old record of 16 strikeouts in a nine inning game was established by Frank Hahn of the Cincinnati Nationals against Boston on May 22, 1901. It was equaled by Christy Matthewson of the New York Giants against St. Louis on Oct. 3, 1904 by George [Rube] Waddell of the St. Louis Americans against Philadelphia on July 29, 1908, and by Nap Rucker of Brooklyn against the St. Louis Nationals on July 24, 1909.

Record for Catcher, Too.

In setting the new record Dean pulled Catcher Jimmy Wilson to a new major league record for putouts by a catcher. With Dean's seventeen strikeouts and the catching of a fly from Bill Herman's bat, Wilson set the new modern record at eighteen, or two-thirds of the Cardinals' putouts in the contest. Dean, incidentally, continued to lead the 1933 major league pitchers with a season total of 143 strikeouts. His 1932 record was 191.

Of eleven Cubs who played in the game Guy Bush was the only one who didn't fan at least once, which was little enough solace for Guy, seeing as he was driven away in a five run blast in the sixth inning after enjoying a 2 to 1 lead.

Babe Fans Three Times.

Babe Herman, who knocked two homers yesterday, fanned three times; Koenig, Cuyler, Demaree, Hendrick, and Jurges each whiffed twice; Bill Herman, Campbell, Grimes, and Mosolf each contributed one. The Cubs made six hits, including two by the first two batsmen of the afternoon.

In the second game, two walks, an error, and Demaree's homer gave the Cubs a three run start, but the Cards tied it up in their half, also employing two walks, an error, and a homer, the homer by Medwick. After the Cards had made one run in the third and one in the fifth, the Cubs tied the score in the first of the sixth, but the Cards pulled ahead in their sixth and stayed ahead without much difficulty, though Bill Herman led off the eighth with a single and Hendrick led off the ninth with a double.

End Sad Road Trip.

The afternoon's doings brought to a close one of the most disappointing road trips the Cubs have made in recent years. Last Monday night they left Chicago in second place, two games behind the leaders and apparently stimulated by a great home stand record of 16 wins in 19 games played. All the pitchers seemed in excellent shape.

Tonight they leave for home with a record of not having won a game out of six against two of their first division rivals. In addition to dropping 6½ games back of the lead, they are three games out of second place and in none too good a position in fourth place, though the margin between third and fourth is slight.

Their morale is shot and their pitchers are wabbly, wabbly en masse for the first time this year.

Catch Strike Out Ailment.

During the six games the Cubs were not in front at the end of any complete inning, except for a while in the first game today, during which they were so busy striking out that they didn't enjoy the margin. During their two days of endeavor here they fanned 32 times, eight times yesterday. 17

U. S. Quiz of Horse Doping Starts Today

A federal grand jury investigation of alleged doping of race horses will be started today. Subpoenas were ready to be served on 25 or 30 owners of thoroughbreds, jockeys, grooms and veterinarians as a result of the arrest of seven men, four of them Negroes, at Arlington Park Saturday on a charge of violation of the Harrison narcotic act.

Ralph Oyler, federal agent in charge of the Chicago narcotic division, was unable to name the prospective witnesses to be called before the grand jury, but it was reported that Ivan Parke, a star jockey ten years ago who had been denied a license to either train or ride horses for the last two years; Dr. Nelson Edward Southard, a veterinarian of Louisville, Ky., and Charles Mitchell, a stable foreman, would be among the first to be called.

Three Released on Bonds.

This trio, among the seven arrested in the raid at Arlington Park, obtained their release from custody on bonds of $2,500 each. The four Negroes, however, remained in jail. All prisoners were charged with violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act. They pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Their cases were set for Aug. 7.

H. J. Anslinger of Washington, federal narcotic commissioner, revealed that similar investigations were being made under federal authority at seven other major race tracks, but that evidence in these cases had not been made public. Anslinger said he was willing to coöperate with all jockey clubs to stamp out the alleged doping practice, and would station agents if requested, at every race track where there is suspicion of such practices.

Offer Evidence to Clubs.

Anslinger also said that the evidence already gathered by the government agents would be available to every responsible turf organization. He said that the federal government is limited, insofar as prosecutions are concerned, to charges of violations of the narcotic law, whereas the turf authorities can act independently against individuals, where the government cannot. He explained that the government has no authority to punish an individual for administering stimulants to an animal.

SIMMONS' HIT DECIDES FIRST GAME IN TENTH

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox finally got around to the point yesterday of separating themselves from the losing streak that had extended through nine games. They smashed the jinx by rushing up toward the close and capturing a ten inning 8 to 7 decision from the St. Louis Browns in the first half of a double header. Then, after that tuning up, they cut loose in a big way and won the second battle by the sandlot score of 15 to 2.

The double victory boosted the Pale Hose back into sixth place, only two and one-half games out of the first division.

Simmons, Haas Take Charge.

The first game bore all the earmarks of a tenth straight beating until Al Simmons and Mule Haas began to show signs of worrying about their batting averages. The Mule produced a single and double in the seventh and eighth. In the same innings Simmons cut in with a single and triple.

All of this, along with help from Evar Swanson and Earl Webb, accounted for the creation of a tie where a few moments before the Browns had been out in front, 7 to 2, mainly because of another fadeout by Ted Lyons. And the Haas-Simmons combination also ended the game in the tenth with a double and single, respectively, off Hank McDonald.

The Boys Keep It Up.

Simmons and Haas continued to function in the second battle, although they furnished more assistance than was needed by Ed Durham. Haas added three hits to five he had collected in the first fight. Simmons added four to three previously recorded. That gave the pair the honor of being involved in 15 of the 34 hits for which the Sox were responsible in the long afternoon. The Simmons-Haas hits were for a total of 21 bases and were directly or indirectly mixed up in 13 of the Sox's 23 runs.

FIRST GAME

Seven of the Sox stepped to the plate in the first inning and yet only one hit was produced. That was a scratch and it led to an unearned run. Swanson opened with a grounder to Burns and arrived at the bag ahead of Stiles, who covered. Haas flied out. Webb walked and Simmons hoisted to deep center. The bases became full when Levey played marbles with Appling's grounder. Lack of room forced Swanson to score when Dykes walked. Hayes concluded the inning with a tap to Stiles.

The end of Lyons' effectiveness came when Reynolds opened the fourth with a single to left. Campbell drilled one down the base line and Webb fumbled. Both runners dashed home on a triple into right center by Gullic. After Melillo's demise, Gullic scored on Shea's fly to Haas. And then Levey hung up the fourth run of the inning when he lined to the gate in right center and kept moving until he had crossed the plate for his second homer of the season.

Gullic Stops Sox.

The Sox got themselves under way impressively in their half of the fourth and then were stopped short by an exceptional piece of work on the part of Gullic. Grube led off with a single and ran around to the plate on Lyons' triple to right center. Swanson sent a fly to short center and Gullic apparently didn't have a chance to get it, so Lyons ran to the plate. But Gullic, tearing in at a rapid clip, reached almost to the ground, the ball nestled in his glove, and he promptly threw to third for a double play. Haas followed with a single, but Webb flied to center.

Lyons' toughest inning of all was the sixth, but he got away easily because a man was caught off base in the midst of a shower of four successive hits. Campbell boosted a fly to left and Simmons was playing far toward center, so the ball dropped for a double. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Gullic's single. Gullic was caught overrunning second on Melillo's single. Shea shoved a single past Webb, putting Melillo on third. Levey bunted to Lyons on a squeeze play and Ted threw to the plate, but Melillo was safe when Grube dropped the ball.

Sox Cut 'Em Down.

In the seventh Kimsey walked Reynolds, who scored on Gullic's double, putting the Browns ahead, 7 to 2. Then the Sox began the job of whittling down the handicap. They picked up a pair in their half of the inning on singles by Haas, Webb, and Simmons and a long fly by Appling. In the eighth, after two were out, Swanson slashed a double to left and scored on Haas' two bagger to right. Webb doubled to the same spot and Haas scored. Stiles vanished and Mel Gould took over the pitching burden. Then Simmons tripled off the right field wall, sending Webb home with the tying run. Appling fanned for the third out. And in his next appearance Simmons ended it.

SECOND GAME

GOLDEN GLOVES THRONG URGED TO COME EARLY

Plans Drafted to Speed Traffic Wednesday.

"Come early" is the keynote of traffic regulations issued yesterday by Georgt T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the south park commission, for the International Golden Gloves bouts at Soldiers' field Wednesday night.

The usual heavy traffic through the south park system has been doubled by A Century of Progress, Donoghue pointed out, and by the time 50,000 persons are added to the press by the Golden Gloves crowd. ticket holders who do not come early may find it difficult to speedily reach the stadium and their seats.

To provide entertainment for the early comers THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the bouts between the Irish Free State champions and Chicagoland amateurs, has engaged Jack Bramhall's band to play a concert in the arena beginning at 6:30 o'clock. At 7:30 o'clock the Naval Reserve band of 60 pieces from Culver Military academy, Culver, Ind., will relieve the Bramhall troupe and present a specially prepared concert of Irish numbers.

Gates Will Open at 6.

The gates to the stadium will be opened at 6 o'clock. Four hundred experienced ushers will be on hand at that hour to seat the early comers. Entrance to the stadium for the fights does not include admission to A Century of Progress. Soldiers' field is cut off from A Century of Progress grounds, and it is not necessary to purchase admission to the Fair to attend the bouts.

Three hundred city and south park policemen, under the direction of Capt. Timothy J. Howard of the south park force, will direct vehicular and pedestrian traffic at the stadium. Regulations drafted by Donoghue and Capt. Howard provide a maximum of convenience with seven means of transportation.

Soldiers' field is accessible by bus, surface lines, Illinois Central trains, elevated trains, the miniature railroad, taxis and private cars. Persons already in A Century of Progress can reach the entrances to the stadium by taking the Fair buses to the 14th or 16th street gates.

Regulations for Traffic.

Regulations governing traffic in the vicinity of Soldiers' field Wednesday night, as drafted by Donoghue and Cap. Howard, are as follows:

THROUGH TRAFFIC—Traffic will run through Grant Park and along Lief Erickson drive as usual. Private cars wishing to discharge or pick up passengers at Soldiers' field are requested to approach from the south. Those unable to do so may unload and load on the west side of the drive along the west side of the stadium. Passengers, however, must follow along the west side of the drive to a police controlled intersection before crossing the drive.

BUSES—Buses will discharge passengers at the regular bus terminals at 12th street, and those operating on a through route past the stadium will run on an increased schedule, discharging passengers at the stadium gates. After the bouts buses will be waiting in the Court of Honor between Soldiers' field and the Field museum and at the regular bus terminals at the 12th street entrance to A Century of Progress.

TAXIS—Taxis will discharge passengers for the fights at the regular taxicab terminals at the 12th street gate of A Century of Progress and at 18th street. At the conclusion of the fights cabs will be available on the east curb of Lief Erickson drive just outside the west gates to the stadium, and at the 12th and 18th street terminals.

SURFACE LINES—Surface line passengers will find the two established terminals the most convenient. All lines terminating at the north gates of A Century of Progress will accommodate passengers. Passengers are especially warned to use stairs or police supervised intersections for crossing traffic lanes.

MINIATURE RAILWAY—The miniature railway will carry passengers from the Monroe street terminal to the Shedd aquarium. Trains will be waiting at Shedd aquarium terminal after fights.

PARKING—Private cars can be conveniently parked in south park commissioners' parking space at Monroe street, along Illinois Central from 16th to 20th street, and at numerous privately operated parking spaces south of Soldiers' field and west of the Illinois Central tracks. A nominal charge is made at all these parking places. Early arrival is urged to assure convenient and speedy parking.

Chicago Fishers Find Plenty of Muskies in North

BY BOB BECKER.

When Chicago fishermen go to the Wisconsin north woods armed with all kinds of big lures to fish for muskies they can be thankful that the Wisconsin conservation commission doesn't agree with Pennsylvania about this great game fish. Whereas Wisconsin officials along with hundreds of sportsmen and resort owners do all they can to keep lakes and streams well stocked with 'lunge, Pennsylvania says that "owing to its great size and ferocity it does not stock this giant game fish, but it occurs in a number of the streams and lakes of northern Pennsylvania."

Judging from this attitude towards the most spectacular and savage fish that we have in fresh water, Pennsylvania must be slightly intimidated by old Esox immaculatus and Esox Masquinongy or else eastern fishermen would rather fish for bass and other less rambunctious game fish.

Naturally Pennsylvania can show no such list of famous muskie lakes as Wisconsin or Minnesota. In the eastern state Edinboro lake, French Creek, the Allegheny river, Lake LeBoeuf and Conneaut lake are reported to be the best waters for 'lunge.

This eastern muskie is a slightly different species from that found in Wisconsin. But it goes for the same type of "aquatic hardware" which anglers find successful in Wisconsin: flashing spoon lures of various sizes behind which ride bucktails and possibly a pork strip, surface lures with spinners or others which kick up a lot of fuss and make the muskie think he is something that is "easy pickings," such as underwater wooden diving plugs.

Chicagoland fishermen who go north to well known muskie waters like the Chippewa flowage, the Flambeau river, the Lac du Flambeau country and other localities will find that certain lures are widely used in one locality, whereas a few miles away an entirely different type is recommended.

Golden Glove Boxers Reach End of Drill

to know his Chicago athletics, has failed us as a sound critic. The first few days he thought the boys were going to be too slow to be ahead in the short space of three rounds. But since he has been with the Irish champs he has become as enthusiastic over their chances as the most rabid partisan.

Entertainment Is Wearying.

All this entertaining they've gone through has caused more than a spot of anxiety among the team's well wishers. Even yesterday morning, after the boys had attended 8 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's and had been sped on their way by the Rev. Father Hayes they had to run the gauntlet of a shower of kisses from feminine admirers.

Training methods! But then, as handsome Jack Kennedy remarked, when you stuck your head out of the car window to wave good-by and a sea of attractive faces uplifted themselves right under your nose, what was a poor little Irish boxer to do?

And in all this, picture the predicament of an anxious manager and a worried coach. They came prepared to shepherd a first class boxing team to victory in a mighty battle of brains and brawn. And here they find themselves having to fight off a whole city overstocked with hospitality before even a glove is dusted or a blow struck.

The Irish boxers spent yesterday afternoon in a forest preserve taking things easy away from the crowds. Sergt. Paddy Dwyer, Jask Kennedy, and Frank Kerr made a brief appearance at the 19th Ward Democratic club's picnic at Calumet Grove, 135th street and Western avenue, where they were cheered by a crowd of about 3,500.

TRIPLE TIE FOR FIRST PLACE IN HORSESHOE MEET

A triple tie for first place among Theodore Allen, Alhambra, Cal.; Blair Nunamaker, East Cleveland, O., and C. C. Davis, Kansas City, Mo., each with 14 games won and 2 games lost, existed as the second day of play in the world's champion horseshoe tournament came to an end yesterday at A Century of Progress.

One more day of matches, with each of the 24 finalists playing seven more games, will wind up the tournament today.

Davis, five times champion and Nunamaker, the present champion, were among the favorites before the start of the tournament, but the presence of Allen in a tie for first place was a surprise, although he had won several minor tournaments.

Allen won all eight of his games yesterday as did Davis, while Nunamaker won 7 out of 8. The only other pitchers who seem to have a chance to oust the three leaders in the final day are Jimmy Risk of Montpelier, Ind., who has won 13 games and lost 3, and Bert Duryee of Wichita, Kas., with 12 games won and 4 lost.

Standing of the leaders:

St. Pancratius, 9; St. Bruno, 0.
St. Adrian, 6; St. Sabina, 1.
St. Bernard, 11; St. Joseph, 8.
St. Michael, 10; St. Carthage, 2.

Besides winning the fifteen mile race, Breeding also won the five mile sprint race. In both races Bill Braun finished second and Jimmy Schneider pulled up third. Jack Early, stunt motorcyclist, suffered severe bruises while driving his wheel through a burning shanty in the track infield.

Westland Is Victorious in Western Golf

next two in par, giving Westland the match and the championship.

Both Start Poorly.

During the morning 18 holes the match was squared twice after each player had held a two up lead. Westland gained his one hole advantage at the intermission on the 18th, which Bliss three putted.

Both players were over par at the first hole for a half, Westland sending his second into a trap, while Bliss was slightly over the edge of the green. The collegian went one up at the second by reaching the green in two, 15 feet from the pin. Westland's second shot sailed over into the rough and he failed to liberate himself with his third, finally taking a five.

They divided the long third in par fives, and Bliss earned a half after overdriving the green. Westland was two down after the fourth, at which he drove into the rough and sent his second over the green. He nearly holed out with his recovery, but missed a short putt.

Westland Recovers.

It appeared as if Jack would be three down going away from the fifth, for his tee shot was in the deep grass again and he dubbed his second. Bliss gave him an assist by sending his approach into the trap and grass at the right of the green, and they went away with fives. Westland won his first hole of the match at the 200 yard seventh, when Bliss drove into a trap while the Chicagoan was getting his par three.

Both were in rough and traps at the eighth, dividing it in fives, and split the ninth in fours, reaching the turn with Bliss still one up. Westland evened the match at the 10th with a three, when Bliss drove a trap and was over with his second. Both were in hot water at the 473 yard 11th, but managed to escape with fives.

Westland was one up after the 12th, where Bliss drove into the rough back of a clump of trees, and after playing safe made a good approach, but not good enough to beat Westland's orthodox four. Jack was two up through the 13th, where he made a fine second shot for his four. Bliss drove the rough and his approach found the ditch at the right of the green.

Westland Regains Lead.

Bliss then rallied to even the match by winning the next two holes, Westland conceding the 14th after dabbling in the rough and overshooting the green with his second to the 15th. They halved the 16th and 17th in threes and fives. Both reached the last green in two, but Bliss missed his second putt from three feet to take a five, while Jack was getting down in two.

AMATEUR CREWS BEGIN BATTLES AT FAIR TOMORROW

For six days beginning tomorrow Chicago becomes the capital of the oarsmen. The two biggest amateur rowing regattas of the season will be staged as free attractions under the sponsorship of A Century of Progress.

Tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday the central states championship regatta will be held over a three-quarter mile course in the World's Fair lagoon. Friday and Saturday in the Grant Park harbor, the national regatta will be staged, with the finish line just outside the aquarium. Next Sunday the paddling championships of the Western Canoe association will be held.

The strongest clubs entered in the central states regatta are Lincoln Park Boat club of Chicago, the South Side Boat club of Quincy, and four St. Louis organizations, the St. Louis Boat club, North End Rowing club, Western Rowing club and Central Rowing club.

For the first three days during the central states regatta the daily program will begin at 11 a. m. A heat will be rowed every few minutes until the schedule is completed, late in the afternoon. Heats and semi-finals are necessary in all events at A Century of Progress lagoon because the narrow spans of the bridges will allow only two shells to row abreast.

STURGISS WINS FLY CASTING TOURNAMENT

W. B. Sturgiss was the individual high scorer in the weekly casting tournament at the Lincoln Park Casting club yesterday, taking two firsts and a second.

DRY FLY—W. B. Sturgiss and F. R. Steel tied for first, 96 per cent; Wells Grant of Seattle, Wash., third, 91 per cent.

WET FLY—W. B. Sturgiss, Ernie Lambert and Wells Grant, tied for first, 99 per cent.

FIVE-EIGHTHS OUNCE ACCURACY BAIT—Won by Ernie Lambert, 94 per cent; Dave Roderick, second, 93 per cent; Joe Nystrom Sr., third, 90 per cent.

U. S. Bridge Team Beats British by 10,370 Points

LONDON, July 30.—(AP)—The American contract bridge quartet led by Ely Culbertson, stretching its lead over the revamped British team by 3,250 points in the last 50 boards, finished a three day match tonight with a 10,370 point victory. The scores were: America, 62,260; England, 51,890.

GENE MAKO WINS STATE NET TITLE FROM DON BUDGE

Teams with Tidball to Capture Doubles.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles won the new Illinois state tennis champion yesterday by defeating Donald Budge of San Francisco, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4, at the Chicago Town and Tennis club.

Budge was in the best of condition, having partaken of a tuna fish salad just before the match which made him sick at his stomach during play.

In the first set, before he felt the effects of his ill advised diet, Budge's backhand, his strongest weapon, was unbeatable. Then the tuna fish began to stir, as did Mako, and Budge's title hopes were lost.

Budge Rallies.

Mako was amazingly accurate in the second set and beat Budge easily. It was in this set that Mako's superior generalship became apparent and he repeatedly dropped the ball over the net to catch Budge flatfooted on the baseline. Mako scored on this trick twenty times in the next three sets. When Budge did rush in to try a return he invariably drove into the net.

Budge rallied in the fourth set, winning the first two games, each 4-1, in point scores. He lost the next three, 3-5, 3-5, and 7-5, and then won the next two, 7-5 and 5-3, to make the games count 4-3 in his favor. It was his final bolt, however, as Mako breezed out with point scores of 4-0, 4-1, and 4-0.

Mako was drawing Budge out of position badly in this set and while Don made some desperate attempts for returns 14 of his efforts were outs.

Mako Wins in Doubles.

Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., women's western champion, defeated little Jackie Ayer of Chicago to win the singles championship in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

Jack Tidball and Mako won the doubles championship by defeating Charlie Lejeck and George O'Connell of Chicago, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3. This gave California a clean sweep in the men's division.

Tidball and Mako completed the fifth set of their semi-final match, postponed from Saturday night on account of darkness, in the morning, winning it 6-4 from Joe Coughlin and Scott Rexinger. The complete score of this match was 4-6, 9-7, 6-3, 6-8, 6-4.

LINCOLN PARK WINS WESTERN CANOE TITLE

The Lincoln Park Boat club yesterday won the western division championship of the American Canoe association by taking nine out of the thirteen events. The meet was held in the north lagoon of A Century of Progress.

Its only competitor was the Columbia Canoe club, which scored 55 points to Lincoln Park's 62.

The most exciting race was the four senior double blade race which Columbia won by only a couple of feet with the fastest time of the day, 3:38¾ for the 800 meter course.

Lincoln Park, represented by the team of Vin Smith and Max Deffner, won the tilting contest. Columbia took second and third places with its teams of Frank Worthman and Howard Labrant and Art Prager and Don Bergman.

The central states rowing regatta will be held tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday; the national rowing regatta Friday and Saturday, and the national canoe regatta Sunday at the Fair.

Cincinnati Reds Release Smith to Boston Braves

Cincinnati, O., July 30.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today released Pitcher Bob Smith to the Boston Braves by the waiver route. Smith, whom the Reds obtained from Chicago in a trade last year, began his big league career in Boston in 1923.

Firpo to Meet Bud Saltis in Six Rounds Tonight

Henry Firpo, Louisville, Ky., middleweight, and Bud Saltis of Chicago will meet tonight in a six round bout at the Marigold gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Maurice Rivkin will be presenting his first professional show after several years' experience directing amateur cards. Young Geno, La Salle, Ill., featherweight, and Johnny Fitzpatrick clash for the third time in the six round semi-final. Other bouts:

Harry Booker vs. Al De Rose [4].
Danny Neenan vs. Eddie Smith [4].
Oscar O'Hanion vs. Vince Perino [4].
Ralph Mote vs. Frank Ketter [4].
Fred Kohler vs. Whitey Williams, wrestling.

Kid Leonard, East Moline, Ill., 160 pound fighter, will seek his sixth straight victory in Chicago against Joe Ruguzzoni of Detroit at Western stadium tomorrow. Johnny Dietrich, Grand Rapids, Mich., featherweight, is in town for his six round semi-windup with Jackie Sharkey. There will be five other matches.

Art Donovan, Joliet lightweight, and Smiley Springer have signed to meet in the six round main event tomorrow at the outdoor arena at White City. Carl Paul, California 135 pound fighter, will make his local debut against Lou Vine in another match at five rounds. In one of four other contests Matt Dour is to face Guy Schriver.

Johnny Phagan, west side welterweight, will seek his 12th victory in 16 professional matches Wednesday in an eight round encounter with Frankie Hughes of Clinton, Ind. Phagan whipped Jackie Purvis for the third time recently. Hughes is undefeated in his last three fights here. He whipped Danny Delmont, knocked out Don Gonzales and held Delmont to a draw in recent months. Izzy Lubansky is matched with Fred Miller, Roosevelt Haines boxes Don Costello. John Mirabal clashes with Johnny Gaito and Sammy Adams is to meet Roy Moore at four rounds. There will be one more contest.

Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight will return here from his home tomorrow to receive an answer from Promoter Sammy Wolff relative to a fourth encounter with King Levinsky in September. He will do no boxing until then.

Gillespie Wins Downstate Legion Baseball Title

Jacksonville, Ill., July 30.—(AP)—A single by Plaskon in the tenth inning today drove Vidmar with the run that gave Gillespie a 9 to 8 victory over Herrin, and the downstate American Legion junior baseball title. Gillespie will meet the National Tea post, Cook county winner, for the state championship at Rockford.

BRAVES WIN, 5-3, TO HALT GIANTS' STREAK AT SIX

Whitney, Ott, Ryan and Moore Get Homers.

New York, July 30.—(AP)—After making five attempts to win his thirteenth game of the season, Ben Cantwell, lean right hander of the Boston Braves, finally succeeded today. He pitched Boston to a 5 to 3 victory over the Giants, holding the league leaders to eight hits. The triumph reduced New York's lead over the second place Pittsburgh Pirates and halted the Giants' winning streak at six games.

Pinky Whitney's homer with two on base gave the Braves a three run lead start in the first inning, but the Giants tied it up quickly. Randy Moore decided the game in the sixth by clouting the fourth homer of the game with the bases empty. The Braves added a final run in the seventh when Schumacher, after intentionally passing Moore, walked Whitney and forced in a run. Ott hit a homer with one on in the first and Ryan hit a home run in the second. Score:

MARSTON WINS EASTERN MEET FOR SIXTH TIME

Eastern Point, Conn., July 30.—(AP)—Max R. Marston of Philadelphia today won the Shenecossett invitational golf tournament for the sixth time in seven years by defeating Dow Ahern of Willimantic, 9 and 8, in the 36 hole final round.

The 41 year old Philadelphian, national champion in 1923, shot subpar golf for 18 holes and then coasted through ten holes in the afternoon round.

Marston thus won the Marston-Shenecossett trophy for the third time, but the cup remains in competition. Under the rules he laid down when he gave the trophy to replace the one he retired in 1929, any player except himself can gain permanent possession of the cup by winning it three times.

Senators' Lead Cut to 2 Games; Yanks Win, 7-2

Washington, D. C., July 30.—(AP)—The New York Yankees bounced back into the fight for the American league lead today by stopping the Senators, 7 to 2, behind the southpaw pitching of Russ Van Atta, only New York pitcher to win from Washington with any consistency so far.

Van Atta kept the eight hits scattered, granting no more than one an inning. Three costly Washington errors helped the Yanks break their rivals' winning streak and shorten their lead to two games after having dropped the first two battles of this four game series.

RED SOX, 8; ATHLETICS, 3.

Boston, Mass., July 30.—(AP)—A five run drive by the Red Sox in the first inning against George Earnshaw gave them enough margin to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 8 to 3, today. The victory gave the Red Sox a clean-up of the three game series. The victory was Boston's fourth straight and it brought the Athletics' string of consecutive defeats to six.

Cubs Beaten Twice; Dean Strikes Out 17

There is some hope that they can pull themselves together during a home stand against western clubs, which opens Tuesday with a three game series against the Cincinnati Reds, while the Cards and Pirates are slashing at each other.

The Reds have next to the biggest edge over the Cubs of any team in the league, 9 out of 13, but now are in the cellar and pretty demoralized themselves. And speaking of edges, the Cards today passed the Reds, as the Cubs' worst enemies, the season standing showing 10 wins for the Cards to five for the Cubs.

The games today were witnessed by the largest crowd of the St. Louis season, 29,500 paid. The Cardinals haven't lost a contest in six since Frankie Frisch became their manager last Monday, and folks are predicting a pennant.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs emerged from the first inning in possession of a 1 to 0 lead. Koenig opened the game with a double to center and scored on Bill Herman's single which fell in center, just out of Frisch's reach. Dean grounded Cuyler's popup in an attempt to make a double play, but had to be content with getting Cuyler when Crawford got balled up in the trick technique, Bill Herman holding first. The break did no good, though, for Babe Herman and Demaree fanned.

The Cardinals tied the score in the third. Dean doubled over third and stopped at third when Martin caromed a single off Bush's meat hand. Watkins fanned, but Frisch drove home Dean on a fly to Babe Herman.

Cubs Regain Lead.

The Cubs lost little time in regaining the lead. Demaree started the fourth by reaching first on Martin's fumble and scored on Campbell's double to left. Campbell went to third while Durocher was throwing out Hendrick, held the base on Jurges' tap to Martin, and was stranded when Bush flied to Watkins.

The Cardinals grabbed the lead with five runs in the sixth. Crawford drew Bush's first pass. Then Medwick singled to left, putting Crawford on second. When Cuyler fumbled the ball, Crawford went to third and Medwick to second. Orsatti then smashed a double off Hendrick's glove, scoring Crawford and Medwick. Wilson singled to center, scoring Orsatti. Then Durocher doubled off the wall in right center, scoring Wilson and driving Bush to the bathhouse. Grimes came in, and his first toss to Dean was a wild pitch, Durocher taking third. Dean then delivered a single to left, which scored Durocher. Martin hit into a double play.

Grimes Also Bombarded.

Medwick opened the eighth with his fourth single and moved to second on Orsatti's sacrifice. Wilson walked. Durocher shot a double play ball at Jurges, who threw to Bill Herman to force Orsatti, but Herman threw the ball away in trying to complete the double killing, Medwick scoring and Durocher reaching second. Dean then slammed a double off the center field wall, scoring Durocher. Martin flied to Demaree.

SECOND GAME

There had been rumors that Bill Hallahan was not in shape to start against the Cubs, but nevertheless he did start and, strangely enough, was relieved after striking out Babe Herman in the first inning.

English walked to start the game. Then Bill Herman flied to Orsatti. Cuyler walked. English and Cuyler executed a double steal while Babe Herman was going through the agony of his fourth strikeout of the afternoon. When O'Farrell threw the ball into left field, English scored and Cuyler reached third. Johnson relieved Hallahan and Demaree knocked a homer into the left field stands, scoring Cuyler ahead of him. Hartnett flied to Watkins.

Cards Duplicate It.

The Cards' half of the first was a duplicate of the Cub half to extent that they made three runs, drew two passes, benefitted by an error and got a homer. Martin walked and Watkins flied to Babe Herman. Frisch grounded to Hendrick, who stepped on first for the putout and then threw into left field trying to double Martin at third. Crawford walked. Medwick then knocked a homer into the left field stands, scoring Martin and Crawford ahead of him. Orsatti flied to Cuyler.

The Cards went ahead in the third. Martin led off with a single to left and Watkins walked. The pair moved up on Frisch's sacrifice, and Martin scored on Crawford's fly to Cuyler.

Tinning Leaves in Fifth.

The Cards chased Tinning with none out in the fifth. Martin tripled to center and scored on Watkins' double off the right field screen. Henshaw went in to pitch, Frisch flied to Babe Herman, Crawford flied to Cuyler, and Medwick fouled to Hartnett.

The Cubs tied the count in the sixth on a single by Cuyler, an infield single by Demaree, a two base throwing error by Haines and Hartnett's infield single, but the Cards went ahead in their sixth on a walk to Orsatti, O'Farrell's single and a double by Haines.

GRAIN MARKET LIKE WATCHING 3 RING CIRCUS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Sensational reports of damage to spring wheat in the American and Canadian northwest, combined with continued talk of government inflation plans, wild price risings, a large volume of business, and the fixing of maximum and minimum prices on daily fluctuations, made the grain market a three ring circus last week. There has seldom been a time when prices advanced and declined so rapidly, covering a range of 12 to 15 cents. At the extreme high point December wheat was up 15⅛ cents, and other months almost as much.

At no time has the trade experienced so many uncertainties, wide fluctuations, and restrictions. But traders think the worst is over, although it will take some time to return to normal, especially with private crop reports due Tuesday, and the government estimates on Aug. 10.

Allotment Plan a Puzzle.

The government's figures on the allotment plan has the trade puzzled. Most of them think the farmers who do not plant any wheat will have a camparatively easy time at the taxpayers' expense. Statements covering the proposed acreage reduction suggest reduced yields in the best wheat sections. This, with the crop reports showing smallest yields in many years, tends to keep the grain trade nervous.

A factor that attracted the attention in the cash and milling trade was that movement of new wheat has been comparatively small, although primary arrivals at leading points since July 1 aggregate 36,760,000 bushels, compared with 39,911,000 bushels last year. Chicago has received 3,013,000 bushels as compared with 3,294,000 bushels last year. Kansas City has only had 9,358,000 bushels, while at the same time last year arrivals were 14,386,000 bushels.

Millers Buying Wheat.

Millers are having a fair trade in flour and are picking up wheat as fast as it is offered. A better condition exists in the foreign wheat situation. Russia was reported as having sold wheat to England, and France is said to have entered the export trade, but sales so far have been light.

July wheat closed at 94 cents; September, 97⅛, December, 100¾; May 104⅞ to 105. Net gains for the week were 4 to 5¼ cents, September and December being the strongest. Winnipeg July closed at 79⅛, up 5¼ cents. October at 81 cents, up 4¾, and December, 82⅞ to 83, a net advance of 5⅜ cents. Liverpool October wheat finished at 76⅝; December, 78⅞, as compared with 100¾ in Chicago a gain in the English market of 2⅜ cents.

Corn Crop at Critical Stage.

The critical period for the corn crop is the next two or three week. The crop is late in some sections, and as a whole, promises the shortest production in many years. The estimate as given by the Miller-Bennett report is for 2,363,000,000 bushels as compared with 2,876,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Large speculators are accumulating corn futures on breaks. Farmers are selling sparingly and stocks at visible supply points are the heaviest in years, and the consumptive demand only fair.

The range on futures for the week was 8 to 10 cents, with the close on July 49¾; September, 53⅜; December, 58⅝, and May 64⅛ cents, as compared with a week ago futures are up ⅜ to 2¼ cents. Prices for the week follow:

	July.	September.	December.

Oat Trading Active.

Trading in oats was active with a wide range. The close was at 4½ to 5⅞ cents net gains, the latter on September, which closed at 39¾ cents. December at 43⅛ cents, and May 47⅛ cents. Crop estimates are sensationally smaller and acted as a spur to speculative buying, which met profit taking on the bulges. Low prices as compared with other grains and smaller taxation is also an important factor in creating active buying.

3 Trade Shows to Open in Merchandise Mart

Three trade shows, expected to attract thousands of buyers to Chicago, will open today in the Merchandise Mart and run until Aug. 12, it was announced by T. J. Reed, general manager of the Mart. The shows are the glassware, china, and pottery exposition, the house furnishings, and electrical appliance exposition, and the Chicago gift show.

Conversion Loan Offered by Treasury

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—[Special.]—The first in what may be a series of conversion loans aggregating 16 billion dollars was formally announced today by the treasury department.

A preliminary announcement of the government's new borrowing was made yesterday by the Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, but details were withheld until today when they were revealed by Dean G. Acheson, undersecretary.

A total of 850 million dollars will be borrowed by the treasury in its Aug. 15 financing. Acheson announced. Of this total, 500 millions will be in an issue of 3¼ per cent eight year bonds, the first long term securities to be issued by the treasury since September, 1931.

The remaining 350 millions, the treasury will endeavor to borrow on a two year 1⅝ per cent issue of treasury notes. Subscription books on both of the issues, each of which is to be dated and issued on Aug. 15 will be opened immediately and will be closed when it appears that subscriptions have absorbed the offering.

Substitute for Short Term Bonds.

Although Secretary Woodin yesterday appealed to the general public to buy up the new issue of government bonds in order to help finance the administration's recovery program, plans announced by Acheson today indicated that the bonds are primarily for the purpose of converting some of the treasury's short term securities into longer maturities and only secondarily for the financing of the recovery drive.

In selling the bonds, the treasury will give preference to persons who offer to exchange for them treasury certificates maturing Aug. 15, of which there are 469 million dollars' worth outstanding. In addition to this proceeding, which is normal, the treasury will also give preference to purchasers who offer to trade in any of the treasury certificates maturing Sept. 15, of which there are 451 million dollars' worth.

What the treasury is attempting to do is to soak up in one long term bond issue two short term issues aggregating 920 million dollars. Acheson said today that the amount of the bond issue, which has been announced as 500 million dollars, will be increased to take care of all exchange subscriptions which are received from holders of the two maturing certificate issues, so that the conversion may be as sweeping as possible.

The first attempt at converting part of the short term debt, which now has reached the unwieldy total of 8 billion dollars, is being put out as a feeler by the treasury. If it succeeds, the rest of the 8 billion dollars of short maturities may be refunded into bonds and another 8 billion dollars in Liberty loans which are now callable, may be refinanced.

Admitting that the outcome of the first bond issue in two years is uncertain, Acheson today said that the treasury had purposely set a "generous interest rate." 3¼ per cent, in order to attract investors.

Money for the recovery program will be furnished mainly by the 350 million dollar note issue. Together with the cash the treasury expects to have on hand by Aug. 15 the proceeds of this issue will give the government almost a billion dollars of ready funds which can be thrown into the recovery drive.

H. N. Field to Direct Abbott, Hoppin Branch

Harry H. Field, president of Chicago Mercantile exchange for three years, has been appointed manager of Abbott, Hoppin & Co.'s new branch office in the Mercantile Exchange building. Abbott, Hoppin & Co. are members of the principal stock and commodity exchanges. They maintain offices in New York, Pitsburgh, Indianapolis, and Appleton, in addition to Chicago.

WALL ST. SEEKS ANSWER TO TWO BIG QUESTIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 30.—Two big double jointed question marks confront the stock market as it sets about to point its course over the ever dreaded "dog" days immediately ahead.

1. When is the administration going to define its policy with regard to the nation's currency and what is the definition going to be?

2. What effect is the "blanket code" and other pending experiments in the industrial recovery program going to have and how long is it going to be before the results—if any—will begin really to tell?

Traders Are Perplexed.

To the average trader peering into the haze for some sign to steer by none of the numerous other perplexities that currently befuddle the situation really matters. It seems to be realized that the market's ultimate fate is bound up with that of business on the outcome of the schemes developed at Washington. Pending the development of symptoms that can be depended upon to show what effect they are going to have the disposition seems to be to stand by and leave it to floor traders to keep up the appearances of a going market.

Thus trading volume during the last few days has slumped to the lowest level since the spring rise got under way back in March. On Friday, the closing session of the week, under the exchange's curtailed schedule the turnover fell to 1,390,555 shares and in the two sessions immediately preceding was considerably short of 2,500,000 shares. The total for the week was 12,847,837 shares.

Ignore Market Factors.

An outstanding feature of the week as it presents itself in retrospect was the marked indifference of the speculative fraternity to developments that heretofore have been looked to as factors or first rate importance in the market situation. The dollar fluctuations, the ups and downs of the grain market, the batch of reports from some of the leading corporations of the land—all were passed up as matters of little or no account beside the major problems presented by Washington.

In some quarters it is strongly believed that the government may see fit to define its monetary policy in the very near future. Whatever the course may be it is certain, in the opinion of well informed observers, to cut a tremendous figure in the market's operations.

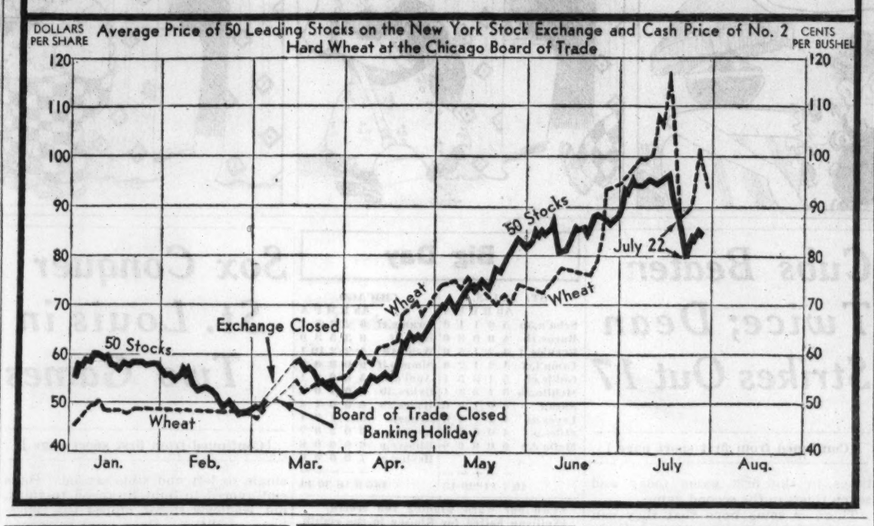
American Rolling Mill Reports $308,268 Earnings

Middletown, O., July 30.—(AP)—Net earnings of $308,268, after depreciation, interest, and federal taxes, were reported today by the American Rolling Mill company for the three months ended June 30. This compares with a net loss of $966,593 in the previous quarter, and makes a net loss of $659,325 for the six months, as compared with a loss of $1,020,614 in the corresponding period of 1932.

Frigidaire Employes to Get 10 Pct. Pay Boost

Dayton, O., July 30.—A 10 per cent increase in pay for all employés of Frigidaire corporation, subsidiary of General Motors corporation, who work on an hourly basis in the two Dayton plants and in the twenty branches in other cities will go into effect tomorrow morning. Salaries employés now receiving less than $1,800 a year will also receive a 10 per cent increase.

Wheat and Stocks Move Together in Rise and Fall



PRIMA COMPANY PROFITS SOAR ON RETURN OF BEER

Sales Rise in First Half of 1933.

Sales of the Prima company, largest Chicago brewery, for the first half of 1933 totaled $2,132,890, more than one and one-half times sales of $1,355,938 for the full 1932 year.

Cost of manufacturing during the first six months of this year totaled $504,000, slightly less than one-fourth of sales, and selling expenses, including delivery, amounted to $902,567, about 42 per cent of sales. After federal and general expenses, net profit was $541,776, about one-fourth of sales, equal to $3.12 per common share.

Heavy Taxes Paid.

The company paid excise taxes totaling $574,327 to the United States government and $15,876 to the state of Illinois.

For the full 1932 year the company reported net income of $69,134, or 71 cents per preferred share, about half of preferred dividend requirements for the year.

The company occupied a strong position at the time production and sale of beer was legalized. It was a going concern, selling its product, near beer, under an established trade name. With the change in the status of beer, it was able to take immediate advantage of the situation in a highly profitable market. Current production, according to Hilmar F. Ernst, president, is at capacity.

Financial Position Strong.

On June 30, 1933, current assets, including cash of $348,841, receivables of $258,452, and inventories of $1,163,344, totaled $1,770,637. Current liabilities amounted to $416,967. In addition customers' container deposits amounted to $226,150.

Surplus increased $279,991 after payment of dividends during the six month period and amounted to $617,826. Goodwill, trademarks, etc., were carried at $500,000.

An initial dividend of 50 cents per share was paid on the 150,135 common shares on July 1.

CHICAGO DISTRICT BUSINESS IMPROVES IN ALL DIVISIONS

Retail sales, wholesale business, railroad traffic and autmobile sales were in the vanguard of improved sales ratios in Chicago last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce's report.

Retail sales were more than 30 per cent over the mark set last year during the corresponding week. The principal cause was the business from A Century of Progress visitors, but remodeling and improving of stores, rises in prices of materials and greater selection of goods were important factors.

Railroads reported an increase of about 300 per cent over their corresponding 1932 period; grocery trade was up 11 per cent last month, dry goods 14 per cent and electrical supplies 20 per cent.

Meat packers reported a gain of 6½ per cent over May, establishing the highest point since December, 1931.

GREAT WESTERN ECONOMY ACTION CLOSES OFFICE

Kansas City, Mo., July 30.—(AP)—As an economy move to save operating costs and avoid the expense of rebuilding its warehouse, the Chicago, Great Western railroad freight house here will be closed and its business will be handled by the Kansas City Southern freight office.

Officials of the Chicago, Great Western said the change will be effective Tuesday. They attributed the change to the loss of less than car lot freight business to motor trucks.

Nineteen employés of the Chicago, Great Western have notified Joseph B. Eastman, Washington, railroad coordinator of the change, asserting that they will not be absorbed by the Kansas City Southern and that they were threatened with loss of their jobs.

LONDON FLOATS FIRST CANADIAN LOAN SINCE WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Evidence of the British empire currency alliance came tonight with the revelation that a Canadian loan for $75,000,000 at par will be floated here next Wednesday in a move toward shifting the dominion's government financing from New York to London. It will be the first Canadian loan to be made in England since the war. It will be issued at 4 per cent and will mature from 1953 to 1958.

During the war Canada financed most of its loans through internal bond issues. Thereafter, when the strain on the London money market was heavy, Canada turned to New York.

The loan action is hailed in London as being of triple significance, but the primary consideration is imperial. Financial circles are quick to emphasize that the move underlies the declaration of a single monetary policy within the British empire, which was declared at the world economic conference ended.

The other two significant points are the action indicates a shift of international finance from New York to London due to the American currency experiments and it discloses the fact that London is able to resume sound lending abroad.

New York Central Adds 1,475 Men to Shop Force

New York, July 30.—(AP)—The New York Central lines announced today it would increase by 1,475 the number of men in its 16 locomotive, freight car and passenger car shops, effective at once. A total of 7,825 men will be employed.

Guarantee of Bank Deposits Loses Ground

Indications of increasing opposition on the part of banks to the guaranty of deposit provisions of the new Glass-Steagall banking act are seen in a statement released last night by the Association of Reserve City Bankers.

The statement was prepared by the association's committee on banking law and practice, a group headed by John H. Hogan, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago. Other Chicagoans on the committee are Dr. Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank, and Laurence B. Robbins, vice president of the Northern Trust company, both of Chicago. The twenty-three other members of the group are bank officers from other leading cities.

"We believe," the committee reports, "that if our banking system is fundamentally strengthened, provisions for the guaranty of bank deposits which simply shift the losses and tend fundamentally away from sound banking practice, and all similar temporary expedients, will become unnecessary."

Urge Fundamental Reforms.

Bankers throughout the country have placed undue emphasis on the guaranty provisions of the new law, to the neglect of fundamental reforms, according to the report.

"The great question before us today is not the soundness or unsoundness of a deposit guaranty plan but a sound banking system," the committee states. "The guaranty plan involves a temporary fund and a permanent fund. The temporary fund is based on limited contributions, and the contacts of this commission indicate that most bankers are inclined at this time to go along with the temporary fund on the ground that it does not involve a committment to the permanent fund as now written on the statute books.

Hope to Modify Plan.

"It appears to be the feeling of most bankers that if the facts with regard to the permanent plan become generally known and if it proves to be the case that the operations of this plan threaten the stability of the strong banks of the country, the common sense and fair play of the public and of congress will lead to suitable modifications.

"It must be obvious that it is not the intention of the government, or of the congress, to ruin the banking system, but rather to strengthen it, and this commission believes that if the bankers will assume a constructive attitude, modifications can be obtained in this legislation, as they have been in other legislation which has proved to be contrary to the best interests of the majority of the American people.

"A number of bankers have recently been quoted in the public press to the effect that they propose withdrawing from the federal reserve system as a result of the threats to the solvency of their institutions involved in the proposed permanent guaranty plan. Our recommendation is against any such action."

STEEL INDUSTRY EASES PENDING NEW U. S. PLANS

Plants Average 55%; Backlog Large.

While the steel production outlook is still strong, producers are becoming more conservative and consumers are holding back from new commitments until the governmental program is clarified and the price situation is more plainly defined, says the magazine Steel.

Steel works operations have declined 2 points to 55 per cent, according to the magazine. At Chicago operations eased 2 points to 58 per cent; at Pittsburgh, 2 points to 49, and in the Wheeling district, 10 points to 80. On the other hand, the rate advanced 4 points to 90 per cent in New England and 1 point to 63 at Buffalo, and remained unchanged elsewhere.

Large Backlog Accumulated.

If new business has slackened, steel makers have enough specifications to carry them through much of August at the present rate, and despite the general dearth in new buying considerable tonnage was driven in by the July 31 deadline on preferential prices.

"Conservatism on the part of leading steel makers has been prompted by the fact that the industry is rapidly nearing an era of controlled prices, to become effective with acceptance of its industrial code," comments Steel. "It is nearer a single price basis for large and small consumers than ever before—an experimental venture."

The magazine notes two developments in the immediate market: [1] the almost complete abolition of preferential prices: [2] the tentative extension of current minimum prices for the remainder of the third quarter.

Code Calls for Adjustments.

"Some difficulties in the proposed new price setup under the code remain to be adjusted. For example, Chicago independents are reported favoring dropping the $2 differential over Pittsburgh, to take advantage of their position for the Detroit market. Basic pig iron is to be sold at the basic price only when it is to be used in open hearths; when in the foundry, cupola it is to take the higher foundry iron price.

"In the meantime, various prices continue to be raised. Railroad tie plates are up $3 a ton; cold-finished steel bars are to be advanced $5 a ton; special grades of ferroalloys are higher."

The demand for raw materials continues to be active. Pig iron shipments, usually at the year's low in July, reached the highest level of 1933 this month, and were 30 to 50 per cent over those in June. A further gain is indicated for August.

United Gas Improvement.

Investors' Guide: I am thinking of selling American Telephone and Telegraph and buying United Gas Improvement. Will you please give me information on the latter?—M. M. C.

Answer: United Gas Improvement company started out as a utility engineering company. It broadened its scope to become an investment company and now is one of the important utility holding companies. Subsidiaries supply varied services to a population estimated at 5,500,000.

One group of subsidiaries operates in the densely populated southeastern section of Pennsylvania [including Philadelphia], Delaware, and Maryland. Another group operates in Connecticut. Other subsidiaries operate in Tennessee, New Hampshire, Missouri and Arizona.

The company also has investments in some of the leading utility enterprises.

Serving as it does a highly industrialized territory operating revenues in 1932 and 1933 have been under preceding years. Maintenance of sales for household purposes and extensive operating economies, however, have cushioned the drop in net income.

Operating revenues for the first quarter of 1933 amounted to $24,763,000 and net income was $8,751,000, or 34 cents per common share. For the corresponding 1932 period operating revenues totaled $27,041,000 and net was $9,790,000, or 38 cents per common share.

Net income for 1932 was $35,384,000, or $1.36 per common share, against net of $37,723,000, or $1.46 per common share, for 1931. Per share earnings on the common in 1930 were $1.54 and in 1929 $1.46.

Funded debt of subsidiaries amounts to $251,682,000. Parent company had no funded debt. Subsidiary preferred stock totaled $73,777,000. There were outstanding 765,216 shares of $5 no par preferred and 23,251,720 shares of no par common. The common has paid quarterly dividends of 30 cents a share since 1930.

In 1932 the company deducted a reserve of $15,000,000 from surplus to provide for any future investment losses on its holdings.

American Investment Trust.

Investors' Guide: Where can I find out what my coupons should pay on American Investment Trust Shares? I have ten shares and they used to pay $3.50 twice a year. This June the bank paid me 89 cents.—Mrs. S. A. E.

RISING BUSINESS ENABLES BONDS TO GAIN GROUND

New York, July 30.—(AP)—Under the spur of continued business and industrial progress, the bond market during the last week succeeded in recovering some lost ground. However, price changes generally were narrow except in some of the more speculative specialties, and the volume of trading returned to normal as trading enthusiasm ebbed in sessions limited to three hours.

While there was a slight sagging in the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds on Friday, due largely to the softness of stocks and commodities, this average closed at 81.3, against 80.8 last Saturday.

High grade loans generally maintained a steady to firm position throughout. Second grade loans followed stocks. The rails, as a whole, held up a trifle better than the other divisions. The first 50 reporting carriers for June showed net earnings of more than 250 per cent above those of the same month last year, and freight car loadings were around their peak for the current movement. Strength was displayed by certain utilities and industrials due to individual improvement in company revenues.

United States government securities were hesitant because of uncertainties connected with the treasury's financing plans for Aug. 15. There is considerable doubt that more than $6,000,000,000 of fourth Liberty 4¼s will be called for conversion in October.

Foreign obligations were irregular. Some French, British, Japanese and South American loans were somewhat reactionary. Argentine issues slumped heavily on reports that the republic might suspend sinking fund payments on outstanding dollar issues.

LEATHER GOODS IN DEMAND.

Demand for the more popular leather products is being well sustained at the increased levels of the past month or so. Leading distributors are anticipating the best fall and holiday business in several years.

SOLUTION TO JENNINGS' STORY

Had Jennings' account of the tragedy been true the $50 bills which Fordney hastily counted could not have been crisp. They would have been water soaked. After having drowned Vera, Jennings, seeking to throw suspicion from himself, brazenly took the money to the police. It was later proved his motive for the murder was jealousy.
